Introduction

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is the regulatory, scientific, public health and consumer protection agency responsible for ensuring all human and animal drugs, medical devices, cosmetics, foods, food additives, drugs and medicated feeds for food producing animals, tobacco and radiation emitting devices safe, and effective.

The mission of the Center for Drug Evaluation and Research (CDER) is to perform an essential public health task by making sure that safe and effective drugs are available to improve the health of people in the United States. CDER regulates over-the-counter (OTC) and prescription drugs, including biological therapeutics and generic drugs.

The Office of Executive Programs (OEP) oversees a variety of Center-wide programs, including executive project management, the Center's executive secretariat function, scientific advisory committees, training, and development, CDER's ombudsman, and program and administrative management.

The Legislative Affairs Staff (LAS) is responsible for ongoing Congressional issue tracking, legislative developments, and Congressional oversight and investigation issues. The staff handling executive correspondence, Congressional hearing preparation, and executive meeting preparation.

Duties/Responsibilities

As a Public Health Analyst in the Legislative Affairs Staff (LAS), the incumbent advises officials within CDER on policies and principles to ensure alignment in accomplishing program objectives related to legislative activities; works closely with the LAS Director to develop innovative strategies for legislative engagement on human drugs topics; briefs senior management and managers on legislative matters; and is responsible for the executive preparation of senior management on Congressional matters.

In collaboration with the FDA Office of Policy and Legislation (OPL), and HHS Office of the Assistant Secretary for Legislation (HHS/ASL), the incumbent coordinates CDER legislative affairs activities by developing and managing Congressional interactions to advance the mission of the organization. Coordination of legislative activities involves the analysis of highly technical, scientific, professional, and controversial information on public health legislative matters originating from the CDER Super Offices. The incumbent:

- Applies understanding of the legislative process to coordinate Center's review and response to inquiries on public health policies as they relate to the Center's public health mission. Develops policy briefs (through data collected) and position papers on priority issues for internal and Congressional correspondence/briefings regarding public health policies such as new drug approvals, generic drug approvals, biosimilar approvals, and more, works closely with all levels of CDER, FDA and DHHS to reach a consensus.
- Drafts, edits, and reviews Congressional technical assistance, correspondence, and briefing requests to accurately reflection and communicate Center and Agency priorities align with legislative or proposed bill text.
- Conducts legislative analysis and policy reviews for public health programs to determine alignment with current Center and Agency priorities and make recommendations for integrating public health priorities into legislative activities.
- Manages Congressional inquiries from authorizers and appropriators related to CDER programs and CDER- regulated products. Manages and establishes procedures and controls for the receipt, handling, tracking, clearance, cataloging, classifying, suspense, and retrieval of CDER congressional actions. Ensures consistent messaging on legislative affairs aligns with Center and Agency priorities.

- Leverages program management methodologies to ensure the successful development and execution of briefing material, position papers and correspondence to address public health initiatives and analysis of statutory and regulatory frameworks. Works to achieve consistent approaches in meeting developed short term objectives and integrating long term objectives into legislative activities processes for CDER.

Reasonable Accommodation

Reasonable Accommodation Policy

Federal agencies must provide reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities where appropriate. Applicants requiring reasonable accommodation for any part of the application process should follow the instructions in the job opportunity announcement. For any part of the remaining hiring process, applicants should contact the hiring agency directly.

Determinations on requests for reasonable accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis. A reasonable accommodation is any change to a job, the work environment, or the way things are usually done that enables an individual with a disability to apply for a job, perform job duties or receive equal access to job benefits.

Under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, federal agencies must provide reasonable accommodations when: An applicant with a disability needs accommodation to have an equal opportunity to apply for a job. An employee with a disability needs accommodation to perform the essential job duties or to gain access to the workplace. An employee with a disability needs accommodation to receive equal access to benefits, such as details, training, and office-sponsored events. You can request a reasonable accommodation at any time during the application or hiring process or while on the job. Requests are considered on a case-by-case basis. Learn more about disability employment and reasonable accommodations or how to contact an agency.

E-Verify

The Food and Drug Administration participates in the USCIS Electronic Employment Eligibility Verification Program (E-Verify). E-Verify helps employers determine employment eligibility of new hires and the validity of their Social Security numbers.
