

FDA Staff Manual Guides, Volume I – Organizations and Functions

Department of Health and Human Services

Food and Drug Administration

Office of Regulatory Affairs

Office of Training, Education and Development

Division of Instructional Systems and Technology

Effective Date: December 14, 2018

1. Division of Instructional Systems and Technology (DCIJC).

- A. Directs analyses, assessments, design plans, and summative and formative assessments.
- B. Evaluates intention and use of training products to determine efficiency and effectiveness.
- C. Collaborates with internal and external experts to develop qualified assessment instruments.
- D. Collaborates with the all the Divisions among the Office to coordinate design and development training activities.
- E. Uses and applies audiovisual expertise to create media products in support of design and development of training products.
- F. Maintains compliance with accreditation standards.

2. Instructional Systems and Multimedia Branch 1 (DCIJC1)

- A. Conducts analyses to identify training, education and developmental needs to support the design of training approaches.
- B. Creates design plans; develops and implements training products and evaluates training approach to match outcomes of learning objectives.
- C. Evaluates training products to determine efficiency and effectiveness.

- D. Conducts assessments to measure student achievement of learning outcomes and course effectiveness.
- E. Collaborates with experts to develop qualified assessment instruments.
- F. Provides audiovisual expertise to create media products in support of the design and development of training products.
- G. Integrates and maintains all audio visual systems for the Office level and substructure organizations.

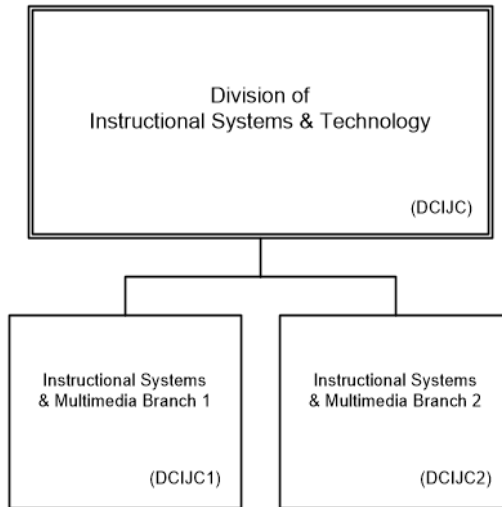

3. Instructional Systems and Multimedia Branch 2 (DCIJC2)

- A. Conducts analyses to identify training, education and developmental needs to support the design of training approaches.
- B. Creates design plans; develops and implements training products and evaluates training approach to match outcomes of learning objectives.
- C. Evaluates training products to determine efficiency and effectiveness.
- D. Conducts assessments to measure student achievement of learning outcomes and course effectiveness.
- E. Collaborates with experts to develop qualified assessment instruments.
- F. Provides audiovisual expertise to create media products in support of the design and development of training products.
- G. Integrates and maintains all audio visual systems for the Office level and substructure organizations.

4. Authority and Effective Date.

The functional statements for the Division of Instructional Systems and Technology were approved by the Secretary of Health and Human Services and effective on December 14, 2018.

Department of Health and Human Services
Food and Drug Administration
Office of Regulatory Affairs
Office of Training, Education and Development
Division of Instructional Systems and Technology

Staff Manual Guide 1121.33a
Organizations and Functions
Effective Date: December 14, 2018

The following is the Department of Health and Human Services, Food and Drug Administration, Office of Regulatory Affairs, Office of Training, Education and Development, Division of Instructional Systems and Technology organization structure depicting all the organizational structures reporting to the Director:

These organizations report to the Division of Instructional Systems & Technology (DCIJC):

Instructional Systems & Multimedia Branch 1 (DCIJC1)

Instructional Systems & Multimedia Branch 2 (DCIJC2)