Adult ADD

What does it feel like to have Adult Attention-Deficit Disorder (ADD)? You would often feel distracted, disorganized, restless, unable to finish things, like the channel keeps changing in your mind and you can't control the remote.

If you have felt these symptoms your whole life, you may have Adult ADD, a condition your doctor can diagnose and treat with prescription Strattera-the first FDA approved medication for Adult ADD. Strattera is part of a total treatment program. It can help you stay focused, so you can get things done at work and at home.
