Major Areas of Research Interest

My overarching interest is improving the diagnosis and management of infectious diseases among impoverished and marginalized populations. Specifically my research focuses on: (1) HIV-infected patients with multidrug-resistant tuberculosis coinfection (2) innovative strategies to improve uptake and respond to ART failure among HIV-infected patients in resource-limited settings and (3) the epidemiology and management of drug-resistant and emerging infections in low-income and post-conflict contexts.

Current Research Activity

1. Ongoing collaborations with South Africa investigators on HIV treatment failure and MDR-tuberculosis
  - a. Antiretroviral failure in patients with advanced HIV infection
  - b. Using drug concentration monitoring to optimize adherence to antiretroviral therapy and MDR-tuberculosis treatment in South Africa
  - c. Meta-analysis to highlight gaps in the management of advanced HIV in high prevalence settings
  - d. Analyses to improve access in poor settings to critical therapeutics
2. Collaboration with Doctors Without Borders on operational research, multiple sites
  - a. Reducing morbidity and mortality in pediatric infections
