

Dear Commissioner Henney

7256 '00 JAN 14 AIO:33

Like many Americans, I am very concerned about the safety of the food I choose to eat. I believe it is my right as a consumer to know if the food I am eating has been genetically altered. Such foods pose unknown risks to the environment, to family farmers, and to my health and the health of my family.

In May, a lawsuit was filed challenging the F.D.A.'s policy not to require labels on transgenic foods. I am writing in support of the demands of this lawsuit for safety testing and complete and prominent labels. Consumers should not be made unknowing guinea pigs in the industry's experiments with potentially dangerous foods.

I am eager to hear that the F.D.A. is living up to its mandate to protect public health and will provide the consumers with the information we need about the food we eat.

Sincerely

P.S. The late President Eisenhower warned against the military-industrial complex. He might as easily have warned against the (chemical) industrial-government complex, the outrageous revolving door through which pass the likes of Michael Taylor (first Monsanto, then FDA, then Monsanto again!). As an American citizen I am appalled at the FDA's culpability in protecting corporate interests above the public good. Monsanto, et al are not afraid of labelling, they are terrified of democracy.
