Dear FDA, Oct. 5, 1999

we are appalled that, if we want to consume milk products, we are forced to use milk from cows injected with Monsanto's recombinant bovine growth hormone (rBGH) - and labelling to identify that tainted milk isn't even required so that we can make a choice!

why would the FDA rely entirely on a summary of a study concerning the safety of rBGH from the manufacturer, Monsanto? we demand an investigation of the FDA's handling of the Monsanto application for drug - and a recall of rBGH use until there is a review of the drug.
