Dear Ms. Henney,

Our family is deeply concerned about the overuse of antibiotics, in particular, the addition of antibiotics to animal feed. Antibiotics need to be saved for when they are really needed to kill serious infectious bacteria. If we continue to "waste" antibiotics we will have no way to protect ourselves medically from ever-stronger strains of bacteria.

We are also concerned about the use of hormones to increase milk production in cows or create more breast meat in poultry. We do not know the effects of these hormones on present and future generations of people.

It is within your ability to stop these misuses of antibiotics and hormones. We ask, we insist, that you do so!

Thank you.
