Dear Secretary Shalala:

Re: Food Safety

I am concerned about the safety of genetically altered food and irradiated food.

Consumers have a right to know whether corn, compproducts, soy products, potatoes, have been biotechnically altered; whether meat and milk contains hormones; whether food has been irradiated.

Some authorities say these products are safe. But, they do not show consumers the research; nor, the sources of the research.

Please help consumers know what nutritional changes may have been made to their food with labels and signs at the point of sale. Then, we can decide.

Yours, truly,
Margaret H. Titus
