Dear Mr. Pepper:

I have read an article from In Defense of Animals, which shows graphic pictures of animal testing. This is absolutely horrific to do this to animals. I cannot believe that Proctor & Gamble is still doing animal testing, especially on products already in use by humans. There are other ways to test products without using live animals, such as chemical tests and computer modeling.

I am going to boycott your products and will tell as many people that I can to boycott your products until P&G stops testing products on live animals.

I would like to hear from you. Thank you for your time.

Very truly yours,

Tammy Durante
