

Attention FDA

0225 '00 MAY -4 10:44

It came to my attention that the FDA is being asked to take away my right to sign a medical waiver before purchasing a hearing aid. Instead I would be forced to have a medical exam or hearing test. Here's my views and/or experiences on several related questions?

1. Should I be forced to have a medical exam and/or hearing test before purchasing a hearing aid? If so, should the FDA pay for the exam?

1. a medical exam should not be mandatory.
2. If a purchased hearing aid should not fix my hearing I am free to return it at Exel
3. In the remote case when using a hearing aid damaged me further, then that is my own risk.

2. Some people are physically unable to drive to a doctor or hearing specialist, or have had bad experiences they don't want to repeat. For instance ...

3. Should the FDA take away my Constitutional Right, affirmed by the Supreme Court, to decide for myself my medical exams and treatment?

I should be able to decide for myself any medical exams or treatment.

4. Should I be allowed to purchase hearing aids by mail as I choose?

Hearing aids are much simpler than say pocket scientific mathematics calculators and yet cost many times more. I should be allowed to purchase, by mail if necessary, for the best price for quality, especially where there are money-back guarantees
