RE: DOCKET #97N-484S

Gentleman:

Please accept my comments concerning the FDA's upcoming ruling on bone bank products. As a user of bone bank material, I have found that the product has been both safe and effective for many, many years if not decades. I find increased regulation of the bone bank product, i.e. viewing the bone as tissue, as overkill. I highly support the notion that the Food and Drug Administration cease and desist with regard to any further regulation of bone banks.

Sincerely,

Barry A. Kriegsfeld, M.D.
