

07p-0085-emc0044.txt

From: Scott Palter, Ad Astra Games [adastragames@gmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, April 19, 2007 8:58 PM

To: Dockets, FDA

Subject: 2007P-0085: Adopt Regulations of General Applicability to all Food Standards that would Permit, within Stated Boundaries, Deviations from the Requirements of the Individual Food Standards of Identity

Do not, under any circumstances, permit this docket to pass. It will deleteriously reduce the quality of chocolates and chocolate based products manufactured in the united states, due to the ability to substitute other fats and oils for cocoa butter, which is what gives chocolate its texture...without having to clearly label that it's not, in fact, chocolate.