Good morning –

As far as I know FDA regulations do not address age restrictions for clinical trials. I suggest however since you are talking about cosmetic trials you contact the FDA center that regulated cosmetics. See link below. Please look at the bottom right of the page for their contact information.

Hello,

I would just like to know whether there are any age restriction for subjects to participant in cosmetic clinical trials, can elderly over the age of 65 years old participate in them?

I look forward to your response,
Thank you.
