

Robert Olson is a Radiation Oncologist and Epidemiologist at BC Cancer and the University of British Columbia (UBC). He is also both the Division Head of Radiation Oncology, and the Associate Head of Research – Department of Surgery at UBC. His research is focused on stereotactic ablative radiotherapy in the setting of oligometastatic disease and he leads several clinical trials in this area, including SABR-5 and SABR-COMET-3.

Robert Olson MD FRCPC MSc

Associate Professor | Division Head, Radiation Oncology & Developmental Radiotherapeutics, UBC

Associate Head – Research, Department of Surgery, UBC

Radiation Oncologist | Research Lead, BC Cancer – Prince George

Ph: 250-645-7325

THE UNIVERSITY
OF BRITISH COLUMBIA