Stress occurs when the body must adjust to change. Stress is a part of daily life in these modern times, because the individual is constantly responding to changing demands. Times of acute stress are likely to decrease levels of Vitamins A, B-Complex, C, Calcium, Magnesium, Iron and Zinc.

Calcium is necessary for building bones and teeth. Calcium provides a convenient large dose of 500 mg Calcium in each tablet.

B Vitamins are interdependent upon each other to achieve a wide variety of metabolic functions affected by stress. Take them together in this all-in-one convenient supplement.

Besides Calcium, Vitamin C and Super B-Complex, Stress Pack contains a multivitamin/multimineral tablet. This multivitamin/multimineral tablet is uniquely formulated to supply the average adult's daily need for important nutrients, and helps prevent the most common deficiencies in the typical American diet.

Your need for Vitamin C increases with physical stress, using prescription drugs, and smoking. Vitamin C is also an antioxidant nutrient.
