IN RE: Agricultural antibiotic usage

Dear Dr. Henney;

Please do what you can to urge the FDA to establish guidelines for use of antibiotics in livestock as well as regulations for disclosure to the public concerning the chemical content in the meat and produce they are consuming. Although I am a vegetarian, I think sticking carnivores with mad cow's disease is enough of a payback - we don't need innocent children, etc. developing an immunity to antibiotics simply because we refused to control the livestock industry's stupidity.

Thank you for considering this issue.

Sincerely,

Sterling Vozenilek
