Dear Senator Smith—

We are writing concerning the issue where many herbal & nutri supplements that we use on our animals are in danger of becoming unavailable because they have not been categorized as either fe ingredients or drugs. Regulatory action is being started for s on the market on many of the ingredients, even though they been on the market for years.

We object to the effort of AAFCO in encouraging state fe regulatory officials to take these products off the market!

We have used these products & have found them to help our horses & dogs very much. Without them our animals would be in pain a unuseable in their later years. We also use some of these products have made us able to live with our arthritis in comfort. Un the 1994 Dietary Supplements Health & Education Act (DSHE these same products are sold for human use. We want to be c to use these same products on our animals in order to make t lives comfortable, as we do for ourselves. We support the introduction of legislation to include all animals, includi the horse, under the provisions of DSHEA.

Sincerely,

Mary Jo Spurgeon
