EON-586426	6/29/2024 14:52	Zuke's Mini Natural Chicken Recipe Training Dog Treats 1lb	Been feeding my dogs Zuke Mini Treats Chicken flavor since many years. Observed a strong unpleasant odor upon opening the last order batch that I never noticed before. Treats were unusually hard and smaller in size (to be precise - smaller in heights). All 4 dogs experienced severed diarrhea after a training session using the treats. No reaction ever prior to these treats. No other obvious reason for the cause of diarrhea. I notified Chewy's the vendor and reported the problem and discarded the treats. Ordered a new batch but only the peanut butter & salmon flavored ones this time. Didn't notice an odor this time but size was still off / different than usual. Started rewarding them again after diarrhea resolved (took several days). Waited for about a week after that. Unfortunately all of them started getting diarrhea again. Hence prompted me to report the issue.	6	Years	Dachshund - Standard Smooth-haired	Dog	20	Pound
EON-586421	6/29/2024 14:00	Golden Rewards Simply Crafted Chicken Jerky	We purchased some Golden Rewards chicken jerky treats from Walmart. Nothing seemed wrong with the packaging or product. (b) (6) was an old dog but in great health with no issues, no medications, was energetic and playful the day of giving him the new treat. We gave him just one of the treats and within hours he was vomiting up undigested pieces throughout the day. Vomiting stopped so we thought they were just not good for him and threw out the bag. The next day he slept most of the day, seemed lethargic and uninterested in things which was unlike him. That night he could barely stand and began dry heaving the entire night. Early that following morning he died. We thought maybe it was just his time but it is too much of a coincidence that he was completely fine and then rapidly declined after ingesting the jerky treat.	20	Years	Crossbred Canine/dog	Dog	25	Pound
EON-586378	6/28/2024 20:48	Fancy Feast Beef Feast In Gravy Grilled	I fed my cat Purina Fancy Feast Grilled Gourmet Wet Cat Food (Beef Feast in Gravy) for the first time. This is the only new food I've given him recently. He was reluctant to eat, but ate a small amount. In the middle of the night he started vomiting every hour, for a total of 6 times up to the time of this report.	2	Years	American Shorthair	Cat
EON-586322	6/28/2024 9:20	JERKY TREATS DOG SNACKS PRODUCED IN TOPEKA KANSAS USA BEEF IS #1 INGREDIENT	My neighbor purchased the treats ON SALE at Costco for $5 around (b) (6) . She started feeding them to my dog through the fence without my knowledge within the week of (b) (6) , she stated she fed her approximately 4 to 5. On (b) (6) we noticed (b) (6) had stopped eating her regular food. I saw her come in the house with one of the treats still in her mouth. She had not chewed it. I took it from her and immediately asked the neighbor if they had given it to her. This is how I became aware of the treats. I asked her to please stop feeding my dog, informed her that my dog was ill and I was taking her to vet in the morning. However, overnight.. (b) (6) became so violently ill, she began vomiting, having uncontrollable bloody diarrhea and seizures. By morning all of her neurological functions were gone and she had to be euthanized.	2	Years	Rottweiler	Dog	45	Pound

EON-586320	6/28/2024 9:20	Purina pro plan sensitive stomach large breed salmon and rice formula	I was feeding my pup Purina pro plan sensitive stomach large breed salmon and rice for 5 months when I bought a new bag and he absolutely refused to eat and preferred to go hungry over eating his food! I fed him something else which he gobbled up like he normally did with his Purina pro plan and then in a week I tried his Purina again and he again refused to eat. There's no doubt In my mind that there was something toxic in that bag and that if my boy had eaten it he would have gotten seriously ill or worse.. this was in March /April 2024.

EON-586315	6/28/2024 9:16	Golden Rewards Premium Dog Treats Duck Jerky Premium Dog Treats	Boyfriend bought Golden Rewards Duck Jerky from Walmart. Gave 2 a day May 9 and 10. Dog last poop was May 9, could not go May 10. Saturday May 11 he was sick with explosive liquid diarrhea. He was in distress from the gastro pain. His anus was red raw and irritating him badly. It was so bad first 48 hours, had to bring him to vet next morning. He was so dehydrated from constant diarrhea. Had extremely foul smelling gas. Caused a $500 vet bill and a very ill dog. The liquid diarrhea went on for weeks. My dog as of 6/27, just started to have normal stools again. We did a few tests and he's been on supplements and clay to help his stool for weeks. I researched and see this company and dog treats have killed over 1000 dogs and made thousands ill. Dogs have been given Salmonella from these. Can cause kidney failure in dogs and seems to be what is killing the poor innocent dogs. During my research, I found that the plant the Chinese use for glycerin, is toxic to pets and humans and causes major gastro distress. These treats are covered in this toxic glycerin. Do you know how stressful it was for weeks not knowing if my dog was going to have kidney failure? I just lost my 12 year old to cancer last year and adopted my new dog shortly after at 3 months old. I did not deserve this nor my poor dog. There has been many recalls on this product since 2012 but somehow they're allowed to still sell these?! My boyfriend went to the Walmart store he purchased at and I called. They should've been taking off the shelves. I tried and the manager did not care at all. How are you allowing these to be sold? Dogs are family members and I don't want another animal or human to go through what I've gone through or worse. Take them off the shelves PLEASE	1.5	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	52	Pound
EON-586314	6/28/2024 9:16	Taste of the Wild PREY Trout Recipe	We switched to Taste of the Wild PREY Trout Recipe 2 years ago. Prior to this, she was completely healthy but began developing respiratory problems (shallow breathing) and collapsed this weekend due to an extremely large heart. After being taken to the vet, we are told that the cause of her problem is her diet of strictly Taste of the Wild Prey Trout Recipe. She nearly passed away, but was put on oxygen and numerous medications to reduce enlargement of her heart. We are still uncertain if she will recover.	4	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	70	Pound

EON-586236	6/27/2024 9:00	Kibbles N Bits	Hello, my dog was getting sick from her food. I noticed when I checked her food there were hair like black fibers sticking out. Concerned for her well being, I contacted the company and after multiple attempts of reaching out and follow ups, they responded back to me 2 weeks later saying "Based on your description, the item found may be hair from animal hide, which is occasionally present in small quantities in meat and bone meal." This is not listed in her bag of dog food and it leaves me concerned for other pet owners.
EON-586235	6/27/2024 8:56	Purina Friskies Seafood Sensations	I fed my cats Purina's Friskies Seafood Sensations dry food, which is a food they have had many times before. EON-586130	6/26/2024 9:04	Main food: Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon Dry Dog Food Occasionally (stole the cat's food): Purina Pro Plan Prime Plus Senior Dry Cat Food	My dog (b) (6) passed away (b) (6) due to liver failure. I had a necropsy done. The results came back yesterday and showed Aflatoxin as the cause. I understand that pet food is the most likely culprit. (b) (6) ate Purina Pro Plan Salmon/Sensitive Stomach/Skin. However she got into the cat's food occasionally. THE CAT HAS NOT EATEN FOR SEVERAL DAYS so I am now suspecting the cat food may be the problem. It is Pro Plan Prime Plus Chicken for cats. I am taking him to the vet today. I noticed my surviving dog is picking at his food more too, which is unusual, he eats different food than (b) (6) But he has occasionally picked up bits of the cat food. But he is possibly just upset at (b) (6) being gone. But the cat not eating is definitely a concern. I will update this report depending on if anything is found at his vet appointment. In summary, I have 3 kinds of pet food in my home, but the only one all 3 pets have ingested, even minimally, is the cat's food. However, (b) (6) ate her own dog food on a daily basis so I am not sure where the problem lies.	9	Years	Retriever - Flat-coated	Dog	63	Pound

Consumers use a small scooper to fill the amount of treats desired in a paper bag. I am concerned that these treats are subject to contamination by the general public and possibly the overnight store cleaning staff. There is no way to track information about these treats if an animal become ill. It seems to be a dangerous "dog treat open buffet". Does the FDA have a policy on this practice?

The batch number is: 3230 9052 23 L01 Several containers had liquified product which were discarded, but the cans with a "normal" consistency was given to my indoor cat and 4 feral cats. As a physician, I am very concerned that there is contamination of the product causing liquefaction of the food. Secondly, my indoor cat threw up last night. It was not a hairball, but just liquid. I had to go to work today, so will have to wait until later to check him. He was not lethargic or in any distress when I left. I have informed both Chewy and Purina about this. EON-585642	6/20/2024 9:36	Kristin all natural pet food	Kristis all natural pet food. This food is labeled for kittens or puppies, adults, and seniors, however there is no guaranteed analysis at all. The owners have no idea what the minimum requirements are for a complete food. The owner has no idea what percents of anything essential is in the food. No percent of fat, protein, or anything. I am sure this is not a complete food for animals. Its not labeled as "complimentary food only." I believe it is lacking calcium, iron, and possibly other micronutrients. My animal is having arthritis problems which is believed to be lack of calcium, iron, magnesium and/or B vitamins. The owner would not provide levels of the ingredients by weight or in any measurement and I don't believe there is any care or regulatory measuring of the ingredients. A mixed bag of whatever the seller has or decides at the moment. There is no way to make any educated decision of this food as there is no label analysis at all and the owner has no idea either. This can contribute to a array of health problems for consumers being misled to believe its balanced food for all ages.

EON-585623	6/19/2024 23:40	Purina ONE Chicken and Rice Formula	(b) (6) has had soft stools and diarrhea off and on since coming to live with us (very little solid poop) and hasn't eaten much of his food. Tonight when I went to refill his bowl, a larvae fell out! I looked inside the bag and there were silk trails and more worms. I emptied his bowl into the garbage and there were worms at the bottom of the dish. The bag of Purina food was given to us by (b) (6) and I'll be notifying them of this when they open in the morning. About half of the bag of food was eaten. (b) (6) will not be given any more food from this bag and is now forced to make a hard switch to a different brand. Unfortunately, I had added some of his new dry food to the Purina bag this morning to make it easier for our kids to refill (b) (6) bowl. I thoroughly checked that brand's bag of food and there's no sign of larvae. In addition, we visited my mother over the weekend and one of her golden retrievers, (b) (6) ate some of the Purina food. He got really sick on Monday, 6/17/24, the day after we left. Vomiting, diarrhea, lethargy. I called to tell her about the larvae and she said (b) (6) is doing better today. Our cats have also eaten some of the Purina food but they don't appear to be having a reaction. AHS requests families to bring their newly adopted pets in for a checkup within 14-30 days of adoption. (b) (6) had that appointment on 6/17/24. A stool sample was provided, I don't have the results as of right now.	1	Years	Terrier (unspecified)	Dog	29	Pound

EON-585515	6/18/2024 15:24	All Dog Foods	I recently received the results of a genetic dna test for a puppy and found he carries a gene for Copper Toxicosis. In researching how to navigate this, I'm finding it frustrating to see that dog food companies are not required to label their product with the maximum amount of copper. Copper Toxicosis does life threatening damage to a dog's liver. Without the knowledge of how much copper your animal is taking in, it is like walking into a mine field. Sheep are known to suffer from this, and they have feeds that are well regulated. Please help us do the same for our beloved dogs. Thank you

Three (3) 4-year-old cats all in excellent health (strictly indoor) have been eating purina one salmon flavor (tender selects blend) for the last several years (3.5-lb bags), but I purchased two 22-lb bags in April and all 3 cats started to get very sick (throwing up and severe diarrhea), which has never happened before. Instead of just throwing the food away, I put a bunch outside and have recently found 2 dead small rabbits within feet of the food and with no external signs of injury, as well as a dead rat. There was no "Best By" date ANYWHERE on the bag. Orijen and its parent company Champion Food Products was recently acquired by Mars Inc. EON-585297	6/15/2024 16:48	Purina Pro Plan Adult Large Breed XL Bag Chicken and Rice Formula	Our dog (b) (6) has been having GI Issues for 2 weeks now and the vets haven't been able to determine what's wrong. It all started after eating the new bag of Purina food. He was eating grass, gulping, vomiting, and drooling. The vet suspected pancreatitis based on high enzymes and symptoms. He was improving for about a week and was 90% normal. A week after it began the gulping and drool returned. We took him to the ER after 12 hours of no improvement event after cerenia. We did a much deeper exam that same day. The Pancreatitis snap test is negative. Everything is normal including the bloodwork, stool, x-rays, and ultrasound. The ultrasound shows some inflammation in the stomach but the organs looked normal. Wrapping up the ER visit, the vets labeled it as a nonspecific gastroenteritis diagnosis. Most recently the gulping has not returned but the drool has. The drool episodes have been more frequent but shorter (about 3 hours 2-3 times a day). He seems to know the moment they start and gets restless. He also started having diarrhea and gas 2 days ago which is bad enough that he has to go out twice in the middle of the night. He had an x-ray of his throat at (b) (6) Animal Hospital yesterday which was normal. We're planning to have an endoscope done on June 27th (that's the soonest appt). We have a backup appointment scheduled at (b) (6) on July 9th. We have no idea what's going on but it all began with a new bag of the same food he's had for years.	9	Years	Bloodhound	Dog	101	Pound

(b) (6) and (b) (6) ate dinner however (b) (6) was completely avoiding and refused to eat. On Saturday, (b) (6) and (b) (6) ate both meals without issue, (b) (6) refused to eat either meals. The behavior was repeated on Sunday and (b) (6) began avoiding the lamb bits from the kibble. I began giving (b) (6) a different brand of wet food, and he ate this different brand of food without issue, however, any time the purina kibble was mixed into the wet food, he would proceed to vomit it back up. This behavior was repeated Monday into Tuesday. Tuesday however, (b) (6) became to vomit up all of her meals. I began to suspect that it was the purina lamb and rice kibble that was the culprit, and after buying a different brand of kibble, (b) (6) ate this kibble without any further issues. We were also concerned that we're also concerned that we would have to euthanize (b) (6) due to his the issues with him vomiting constantly. EON-584908	6/11/2024 9:26	Greenies Feline Oven Roasted Chicken Flavor Dental Cat Treats	About 10 days ago, we purchased a new box of Greenies Feline Oven Roasted Chicken Flavor Adult Dental Cat Treats from a local supermarket, a treat our cats have had before, and only 3-4 pieces a day. The new treats were misshapened/uneven (thicker on one side than other) compared to the flat shape of the previous tubs, and were darker in color and more oily in appearance. I checked the expiration date on the tub (07/2025) which was well in date, and the seal was closed, so I thought maybe this batch was baked a little longer or inconsistently. I gave the treats to our cats for a few days and they all came down with GI illness (vomiting, inappetence, diarrhea) for the last 5 days. Our cats do not share all the same food except this treat, and 2 of our other cats are allergic to chicken and did not get any and they are not ill at all, so the only common factor is the Greenies. We went back to the grocery store and noted that all the tubs with the same expiration date show the same darker color and uneven shape, so we think there is a contamination problem for this batch. EON-584907	6/11/2024 9:26	Blue Buffalo Basics Limited Ingredient Diet Salmon & Potato, Blue Buffalo Freedom Adult Grain-Free Lamb & Potatoes Dry Dog Food	From age 2-9 (b) (6) was on a diet of Blue Buffalo Wilderness Adult Dry Dog Food (Salmon) and in excellent health. When she was about 9 years old, she experienced summer skin allergies and the BB forum recommended Blue Buffalo's grain-free kibble in case she'd developed a grain allergy. Her allergies resolved so I kept her on the Blue Buffalo grain-free food (alternating flavors between salmon and lamb, and sometimes the Blue "Basics" salmon) until age 12 when she suddenly developed a cough, sometimes coughing so much that she was gagging, and extreme panting. Her vet determined from an x-ray that her heart was diseased and so enlarged it was pressing against her trachea. She was put on Enalapril for dilated cardiomyopathy (DCM). I researched and discovered a link between the combination of legumes in BB grain free food and DCM so switched her to another brand. She is now 13.5 and stable, but exercise aggravates coughing, so lack of exercise is now causing rear muscle atrophy and hip pain/weakness.	13	Years	Collie - Border	Dog	42	Pound

Running, playing, happy as could be. Nobody can ever guess her age. A few days ago, she was running out of food (she usually eats blue buffalo brand) but the store near me didn't have what she needed so I figured I would grab a few small things to hold her over a day or two. I grabbed Purina Dog Chow Complete Adult Chicken Flavor dry food and a pack of Purina Beneful Incredibites - chicken,wild rice, tomato flavor and fed her 1 scoop of the dry food and 2 cans of the wet food. Within 6 hours she was puking all of the food up. My husky never gets sick off of food and this immediately concerned me. I took care to try encouraging her to sip water and relax. An hour after her initial vomiting, she again started puking what was left in her stomach and anything she managed to drink. I continued to keep my eye on her and encourage her to keep sipping water. Half way through the night she seemed to be doing better, drinking on her own and even started to play with her toys again. The next day i immediately went to a different store and purchased her different food. When I got home, she refused to eat any and was only drinking water. I encourage her to eat some of my plain chicken I had for dinner to get something in her and she was able to keep it down. I kept my eye on her until we went to sleep. When I woke up her gums were pale, she was barely conscious, had no control of her bowel movements and had diarrhea and could not walk or stand. Within 3 hours she was dead. My best friend is gone and now I'm left wondering if the food she ate was the cause. Until she ate it. She was in perfect health. And died very shortly after consuming Purina.

EON-584727	6/8/2024 19:01	Diamond Naturals Adult dog Lamb meal and Rice formula	We received our bag of Diamond Natural Lamb and Rice on May 20, 2024 from chewy.com, (b) (6) our dog has been eating this food for a few months. After starting this bag of food on May 20th, (b) (6) started eating grass and acting like she wasn't feeling well, on May 24th she started vomiting undigested dog food a few a hours after eating. The following day she did not have an appetite and refreshed to eat. On Sunday, May 26th she ate her dog food, Diamond Naturals Lamb and Rice, a few hours later she vomited undigested dog food, and then bile mixed with dog food. Monday May 27, she was very weak and vomiting and couldn't hold down food or water. We also noticed her she was losing weight. as you could see her ribs and spine and could not a week before. On Tuesday, May 28th we took (b) (6) to our vet, (b) (6) . After an examination and a normal blood test, she was diagnosed with gastritis and was given an anti nausea shot, a prescription for nausea, a prescription for diarrhea, Incase she developed diarrhea and a probiotic and dr recommend Hill's prescription digestive health wet food for a few days and mix in with current food after a few days. (b) (6) was doing better until wet food was mixed with diamonds naturals lamb and rice dry food. She then started to vomit once again and could not hold anything down and lethargic. She was taken again back to the vet on 6/5/24, she received an anti nausea shot, fecal sample, xray and an enema Incase of blockage. She was sent home with 4 cans of Hills prescription wet food and we were advised if she did not eat or have a bowel movement in the next day or so to bring her back. (b) (6) ate bland chicken and rice and a few dog treats and was able to hold everything down and had a bowel movement. Thursday, (b) (6) had a little more energy and feeling better, she ate a little bit of dry Diamond Naturals Lamb and Rice in the evening, Friday morning 6/7/2024 started vomiting undigested food once more. She was taken back to the vet 6/8/2024. Numerous X-rays, and exam. They were unable to find the cause of vomiting, was given nausea shot, sent home with nausea meds and antibiotics (flagyl) (b) (6) normally weighs 38-40lbs and is currently down to 33.9 on 6/7/2024. After leaving the vet with out answers once again to (b) (6) vomiting, we read reviews, researched other customer forums and it was discovered that other customers are having the same or similar problems with dogs vomiting, losing weight, being lethargic, loss of appetite. Thinking back, she only vomited after eating Diamond Naturals and was able to hold down other foods, We contacted the vet and were advised to stop using Diamond Naturals Lamb Meal and rice formula immediately.	4	Years	American Pit Bull Terrier	Dog	33	Pound
EON-584726	6/8/2024 19:01	PetAG Milk Replacer Plus for Cats	I found four stray kittens in my yard that were about a few days old without their mother so I took them in and started a bottle feeding regimen. They were fine without any problems and doing well on PetAg Milk Replacer Plus formula. On day 10 I opened a new package of the formula and fed them as usual when they became ill. They became lethargic and refused to eat. All four of the kittens died within 24 hours.	10	Days	American Shorthair	Cat	4	Ounce

EON-584526	6/6/2024 10:20	I and LOVE and You Naked essentials grain free with lamb and bison.	My American Staffordshire terrier was on a specialized raw food diet until she was 1 year old. Out of convenience we switched her to kibble. Specifically the "brand Iand LOVEand YOU". By Naked essentials. We thought we were feeding her a quality diet. It said grain free. After a few months she developed a serious respiratory infection, which was treated with antibiotics. Approximately 7 months later I noticed subtle changes. She wasn't as energetic and started sleeping on the couch or floor. 5 weeks ago her respiration increased to 60. The vet diagnosed her with allergies. Less then 4 days later she wouldn't walk for me and I took her to theER (b) (6) . They immediately diagnosed her with cardio myopathy. Her heart was so enlarged in filled her abdominal cavity. She had fluid in her lungs. After the drs and staffs efforts to bring her heart back the cardiologist did an echocardiogram and said she was dying. Her heart had stretched out and the walls were too thin. We put her to sleep because she was suffering and my husband and I have been so traumatized by her loss. Bothe her sire and Dam tested negative for genetic predisposition and she was also examined by a cardiologist at 8 weeks. After much research I saw the fillers in these " grain free" dog foods and the anecdotal research. I was trained as a scientist at the (b) (6). I'm convinced I unknowingly poisoned my dog. EON-584523	6/6/2024 9:44	Purina Pro Plan Weight Management Dog Food	I had been noticing recently that I was getting pantry moths, but I didn't think much of it. I'd notice them in the dog food container (a sealed plastic Tupperware bin) but figured they were flying in when I had it open. Then, recently, my oldest dog started having incontinence inside with extremely watery stools (he had not defecated inside since he was a puppy prior to this). After the second accident, we went straight to the vet with a fecal sample. All tests came back negative. Then today, I noticed tiny little bugs crawling around IN the food. I did a quick Google search to see if anyone else had had this issue and found countless posts regarding bugs/moths/larvae in Purina Pro Plan and how it was making dogs sick. Add my dog to the list of affected pets.	14	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	30	Pound

I have been feeding my cat with Hill's Science Diet for sensitive stomach and skin since mid May 2024 without any problems. My other cat (b) (6) has been eating this food for the past 5 months. On 05/25/2024 I opened a new bag of this food and I noticed that the kibble looked different - it was bigger in size and a little darker color. I started feeding my cats with the food anyway but (b) (6) was hesitant to eat the food. He would pick and spit pieces and he would eat very little. (b) (6) ate from the food but not with the same appetite he normally eats. Around 05/29 (b) (6) vomited right after he ate the food. On 05/31 (b) (6) got a diarrhea. On 06/01 and 06/02 (b) (6) had soft stool. On 06/02 (b) (6) vomited two times minutes after he ate from the kibble and about an hour later he got a diarrhea. 06/03 our vet gave us prescription food. I fed (b) (6) with prescription food but (b) (6) didn't eat prescription. At the evening (b) (6) got a severe and watery diarrhea. On 06/04 both cats were still having a diarrhea and the vet prescribed medicines. The medicines didn't work for (b) (6) The diarrhea continued and he started vomiting too. EON-584337	6/4/2024 8:28	Kibbles and bits- beef & chicken savory flavors	Two puppies fed the food Saturday night and then were seizuring /mentally inappropriate/tremoring the following day. Due to critical status puppies were euthanized. On presentation, (b) (6) was mentally inappropriate, lateral, and his temperature was too low to read. His fur was diffusely wet. Stabilization was requested but declined due to financial constraints. Labwork showed severely abnormal electrolyte levels (Na 194, K 5.78)m hyperlactatemia (5.1), and a BUN that was too high to read. We suspect these changes were secondary to seizure activity.	3	Months	Mixed (Dog)	Dog

EON-584335	6/4/2024 8:28	Kibbles and bits	(b) (6) had been otherwise healthy until last night she was given a new dog food, Kibbles and Bits from Walmart. She had previously been fed Rachel Ray dog food. (b) (6) along with 3 littermates and her mom were left in their normal enclosure overnight with the food. Notably, (b) (6) eats much less than the other littermates and is the runt of the litter. In the morning, (b) (6) was barking. When the owners entered the room the mom and 1 littermate were dead. 2 of the other littermates ((b) (6) and (b) (6) were neurologic and having possible seizures. There were piles of vomit around the room. The owner thought that the dogs appeared "sleepy" and splashed them with cold water. (b) (6) looked the best of the littermates with no clinical signs, and she was walking/running around. (b) (6) and (b) (6) were brought to (b) (6) for evaluation. On presentation, they were mentally inappropriate, lateral, and their temperatures were too low to read. Labwork showed severely abnormal electrolyte levels (Na 194, K 5.78) hyperlactatemia (5.1), and a BUN that was too high to read. We suspect these changes were secondary to seizure activity. Euthanasia was elected. The owner was told to bring in (b) (6) for evaluation, especially if showing clinical signs. Notably, there were 3 other puppies in the litter who now live with another family member and they are completely normal. Per the owner all dogs were up to date on vaccinations, however, due to their age there is likely no way they can be fully rabies vaccinated. There was no known toxin ingestion and no other substances are left in the room where the dogs sleep. The only change was the dog food, which has been causing bad reactions in other dogs on social media.	3	Months	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	0.88	Kilogram

He had been giving her oxygen. I spoke to the Vet myself, (b) (6) was very upset. He said he did everything he could but due to (b) (6) size the sickness was too much for her little body to handle. He said she just stopped breathing. He said (b) (6) also had HGE and that is what caused her death. Like (b) (6) (b) (6) was perfectly fine one minute and all of a sudden extremely sick. After our dog ate it, he was very sick for days after - vomiting, blood in his stool, very lethargic. His old skin allergies, which haven't been a problem for years, began to flare up very badly, too, in the form of constant, round-the-clock skin- and foot-licking. I looked up the product and found MANY similar reviews of the new "darker, smellier" food making many other people's dogs sick, and according to one review, a dog even died after consuming the food. EON-583952	5/29/2024 17:04	Simply Nourish grain free Adult Tuna & Potato Stew flaked wet cat food.	Immediately after eating, he walked about 15-20 ft into the living room (I was there but wasn't paying attention - only saw the beginning out of the corner of my eye and heard a loud bang from him hitting the metal leg of the coffee table. I couldn't see at first what was happening but when I got up I could see he was having full blown seizures. He had a couple of them, I held him and talked to and petted him thinking he would come out of it for a few moments, then realized he wasn't breathing and had no pulse. I picked him up and shook him upside down a little bit in case something was stuck in his throat or something and did CPR but none of it worked. He was gone. I noted after that he had eaten all of his food. I had been feeding him Simply Nourish tuna & potato stew (1/2 container 2x per day), mixed with some water and tuna juice of the same brand or Applaws (sp?). Also Purina Pro Plan weight management dry food several times per day from an automated feeder. The day it happened I had just received 2 new cases of the stew from Petsmart, it was the first container of the new case along with some Simply Nourish tuna broth, that was from a previously opened case that he'd already had several packets of. I'm concerned because I have all of this food and would like to donate it, but am afraid of other animals getting hurt if the food was the cause. also still have the remainder of the container and packet, it's been stored in the fridge but this happened a month ago (I tried to report it sooner but it was a huge shock and I was having a hard time talking about it, and the website didn't seem to be working). Would appreciate notice (phone or email is fine) even if nothing is going to occur, that's why I haven't thrown anything out. I didn't know if I should contact Petsmart or if that would just cause duplicate reports. ----Follow up after completing form---wanted to note regarding veterinary care - he has been seen by (b) (6) (b) (6) most recently but has seen multiple doctors there. Because of the nature of the event, there was no chance for veterinary intervention. I initially requested a necropsy, but ended up not getting it due to a variety of issues that would be too long to write here but can go through if that's helpful. He was taken there for cremation, they said it wasn't likely that a heart murmur or choking would cause seizures, but the heart murmur could have contributed to his not being able to come out of it.	9	Years	Domestic (unspecified)	Cat	11	Pound

He wasn't using his legs and just laying. 7:20pm - he was taken by the staff at the ER given oxygen, blood work, and ruling out all possible scenarios of what had happened to him. Finally, treating him for a mold or other toxin that caused his neuro issues and all the while he had aspirated on his saliva, complicating matters further. 8:15pm - the Vet met with us and said 30-40% survival rate - they would keep him in ICU and continue O2, meds, nebulizer, IV fluids and she would keep us updated. She was concerned with the aspiration because his lungs are so small. Friday 7:15am - we arrived back at the hospital - we had to take him to (b) (6) Veterinary Hospital because the ER was closing and he couldn't be off oxygen very long. 9:00am - The vet met with us and said his lungs sounded so much better but she was concerned with the neuro because he wasn't moving his legs. She said they would continue treatment and monitor him until they closed at 6pm. She said his prognosis was better than last night but wasn't sure how much damage was done neurologically and if he would have any lasting issues.	14	Weeks	Bulldog - French	Dog	13	Pound
			Noon- I called in to check and they said his body began to tremor again so they gave him more meds. 1:30pm - (b) (6) called and said he was alert, ate a little and was trying to use his front legs. 6:00pm - (b) (6) explained that he was a completely DIFFERENT dog - he had been outside, ate, played and WALKED into the exam room. She wanted us to take him back to the ER clinic to wean him off oxygen, give oral antibiotics, and prepare him for discharge!!! Saturday 7:00am - This morning, (b) (6) and I picked up (b) (6) and he is back to normal! He is home enjoying his toys, bland diet, and rest.

EON-583550	5/24/2024 11:08	Purina Pro Plan Veterinary Diets En Gastroenteric Low Fat Dry Dog Food	My dog has been on the Purina Low Fat En Diet for a while now, however beginning this year I noticed severe GI issues. I transitioned him to a bland and every time I transitioned him from a bland diet to his food (Purina Dry Food) the GI issues returned. In March/April, after trying to transition him back onto the Purina En Low Fat Diet food, he started pooping blood and was rushed to the vet (emergency appointment). He lost a good amount of weight, which raised some concerns from his vet. After the incident with the food in March/April, through process of elimination I determined that the Purina Low Fat EN Diet Food was the issue. The Vet agreed and recommended that I throw the food away because it might have been a bad batch. I tossed the food and changed his diet from Purina to a different company. I received an email last week, which confirmed that there have been other reports of dog illnesses and deaths linked to Purina. I can confirm that this is true. If additional information is required, please let me know. Purina have caused significant trauma; I was worried about my dog, and I also ended up expensive vet bills. EON-583549	5/24/2024 11:08	Hill's Science Diet Adult Sensitive Stomach & Sensitive Skin Chicken Recipe Dry Dog Food	(b) (6) (dates of sickness below), our three year old beagle/german shorthaired pointer, started to throw up yellowy liquid a few times a day and have blood in super soft stool for days and kept trying to eat grass to feel better. We took him to the vet and vitals and basic tests were all normal, so they gave him an anti-nausea shot and antibiotic. The problem resolved in a few days, after several days of lethargy and sickness. Then, our other dog, 9 year old foxhound mix (b) (6) started having the same problem. On 5/20/24 she started having blood in super soft stool and kept trying to eat grass to feel better. It worsened and we had to take her to the emergency vet 5/23/24, today. We just got home and she is now going to the bathroom all blood, barely any poop. Earlier today, we researched their food they both were eating at the time of sickness - Hill's Science Diet Adult Sensitive Stomach & Sensitive Skin Chicken Recipe Dry Dog Food, and we found several other reviews and comments online of people who had had similar experiences with the new formulation of the food. Maybe a year or quite a few months ago, I had noticed that the kibble had changed shape and was smaller. I thought this was odd. Well apparently ever since this happened, our dogs and plenty of other dogs (lots of german shorthaired pointers like (b) (6) have gotten sick, rashes, seizures, many dying. Now I am in the same situation others have been in - worried my best friend won't make it because of a company profiting from a cheaper formula. And now I am connecting the dots that our little (b) (6) mystery seizures a few months ago and terrible stomach rash may very well be caused by the new formulation as well (as many others have said too about their GSP and other dogs). Please help us. I am worried my (b) (6) now won't make it and am worried for the wellbeing of other dogs out there.	9	Years	Hound (unspecified)	Dog	60	Pound
EON-583548	5/24/2024 11:08	Pedigree small dog roasted chicken rice and vegetable flavor. 14 pounds.	After (b) (6) has been consuming "small dog pedigree 14 pounds roasted chicken, rice and vegetable flavor" which was purchased on April 20th, she threw up puddles of blood on April 26, 2024 and also had blood in her feces. She was taken to the vet, where costs were up to $400 dollars, and was given medication to lower stomach inflammation. On march 23, 2024 (b) (6) fell ill, she threw up, has been complaining in pain, and can barely walk or move because of her discomfort. She also whines in pain whenever lifted up.	3	Years	Poodle - Miniature	Dog	10	Pound

EON-583546	5/24/2024 11:08	Purina Beneful healthy weight	My family has lost 2 dogs in less than 2 months due to a similar illness. Both died of tumors in their spleen either causing it to burst or grow to the point of affecting other organs/systems in their body. Both unfortunately bleed out and died and two separate vets stated they would not make it had surgery been performed since the tumor growth grew to either rupture or encompass their spleen. The only common denominator between the two dogs was the food they ate considering they were not the same breed or age or related. We don't have anything for them to get into and they were extremely healthy to this point. Upon further research, we learned Beneful/Purina dog food brand has had several lawsuits against them along with several complaints from consumers with deaths concerning the same symptoms as what we experienced- lethargic, pale gums, cold to touch, tumors, bleeding out, hemangiosarcoma, etc. Beneful has done nothing to address these concerns and have stated there is no relation; however, there is obviously company bias related to their findings. Further studies need to be taken up to address this concern from an outside source otherwise family pets will continue to die without consequence.	10	Years	Boxer (German Boxer)	Dog	85	Pound

EON-583543	5/24/2024 11:08	Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Chicken and Rice Formula 18# bag	We have been feeding Purina Pro Plan Adult Chicken & Rice for a while now…. However, the Sunday night before the Eclipse, (b) (6) vomited up her Pro Plan Dinner and proceeded to vomit to the point of extreme dehydration within a few hours. I tried to get Cerenia and an antacid in her, but she couldn't keep anything down. She was so dehydrated (within just a few hours) her blood had almost no serum to pull off for bloodwork. It's like the moisture was sucked from her body. We had just opened up a new bag of Pro Plan purchased off of Amazon two/three days before. No poisons or toxins in the house or outside. No medications, nothing in the environment. Absolutely NOTHING changed except the new bag of food. Despite aggressive hospitalization, intense IV fluid therapy, IV anti-nausea meds, IV antacids, IV antibiotics and pain meds (because we believe her abdomen/stomach were painful) she was no match for the toxin. Most likely a Mycotoxin, maybe Aflatoxin. Her symptoms: -Hypersalivation -Vomiting -Acute Kidney & Liver Failure -Elevated WBC Count (neutrophils possibly from inflammation or fungal/mold exposure) -CPL positive -HYPOTHERMIA -Extreme lethargy & severe dehydration -Ataxia -Then finally Ascending paralysis and death within 18 hours of her first vomiting episode. Necropsy showed nothing abnormal as far as internal organs, just an extremely empty digestive system. Our other pet (a 35# Aussie) named (b) (6) also started hypersalivating the following day, was lethargic and her blood was also low on serum indicating dehydration. Kidney/liver enzymes normal, CBC normal. We switched her off to a different food immediately and she improved within a week, we will repeat bloodwork in two weeks.	12	Years	Papillon - Spaniel - Continental Toy (with erect ears or with dropped ears (Phaléne))	Dog	6	Pound

EON-583321	5/21/2024 15:12	ESBILAC PUPPY MILK REPLACER	On April 12 the 2024, our Bernese had her litter. By Sunday morning she had killed 5 of her puppies so the vet told me to pull the rest from her. so we pulled the remaining 8 on April 14th. We were feeding the puppies every 2-3 hours. esbilac liquid ready formula in a can. 2 weeks later after feeding them every 2-3 hours one of our females was gasping for air one evening. I picked her up and held her until she took her last breath in my arms. having NO idea what happened, I called the 24 hr animal hospital in (b) (6) so many times trying to seek answers. a couple days later another pup had passed ,once again in my arms. Doing the same thing his sister did before she passed. gasping for air. I then took them to the vet in monticello animal hospital, in hopes for answers. he told me there was a thing called fading puppy syndrome as he thought that could've been the case and to keep doing what I was doing bc I was doing everything right. so I took the rest of the puppies home and the next day we lost another one, this time my mom recorded him before he had passed, in hopes we can Google the symptoms to see what our litter was passing. I took them back up to animal hospital trying to get more answers, he put them on an antibiotic and said they may have a viral - bacterial infection, but did no blood work to confirm. as he thought this was to help them just in case. a couple days later my mom opened up a pop top can of the same formula we have been using to see the inside all moldy and curdled. and the smell of fish was horrifiic..... with that being said I'm going to rewind a bit and state that the other cans was not pop top as they were just the ones that you open with a can opener. (I had been sick and lost all taste and smell so I couldn't smell if the formula was foul) I would shake the can alot, slice one inch on the top of the can on one side and then another inch of the can on the other side. then I would triangle spout it out into bottles , so I never physically saw the inside of any of the cans.each can made approximately 2.5 bottles. Id make the bottles, feed the pups one and put the other bottle in the refrigerator and use it for the next feeding. after losing 4 puppies and seeing the formula I have been feeding my puppies I was so heart broken . I took them back up to animal hospital in (b) (6) the vet told me he stayed up late one evening and was trying to figure out why our puppies was passing. after searching the web he found that esbilac liquid formula was killing so many litters of puppies! he told me to switch the liquid from them to powder NOW, don't give them anymore powder. that he felt the causes of death of my puppies was not the fading puppy syndrome that he felt it was 100% the liquid curdled formula that was killing my puppies. I was and still am so heartbroken. I was killing my puppies and watching them die in my arms. I even performed CPR on one and kept her alive for 45 minutes.	2	Weeks	Mountain Dog - Bernese	Dog
			I went home and looked at the reviews on this product, it made me sick to my stomach. to see ao many bad reviews. so many animals dying just like mine was, the details that the customers would give was EXACTLY the same thing my puppies was doing before passing. said there was a lot of metal and copper inside the formula causing viral and bacterial infections. I will never, ever get over that I was reasoning that my puppies passed, as I feel like I should've done more research prior. Since the remaining 4 has been on the POWDER they are ALL perfectly healthy and growing! I have 3 females and one male left. (F1 Standard Bernedoodles. and they are my life! Im not trying to sue this company by any means I just want the other customers to be aware prior to purchasing because I woulld never wish the pain and heartache I have felt over the loss of my 4 to anyone. Thank you so much for your time

I began feeding her Blue Buffalo immediately and had been doing so until recently (April 2024). Ive purchased Blue Buffalo from PetSmart and Petco while living in (b) (6) (b) (6) and most recently in (b) (6) (b) (6) was diagnosed with heart issues in 2014 and has been dealing with this for years. The whole time I had been feeding her Blue Buffalo because it was recommended by the vets but now I'm finding out it's linked to heart issues in dogs and I'm worried my dog is one of them. She has also lost fur within the last year and had terrible skin rashes and scabs while I was feeding her Blue Buffalo. Also, she has suffered dental issues as well because she can't get teeth cleanings or tooth extractions because of her heart issue. Because of this, she was put on antibiotics to decrease her chances of oral infection. However, taking too many antibiotics can also affect the kidneys and she was diagnosed with Cushing's disease last year. Within the last month of preparing her meals myself (April 2024 - present) she is at a healthier weight, is more vibrant and her fur is fuller. The heart issues are still there but it's a step in the right direction to not feed her the brand anymore.	15	Years	Chihuahua	Dog

EON-583213	5/20/2024 12:08	Stella and Chewy absolutely rabbit dinner morsels raw food, Stella and Chewys Absolutely Rabbit Freeze Dried Raw Dinner Morsels	Around the beginning of April 2024 she came down with a cold out of nowhere - sneezing, runny nose, and eye discharge. She wasn't getting better, so I took her to our regular vet on April 13th for antibiotics. She got better and I didn't think much more about it, except she started not wanting to eat by around May 1st, so I brought her back in. The doctor then felt a mass in her belly and we decided to do abdominal surgery to try to remove the mass. 4 mesenteric masses were found and our doctor initially thought it was cancer. She started eating again with the help of an appetite stimulant. One week later she started running a fever and eating declined again, so I brought her back in and found that her temperature was 106. She was immediately hospitalized. One day later her preliminary biopsy results came back to show not cancer but a chronic abscess. After 2 days we were sent to (b) (6) emergency vet where she was hospitalized again. We found out at that point that this was caused by mycobacteria, but the sample from the first surgery was too old to PCR test. She went through another abdominal surgery to remove as many of the masses as possible and send off for testing. The doctor said that all masses were lymph nodes, and at this point all lymph nodes are involved. She was started on three antibiotics that night - Rifampin, azythromycin, and Pantoprazole. She is also getting odansetron, cerenia, denamarin, probiotics (Fera pets), gabapentin for surgical pain. Her fever has stabilized at 103-104. Her lymph nodes continue to be swollen. The biopsy from the latest surgery was sent off to the University of Illinois for PCR and culture testing. We are certain this is a mycobacteria. We don't know what kind yet. She is a strictly indoor cat. We highly suspect that this came from her food since it is a raw diet. Our other cat, a 13 yr old Siamese ((b) (6) is unaffected so far, but she has no underlying health issues. She gets only Stella and Chewy raw rabbit diet. We briefly used their freeze dried raw to bridge a time where the frozen was not available.	4	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	7	Pound

EON-583086	5/17/2024 21:04	Purina ProPlan Small Breed Chicken & Rice Formula (Adult Under 20 lbs) dry dog food	We received a new bag of Purina ProPlan Small Breed Chicken & Rice Formula (Adult Under 20 lbs) dry dog food (same brand used for a while) and fed it to our 4 dogs for dinner on 05/09/2024. We then transported them to our pet stylist who was pet sitting for us while we went out of town. All of our dogs are familiar with our pet stylist. They were given their same food at breakfast and at dinner (1/3 cup each meal for each dog). The issue appears to have begun with our other dog on 05/14/2024 - (b) (6) (10 year old black schnauzer mix - 18 lbs) began to have diarrhea and was vomiting in the late afternoon. By that evening, she could not hold her bowels and we were constantly going outside so she could relieve herself. She was also vomiting. She was soiling her kennel cloths, so we were ripping up sheets and towels and constantly changing them. We elected not to feed her that night, but fed the others the Purina Pro Plan. (b) (6) had to go out every 30 - 45 minutes throughout the night and early morning. On 05/15/2024 in the morning, I took (b) (6) to the vet. No bacterial or protozoan issues detected. Her blood panel was clear. She was given IV fluids and some meds. Her possible diagnosis was nervous colitis possibly due to her being separated from us. She was prescribed an anti-diarrheal and probiotics as well as prescription canned dog food with instructions to feed in small amounts (with rice added, if desired). We did this for (b) (6) and kept her separated from the other pets. (all pets are kennel trained and sleep in kennels) For dinner, (b) (6) was given the prescription pet food and meds. The other 3 pets were given the Purina Pro Plan (1/3 cup each) as is their usual diet. Later that evening (05/15/2024), (b) (6) (10 yr old brown schnauzer mix - 13 lbs) began to have liquid diarrhea and vomiting. She was unable to hold her bowels and had several accidents in the home as we rushed to get her outside each time. She was then also kenneled full-time where we similarly went through multiple cloths and sheets. She continued having liquid diarrhea. She also had to be taken out every 30 - 45 minutes through out the night. We discontinued any hard dog food for her to let her stomach settle.	12	Years	Dachshund (unspecified)	Dog	20	Pound
			(b) (6) = We did not yet fully suspect the purina food until the third dog got sick the next day in the early afternoon (b) (6) - 12 yr old short-haird brown dachshund - 20 lbs). We had gone ahead and given him and (b) (6) (8 year old White Morkie-Poo - 18 lbs) their usual amount of Purina dog food that morning for breakfast because neither of them were showing any signs of diarrhea nor vomiting. Later that afternoon, however, (b) (6) had liquid diarrhea and vomit consistent with the patterns seen with (b) (6) and (b) (6) Started out more explosive and then just uncontrolled. He also had to be housed in his kennel near the door with (b) (6) and (b) (6) so we could get him out right away. He is still experiencing liquid diarrhea as well as vomit. The only dog who has not had the severe reaction (initial uncontrolled spurts) is (b) (6) Her stool is soft (not the usual consistency), but she has not had diarrhea, nor vomiting. She is kept in her kennel and is now walked in a different area than the other dogs. At the time (b) (6) got sick, we discontinued giving Purina to her and (b) (6) So the last time we used the food was the morning of 05/16/2024.

EON-583083	5/17/2024 20:40	Purina ProPlan Small Breed Chicken & Rice Formula (Adult Under 20 lbs) dry dog food	We received a new bag of Purina ProPlan Small Breed Chicken & Rice Formula (Adult Under 20 lbs) dry dog food (same brand used for a while) and fed it to our 4 dogs for dinner on 05/09/2024. We then transported them to our pet stylist who was pet sitting for us while we went out of town. All of our dogs are familiar with our pet stylist. They were given their same food at breakfast and at dinner (1/3 cup each meal for each dog). The issue appears to have begun with our other dog on 05/14/2024 - (b) (6) (10 year old black schnauzer mix - 18 lbs) began to have diarrhea and was vomiting in the late afternoon. By that evening, she could not hold her bowels and we were constantly going outside so she could relieve herself. She was also vomiting. She was soiling her kennel cloths, so we were ripping up sheets and towels and constantly changing them. We elected not to feed her that night, but fed the others the Purina Pro Plan. (b) (6) had to go out every 30 - 45 minutes throughout the night and early morning. On 05/15/2024 in the morning, I took (b) (6) to the vet. No bacterial or protozoan issues detected. Her blood panel was clear. She was given IV fluids and some meds. Her possible diagnosis was nervous colitis possibly due to her being separated from us. She was prescribed an anti-diarrheal and probiotics as well as prescription canned dog food with instructions to feed in small amounts (with rice added, if desired). We did this for (b) (6) and kept her separated from the other pets. (all pets are kennel trained and sleep in kennels) For dinner, (b) (6) was given the prescription pet food and meds. The other 3 pets were given the Purina Pro Plan (1/3 cup each) as is their usual diet. Later that evening (05/15/2024) (b) (6) (10 yr old brown schnauzer mix - 13 lbs) began to have liquid diarrhea and vomiting. She was unable to hold her bowels and had several accidents in the home as we rushed to get her outside each time. She was then also kenneled full-time where we similarly went through multiple cloths and sheets. She continued having liquid diarrhea. She also had to be taken out every 30 - 45 minutes through out the night. We discontinued any hard dog food for her to let her stomach settle.	10	Years	Schnauzer (unspecified)	Dog	13	Pound

EON-583068	5/17/2024 17:08	Acana Meadowlands - Feline Formula, Acana Meadowlands - K9 Formula	My 2 dogs, a greyhound and a lab mix were given Acana Meadowlands. The lab mix became ill, vomiting and having multiple seizures (10+ a day). He had bloody diarrhea as well. The greyhound, while not sick, began refusing to eat the Meadowlands food as did the lab mix. Once we changed food brands the issue stopped. The lab mix has had seizures on various other Acana formulations before too (which stop when we change brands- Grasslands and the fish recipe). While it's possible there may be some kind of underlying allergy triggering the seizure episodes, my two cats, who were also fed the Meadowlands at the same time as the two dogs, also became ill on it and started vomiting on it throughout the house. I still have a bag of the cat Meadowlands formulation if you'd like to test it. All of the issues ceased once we switched all animals onto a different brand of food.	13	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	65	Pound

EON-583023	5/17/2024 10:12	Purina Pro Plan Weight Management Shredded Blend Small Breed Formula	4/9/24: I ordered 2 bags of Purina Pro Plan Weight Management Shredded Blend Small Breed Formula online from Chewy. They delivered it by 4/11, and I stored the food in a cool, dry location inside the house. 5/12/24: Around 5pm, I opened one of the new bags of Purina Pro Plan Weight Management Shredded Blend Small Breed Formula and fed my dog her normal serving size. By midnight, she was experiencing extreme gastrointestinal issues (diarrhea) and lethargy. She had a few episodes of this until around 9AM. I immediately stopped giving this food and have been feeding boiled chicken and rice since the event. The extreme symptoms have since subsided and she seems to be recovering with mild gastrointestinal symptoms. No medical intervention has been needed at this time. My dog is up-to-date on all vaccines and has never experienced symptoms of this nature. She has been eating this particular formula for at least a year. Prior to purchasing the food, I've noticed the past 6 months it has been difficult to find this food. I have kept her on it because it has helped her lose weight. I'm not sure if the supply/demand issues are impacting the quality of the food so I thought I would report it for investigation. Thank you	7	Years	Unknown	Dog	17	Pound

EON-582994	5/16/2024 20:24	4health with Wholesome Grains Large Breed Puppy Chicken Formula Dry Dog Food	My dog was impacted by copper-associated hepatopathy thought to be due to over-supplementation of copper in commercial pet food. I implore the FDA to take corrective action to lower the maximum copper concentration in commercial dog food to mitigate this avoidable & potentially fatal illness. This is our story: On March 18, 2023 we drove 5 hours to meet a 3 month old Samoyed puppy. She stole our hearts immediately. Another 5 hour trip and we were home. I wasn't sure how our then 11 year old beagle would like having another female dog in the house (up to this point we've had mostly males) but she handled it fine. (b) (6) fit right in. We had a Sammie before so we know the breed and were prepared for puppy training, house training, grooming, etc. We are active campers and hoped she would like camping as much as all our other dogs do/did. 5 months go by, everything is going well. She's sassy, aroos at us a lot, uses her beagle sister as a chew toy & likes to shred tennis balls in less than 5 minutes. Settling in nicely, we've got a good routine going but she seems to be not always enjoying her food (we continued what she was eating when we adopted her). Some days she ate great, other days she only ate some. Does she not like her food? Is she bored with it? The last time I had a dog that didn't eat she ended up with cancer. There were no warnings, her behavior was normal, she just stopped eating. I know I went to the extreme thinking this for (b) (6) but no harm in taking her to the vet to check. She's checked and cleared. Could she just be a puppy/terrible 2s? Keeping track of her eating and anything else going on was tedious but necessary. Three more months go by and her eating is getting more sporadic and now she is losing weight and spitting up – sometimes food, sometimes clear liquid which I learned a new term to…urping (same as when babies eat too quickly or too much). Back to the vet. I'm the type of person who if I believe something is wrong I will research, make appointments, talk to whoever I can until I get answers. One of two things happens: either I find an answer or someone tells me I'm crazy. So the vet calls. Bloodwork comes back and she is anemic, has slight jaundice, high liver enzymes and her white blood count is very high. Our vet suggests we make an appointment with a place that does abdominal ultrasounds. Ok didn't know what that all meant but she's got something going on. Appointment is made for the Thursday after Thanksgiving weekend. We go on our annual end-of-the-year camping trip which falls around our son's birthday. (b) (6) eats a little on Thursday which is Thanksgiving, nothing on Friday or Saturday. That's it - she is going to the hospital. Sunday morning my son and I load both dogs into my jeep, we leave hubby to finish closing up the camper and we head home. I drop my son and beagle at home and head to the hospital with (b) (6) Get her checked in and wait. Hubby gets home, parks the camper, gets our son and meets me at the hospital.	8	Months	Samoyed	Dog	49	Pound

			They aren't sure what's going on so she's staying the night at least. The next few days are tests and phone calls back and forth with the hospital. Bloodwork, scans, aspirations and finally liver biopsy. Copper Associated Hepatopathy aka Copper Storage Disease. What the hell is that? Well her body doesn't process copper. Wait there's copper in her food? Apparently, there is. Dogs need copper for a few different things like skin health, coat color and quality, bone, cartilage and joint maintenance, supporting proper skeletal formation and joint health. Um ok didn't know that. Start reading more about that and there is copper naturally in some ingredients in dog foods like meats, beans, whole grains. Copper Storage Disease is common in certain breeds: Labrador Retrievers, West Highland Terriers, Skye Terriers, Keeshonds, American Cocker Spaniels and Doberman Pinchers. Samoyeds are not on the list but they are adding breeds all the time. If their food just has naturally occurring copper the food should not cause problems. But some companies add copper and that's where it could be toxic. (b) (6) food happens to be one of those foods. The most disturbing fact is that it's not regulated. Companies can put in as much copper as they want. The 'recommended' amount 7.3 mg/kg (milligrams per kilogram). Recommended but not regulated. What do they add? Copper Sulfate - it kills bacteria, algae, roots, plants, snails and fungi. WHY IS THIS IN THEIR FOOD?!?! Copper Proteinate - I haven't found what this is. The amount of copper added isn't listed on their food. My beagle's food has both those ingredients but copper amount isn't listed. Do some digging on the company website and find that the amount is 17.2-18.73. I'm not great at math but that's more than 2 times the recommended amount. Why? Why? That's the question that keeps going through my mind. I can't focus on that right now. I have to focus on getting (b) (6) better if that's even possible. Will her liver recover? Is she going to die? No one could answer that. The vet mentions a medication that will bind to the copper and remove it from her body. Awesome! He's heard it's only available in Canada. Not awesome. After 3 days in the hospital we take her home. It's the day after our son's birthday and I can't tell him if she's going to make it. She's got a ton of medications, we can only give her water in small amounts at a time and now we have to get her to eat. Boiled chicken, rice, veggies. She seems to like the chicken, rice not so much, carrots are her favorite. We sit on the floor and hand feed her. She's so weak she lays on the floor. We carry her everywhere – outside, up stairs. Tiny improvements. Main goal is to get weight back on her. Before this started she was 49 lbs. When we brought her home from the hospital she was 21 lbs. There are no words.
			It's been a week since she's been home. Some days she eats the chicken. She loves carrots. I try to explain to her that she has to eat more than carrots. Besides we don't want her to turn orange! She doesn't care, she wants carrots. But now she's breathing funny, like having a hard time to breathe. It sounds croup-y. Ugh back to the vet – pneumonia. This poor baby. More meds. Humidifier in the bedroom. No sleep for any of us so we can check on her. She looks like she's wearing socks because sections of all 4 legs are shaved. Her belly is shaved & she has stitches from the incision from her biopsy. I just lay in bed watching her and crying. One good thing – I mentioned to the vet the medication the other vet was telling me about. A couple days after she calls and tells me she's found a compounding pharmacy that will make it. Back to awesome! We add that to her daily routine of meds. Pneumonia finally goes away. She turns 1. Didn't know if she was going to make it to 1. Back to getting her to eat. We spend weekends boiling chicken, making rice, blanching veggies (carrots, string beans), blueberries, sweet potatoes. 50 plastic containers lined up on the table, everything cools and we pack it up enough meals for the week. This is our life for a couple months. Bloodwork every 2 weeks. I make a medicine schedule of what she gets and what time. I also make a calendar and record everything: what she eats, how much, if she vomits or urps, everything goes on this. It goes to every vet visit. I get copies of all her bloodwork and tests. I compare new bloodwork results to previous results. I send questions to the vet. I research. I pass out every night. I'm up a million times during the night to check on her. We are all exhausted!

			But then it happens – she eats a little more, she's gaining weight. Her bloodwork is getting better although her white count is still high. We start adding more food to meals. We aren't going to celebrate yet but we can breathe a little easier. Now we have to decide if we are going to continue cooking for her or find a food with low copper. Have you tried doing that? It'll make you sick. Even the prescription food has added copper! Ok so maybe we will be cooking for her forever. Then hubby finds one and it only has 7.5 mg/kg. Nice! I email the company, tell them a very brief rundown of what happened to (b) (6) and ask it they have any added copper. They don't!! He sends me tons of info on their food and the reason they started making their food – they lost their dog to this disease. Unfortunately it was too late for them. I'm heartbroken for them. I cry for them, I cry for (b) (6) I cry for all the dogs that passed from this. It sickens me. It pisses me off. How can companies do this? Do they not know this can happen? Do they not care? How can this not be regulated? Time to do something. Checked my beagles food and guess what? Added copper! Threw that out and started her on the same food as (b) (6) (b) (6) gotcha day came. We are amazed. We didn't think about this day because we didn't know if she would be here to celebrate. She's 15 months old. She's back to her sassy self. Her hair is growing back in and it doesn't look like she's wearing socks anymore. She's running and playing. Best of all – she's 48 lbs! Now we have happy tears. She's down to 2 medications and a probiotic a day. We don't know how long we'll have her with us. We don't know what damage is done to her liver. We will eventually need another liver biopsy to check her liver but we don't want to put her through that right now. We hope we caught it early. Most dogs aren't diagnosed with this until it's too late. This needs to stop! It needs to be regulated. There is no reason for excess copper to be added to our dogs food. Please get involved & make companies stop adding copper. Not just the brand of food we used - ALL companies!

EON-582976	5/16/2024 17:04	Royal Canin . Select protein PR	Royal Canin PR was on the list that the veterinarian recommended for my dog that has food allergies. We got the prescription and got Royal Canin PR (rabbit and potatoes) formulated for dogs that has food allergies. When I gave it to her in less than 24 hours she started itching , her itching increased after 24 hours I gave her that food . She has been on rabbit formula from other brands before and did good . So I looked the Royal Canin PR bag and when I was reading the ingredients only in Spanish says natural ingredients (aves) which it means birds , but only in Spanish not in the other 2 languages. I called the company they said it was marking problem I said no because my dog is allergic to poultry , beef , bison , lamb . She has been on rabbit prescriptions food before from other brand and she did not itch, so you guys are putting birds to the rabbit and potatoes prescriptions food , she requested my dog medical records and I said not a problem. My dog is healthy she just have food allergies so that's why she is on prescription food for dogs that has food allergies. I got a lawyer because what they are doing is False Advertising. My lawyer requested DNA test on the food but they didn't give him the results . I had to take my dog to her veterinarian and she gave her an cytopoint injection because she was itching so much and her skin was getting bad after eating Royal Canin PR . Eventually my one dog vomited so many times she then collapsed and I took her to the emergency vet to find she was bleeding internally. She was hospitalized for 3 days and then in and out of the vet again for a week or two after because she declined again and I almost lost her multiple times. They diagnosed her with pancreatitis but then also with IBD but said they had no idea why or what caused it but I believe it was due to the dog food and the fact that she was on it for years and never had a problem and then both of my dog were sick and nothing else changed and the vets could not tell me what it was and just guessed and the last internal medicine vet said she doesn't believe she ever even had pancreatitis. EON-582886	5/15/2024 17:24	Grandma Lucy's Pure Formance Fish Recipe	I have an 155 pound Leonberger who is a very fussy eater. Grandma Lucy's is one of the only foods that he eats consistently. At almost $100 per bag, and he goes through a bag a week, while the food is very expensive, I assumed it was high-quality so I sucked it up and paid the price. So imagine my horror when I fed him his breakfast and when I looked in the bowl when he was finished and saw a dime in his bowl. Somebody put a friggin dime in the pet food bag. I immediately reached out to Grandma Lucy's and the response I got was so pathetic. It's like they didn't care. I then wrote to the president and never heard back. Finally after sending another email to Customer Service they called me. When I asked them why I never heard from the president they told me "she's very busy." I would think that if they cared about customers and their product, they would take a matter like this much more seriously. Then today, I was finishing off the bag planning on switching him to a different food and found a penny in my dog's food. A different bag had a penny in it!! I had Chewy.com replace the bag I had with the dime in it and the replacement bag had a penny in it. There's a serious problem going on at that factory/warehouse. My pet food store told me that two people who bought the same product told her That they found bugs in their bags and they also contacted customer service and Customer service didn't care. I reached out to Customer Service about the penny today and never even heard back. I'm taking my dog tomorrow for x-rays to make sure he hasn't swallowed any coins. And I am expecting grandma Lucy's to pay for the appointment. But it's going to be a fight! Because they don't care.
EON-582885	5/15/2024 17:24	Purina Pro Plan High Protein with probiotics Shredded Blend Chicken and Rice Formula Dry Dog Food	After approximately 3 meals (1 1/2 cup each) of a NEW bag of Purina Pro Plan Chicken and Rice Adult Complete, she began vomiting 3-4x after every time she ate the food. After two vomiting fits (about 3 meals), her becoming lethargic/depressed, and displaying red/glassy eyes, I stopped feeding her Purina food and switched to rice and pumpkin. Also important to note that after opening the new bag, she kept leaving food in the bowl which is very unusual for her. She did not throw up during the few days she was not eating Purina and was not leaving food in her bowl. When I thought her stomach was better, I gave her Purina again, which she threw up immediately following eating it. I fed her boiled chicken and pumpkin for 2 days, while waiting to see the vet (again, did not vomit when she was not eating Purina). The vet ran blood tests and found nothing unusual except an abnormally high red blood cell count, which he attributed to throwing up and becoming dehydrated. The vet recommended discarding the bag and switching food, as the food was likely the culprit. She was given fluids, anti-nausea medication, and prescribed Gastro wet food before transitioning food.	2	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	71	Pound
EON-582870	5/15/2024 13:24	Nature's Recipe Grain-Free Salmon Sweet Potato & Pumpkin Recipe Dry Dog Food	About 5 days after our dog started eating this new bag of food he started experiencing constipation. He has lost all appetite and is lethargic overall does not seem well. He has had constipation and diarrhea back and forth. We have been feeding this brand and flavor of dog food for years and this most recent bag has much darker and harder pieces with some having chip/shards of what appears to either be bone or plastic. We will be visiting the vet tomorrow for a full diagnosis.	11	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog

EON-582844	5/15/2024 9:16	Meow Mix indoor health	I recently purchased two SEALED bags of meow mix (indoor health) dry food. the first bag had no issues per usual, when my husband opened the second bag about 6 days later he immediately realized the food was MOLDED the whole bag all the way through. we toke pictures and smelled the bag to make sure it was what we thought it was. the bag was stored properly. Wasn't too hot or cold. The bag was not tampered with at all, kept out of reach of my three kittens and 2 year old cat. We haven't thrown the food out either.

EON-582816	5/14/2024 20:04	Purina One Hairball Formula	I've been feeding my cat Purina, one hairball formula for many years. Over the past couple of months, I noticed that she will not complete a bag of Purina one and she'll look to a new bag, so I'm throwing away a lot of food, and I've often noticed that she has increased vomiting quite a bit and it coincides with her eating. Hey, I opened up a new bag of Purina one instantly she got sick on the floor. I do not want to falsely accused Parina one but I'm seeing a lot of other incidents occurring for Parina one is denying liability, but I think this issue is worth looking into.	12	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	13	Pound

EON-582763	5/14/2024 12:20	Dream Bones Mini Sticks Wrapped Real Chicken	I purchased a bag of the Dream Bone mini-Chicken wrapped Sticks at my local (b) (6) supermarket in (b) (6) (b) (6) My dog loves the product and has been eating them for quite some time, the new bag was mfg. in Vietnam VB23338 best by date is 12/04/2026 POP DBcW-02856 15 mini sticks. UPS code 8-10833-02856-6. I gave her one from the bag this morning and about 20 mins later she threw up, which I thought "ok, she may have eaten some grass outside", but no grass was in the vomit. At lunch today I gave her another one and about 10 mins later she threw up again. I called my vet and had to leave a message, I called the Mfg. and was on hold for about 20-30 mins and had to hang up to return to work. I googled this product and saw several stories on it making dog sick and even killing them; the Vietnam mfg. product was mentioned several times in the stories. The store I shop at had been out of the product and when I saw they had re-stocked the shelf and I bought a new bag, so this was new inventory for them. I have only given my pet 2 out of the new bag, she threw up from eating both treats, I will throw the remaining away. I wanted to alert someone about the issue before more dogs become sick or die from the product.	7	Years	Hound (unspecified)	Dog	150	Pound

EON-582651	5/13/2024 21:40	Stella & Chewys Raw Blend Wild Caught Recipe Salmon Grain Free	Stella & Chewys, Raw Blend, Wild Caught Recipe salmon, Grain Free. Lot code :#231222PRO078825 Best if used by JUN-14-2025 18:15:57 Item # 820080 We had a bag of Stella and Chewys dry food (beef flavor) that was finished. Dog has no reactions to it, and we have been feeding Stella's for 2 years now. We alternate between feeding the beef flavor, and the wild caught recipe. She has never had a reaction or issue with either. However, Sunday may 12th, she was throwing up all night, and had bloody stool and threw up the next morning too. We took her to the vet and vet confirmed high salmonella count, but couldn't determine our dogs exact exposure. She ((b) (6) our dog) has not eaten anything else during this time or before we noticed hee acting odd and throwing up. As far as we can tell, the only thing that changed in her recent diet was opening up a brand new bag of Stella and Chewys Raw Blend, wild caught recipe. Food from this newly opened bag was first fed the morning of May 12th. It's the only thing we can think of that ever changed with her diet or anything she ate that could have caused the salmonella. I checked current recalls as much as i can and found nothing recent about Stella's, but I can't think of anything else that could have caused the issue besides the new bag of food. I would really like this to be investigated, I am not sure if this food is safe for my dog anymore and am very concerned about her health. She went into the vet this morning and has gone home with an expensive bill and medication to help, but has not yet improved or recovered completely. She is currently stable and we were instructed by vet to wait out the night at home with her and return to vet in the morning if she is still not improving through tonight (05/13/2024) Noted that the freeze dried pieces of food in the bag looked more extta crumbly than usual, and not exactly like it is normally. But wasn't enough to alarm us not to feed from the bag. While writing this report, I looked at the UPC code to record the info for this report, and found puncture holes and packaging tape over a part of the bag nearby the upc. Not sure if it's related, but I am now very suspicious of this as well. I do remember the sales person at the pet store mentioning it was just some tape on the bag (when we purchased it) but i wasn't concerned about the tape at the time, and didn't realize it was specifically taped up holes in the bag.	5	Years	Corgi - Welsh Pembroke	Dog	30	Pound

In January, she started vomiting and having severe diarrhea so we took her to the vet. All her bloodwork came back normal so they treated her with antibiotics. She was down to 70 pounds. Early February, we took her back in and she was down to 60 lbs. On February 26, we took her to a different vet where the did multiple imaging and more bloodwork but everything kept coming back "normal". On February 28th, we opted for an exploratory surgery to see of they could find the cause. They couldn't and we lost her that day. She was down to 51 pounds. EON-582004	5/9/2024 16:40	Blue buffalo chicken and rice adult dog food	Dog vomited within minutes of first eating the food. Continued vomiting for several days. We switched to a different food but her condition continued to decline. A veterinarian found the her liver values in bloodwork were 3-5 times higher than normal. She was also retaining urine for multiple days, not eating, lethargic. We are currently attempting to improve her condition with antibiotics and liver supplements.	3	Years	Saint Bernard Dog	Dog	105	Pound

EON-581956	5/9/2024 12:08	FULL MOON chicken strips 100% USA MADE HUMAN GRADE	Dog treat brand: Full Moon Chicken Strips USA Made, pink and white (gusset) bag. This was received as a gift so I do not have a store location or date of purchase. It would have been purchased in (b) (6) We received these treats around the end of February. The product came in a sealed bag and I did not notice any off smells or discoloration. I did not see any mold or anything concerning about the actual product. Unfortunately, I threw the bag in the trash and did not take down lot code/UPC, etc. so I do not have specific product information. This was our first time using this product. Before the adverse reactions, my dog was eating the same food brand for about 6 months without problems. Around March 10, I noticed reactions that were recurring in my dog. He would not eat or ask for food. He was eager to eat his food prior to this. He lost interest in kibble, but he was still interested in treats and cooked chicken/beef. I noticed red streaks in his stool (diarrhea). Some days he would wake up in the morning, refuse to eat, and as a result puke up bile and sometimes puke blood. This stool and puke was on and off from 03/01/2024-04/29/2024 when I threw out the treats. I have no product info aside from the Brand name. After a few weeks, I realized these treats were causing this. The days that he ate the treats, he would have these GI issues, but on days I did not give him treats, he would eat his food and have normal stool again. He was still active and his overall behavior remained normal. The only adverse reactions were puking and diarrhea. I also took him to the vet 04/15/24: blood test was clear, fecal test was clear, and nothing was noted by the veterinarian. I believed his kibble might have been the problem, so at one point I switched his food (around 04/01/2024) and fed chicken/rice, but no treats. The new food and chicken/rice resulted in normal stool and no vomiting. So, after a few days of normal stool I would offer the treats. This is when the diarrhea and vomiting returned. I threw out the treats around 04/29/2024, and since then his eating has been normal, with no puking or diarrhea. I did not receive any closure from the vet about this, and we did not utilize any medicine to help my dog recover. The vet recommended that I watch his behavior for more serious symptoms. Simply excluding the product from his diet showed a positive result. We did not visit the ER for this problem. EON-581955	5/9/2024 12:04	BIXBI RAWBBLE Fresh Chicken Recipe Limited Ingredient Grain-Free Dry Dog Food	I thought he had kennel cough (from dog park?) - he was wheezy and coughing. Scheduled appt, and in the two days I waited he became lethargic and more out of it. 06/01/23 The vet took chest xrays that revealed his swollen heart and prescribed Furosemide 25 mg BID and pimobendan 5 mg BID were initiated. Cardiologist: grade III/VI left apical systolic murmur with a gallop, increased bronchovesicular sounds bilaterally with mild tachypnea and normal effort, and weak femoral pulse strength. Echocardiographic findings were consistent with DCM phenotype - ddx nutritionally mediated cardiomyopathy vs true dilated cardiomyopathy and moderate PHT (TR PGmax 57 mmHg). Furosemide was increased to 50 mg AM/25 mg PM and enalapril 5 mg BID and taurine 1000 mg BID were initiated. Pimobendan was continued unchanged. 05/08/24: echocardiogram showed that his heart is improving in size and function. still has severe heart enlargement of his left ventricle, but left atrium is only mildly enlarged. EON-581789	5/7/2024 14:36	Retriever Adult Performance High Protein Beef and Chicken Recipe Dry Dog Food 50 lb. Bag	We purchased the Retriever Hi Protein 50lb bag from our local Tractor Supply. After beginning to feed it we noticed throw up in all of the dog kennels. The most critical thing we noticed was the mother to a liter of pups threw up and we believe has passed whatever virus the dog food caused to the puppies. The puppies are 2 weeks old and have been healthy up to this point, we noticed a puppy's poop turned white and in a day she has passed away. Another puppy is starting to poop the same and we are worried for it's life. We are very concerned that this product is contaminated or causing E-coli.			Shepherd Dog - Australian	Dog

EON-581730	5/7/2024 8:28	Purina One Chicken and Rice Formula	FYI, the seriousness of the medical needs with our canine started a few weeks earlier than the date list above. We purchased a new bag of Purina Sensitive Stomach Chicken flavor. My dog was adverse to eating it, but would eat the toppers off. I added beef broth the next day to coax him and he finished it. Next day, bloody stool. So, not knowing what was wrong I did a 10 day cleanse. Turkey, chicken, rice, probiotics. He turned a corner in 24 hours, but remained on it for 10 days. Day 11, I introduced 1 treat back for 3 days and he did fine. Next day I introduced a treat back for 3 days and he did fine. Then I added his allergy bites and he did fine. The following day, 4-28-24 we gave him another cup of this dog food and that afternoon he was acting weird. The following day, 4-29-24 he was hemorrhaging out of his anus. And when I say hemorrhaging, I mean severely. I suspect it was around a pint or more. We rushed him to the vet, where they immediately administered IV cath with fluids, Hematrocit/total protein, did CBC, PTT &PT for clot tests, have vitamin K1, Vetstarch, Metronidazole, Cerenia Maropitant, propectialin Gel, did a CBC, Baytril Enro, Unasyn-Ampicillin, Dectrose, Cefazolin antibiotic, Vitamin B, Saline, Vitamin C injected, monitored his blood etc. Our dog was dying. He was transferred to a 24 hour clinic to be watched overnight. The morning of 4-30-24 he could not raise his head, stand, sit, and blood could not be drawn for testing. Our dog was dying. The only way to get a small amount of blood was to pump his heart, give oxygen, pump his feet and we tried 5-7 places, including the jugular to draw enough blood for testing. We got drops and could not fill a vile. He began getting sores and GentaVed topical spray was needed. And that afternoon developed Neurological difficulties such as Nystagmus and shaking.	4.5	Years	Sheepdog - Old English	Dog	38	Pound
EON-581717	5/7/2024 8:25	Purina pro plan small breed	I have 3 dogs (b) (6) 6yr spayed female Pomeranian mix no health issues always active. Then I have a pug 3yr 17lbs no health issues always active. Finally I have a 10yr 10lbs chihuahua mix male neutered never had any health issues. I was feeding all three this food, one morning I was awoken my dogs and the small one (b) (6) had passed away it looked like she had a seizure (which she has never had)she also had vomited up her food which was purina proplan it was like nothing digested, before we went to bed she was fine went both pee and poop was very active and playful and then we wake up and she is deceased I did think it was weird that none of the food we fed her had digested. Then a week later my chihuahua starts vomiting the food and having bloody diarrhea and went to the vet P was extremely dehydrated but all bloodwork came back normal, then my pug started to have accidents in the house and was vomiting the food and slight diarrhea got her bloodwork back all normal and no UTI but she was acting sick as well. The only thing I could think of that correlates with all three is there food I changed there diet that night to a new diet and both (b) (6) and (b) (6) got better and started tk have normal stools almost instantly. I tried putting a bowl of purina and a bowl of the new diet out Fromm neither would go near the purina bowl. I started to look into everything online and all the allegations and a lot of the things people were saying to look out for was happening to all my fur babies. At first I thought my other two pups may be depressed since losing a house mate but I find it very weird that as soon as I change there diet they both are fine and if all happened with my in a week of losing my Pomeranian they both become very ill just the only logical thing seems to be the diet.I think the food needs to be investigated with all these allegations going on.	6	Years	Other Canine/dog	Dog	5	Pound

It was recommended by the vet that this food be removed from any future pets due to frequent complaints of the same nature. Apparently, the food has been contaminated and is not being removed from the shelves.			Unknown	Dog
EON-581585	5/5/2024 14:28	Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Chicken & Rice Entree, Fancy Feast Delights with Cheddar Grilled Chicken & Cheddar Cheese Feast in Gravy	As mentioned above, (b) (6) was diagnosed with IBD in December 2023. In the weeks leading up to his diagnosis and since then, he stopped showing interest in his normal food, which was Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials - Chicken & Rice Entree, and he has become a very picky and inconsistent eater. For me, this turned into a guessing game, trying to find something new he would consume. As I would rotate through options, I would find myself coming back to the Purina, hoping that he would take to the food like he did his entire life. Sometimes he would, and when he did (now looking back) I noticed he would have diarrhea within the following day(s) of consuming. I informed the vet of the diarrhea and they provided me a clay compound I could mix in with his food. That was effective as his diarrhea would clear up within a 2-3 of starting the clay. I would stop the clay after the diarrhea stopped and his stools would stay firm/log-shaped. I would also stop providing the Purina and provide something else, either because of early suspicion or because he would not consume. There have been at least three diarrhea events that I can recall I feel are linked to Purina products - two with Pro Plan and one with Fancy Feast: -Event #1: December 2023 (Pro Plan) -Event #2: February 2024 (Pro Plan) -Event #3: April 2024 (Fancy Feast) For all events, clay compound was given, the food was changed and the diarrhea went away within 2-3 days. Outside of those events, stools seemed to be normal/not of concern. I have cycled through at least 15 different types of canned wet foods since his diagnosis, trying to find something that he will consistently eat and of all the ones he would consume, the two noted above gave him diarrhea.	8	Years	Domestic Mediumhair	Cat	10.5	Pound

EON-581575	5/5/2024 9:52	Backcountry - Raw Infused - Big Game Recipe	the Merrick dog food that I purchased from your store in (b) (6) on February 14, 2024. Yesterday, I discovered that there were a large number of bugs at the bottom of the containers of dog food. Upon further inspection, I found that there were live insects coming out of the freeze-dried meat pieces when I crushed them, and I also found numerous insect eggs wriggling inside the meat pieces. This is extremely concerning and disgusting. While I understand that this is animal food, it is still a very serious matter. Additionally, my dog has been experiencing diarrhea for the past month, and I initially thought it was a gastrointestinal issue. However, now I believe that it may be related to the contaminated dog food.	6	Years	Poodle - Standard	Dog	55	Pound

EON-581531	5/4/2024 13:24	Purina Beneful Originals with Natural Salmon the #1 ingredient and accents of sweet potatoes green beans & carrots	Both dogs have eaten Purina Beneful Originals Salmon mixed with Supreme Source Salmon for years. They have always liked the Beneful best and thevet suggested it was because it is more like a junk food. In October of 2023 they stopped wanting to eat their food but would eventually, once they were hungry enough. I noticed both dogs were not their normal active and playful selves but thought they might have some type of cold or something. I continued feeding them their normal mixture for about 7 days but noticed they only got more lathargic and stopped eating their morning meal in time for their evening meal. So they stopped getting an evening meal, eating their morning mesl overnight before the next feeding in the morning. This continued for about a week until they stopped eating completely. They have never done that so I tried separating the two foods and the dogs immediately ate the Supreme Source but would not touch the Beneful. At this point, I stopped trying to feed them the Beneful. Within 3 days they started to become more lively. Within a week, they were almost completely back to themselves. I did notice that the Beneful smelled a little stronger, more pungent, and almost sour. The 2 dogs don't eat anything other than their dog food. No treats and no people food. They are either with me in my visual space, in the house when I am gone, or in our fenced backyard that is not easily accessible to others. EON-581517	5/4/2024 9:44	Kirkland Signature "Super Premium" Maintenace Cat Chicken & Rice Formula	Slowly transitioned our cats ((b) (6) (2), (b) (6) (2), (b) (6) (9)) from one food to Kirkland's Maintenance Cat Chicken and Rice Formula. The transition went smoothly and at first none of our cats showed symptoms. We gradually noticed (b) (6) started vomiting semi-regularly, and then it increased to every time he ate. He began to rapidly lose weight (13.3 pounds down to 11.1 in roughly 2 months), became lethargic, and became more withdrawn. Unfortunately, I didn't connect the dots sooner, but once we took them off of the Kirkland's food, he stopped vomiting completely and we have seen an increase in energy levels and appetite. He has gained 0.3 pounds back so far, but we are still working on getting him back to where he was before. Another cat (though not 100% sure which one) had begun to experience urinary issues (started urinating outside of the box, which had never been an issue before). EON-581515	5/4/2024 9:44	Acana light and fit	(b) (6) had a developing cough spring 2023. Would get antibiotics, it would improve but then would come back. Eventually the vet wanted to do a chest X-ray and discovered (b) (6) had dilated cardiomyopathy. Later they concluded the cough was unrelated and they found his diagnosis early hopefully without permanent damage. His food was immediately switched bc the contributing factor was Acana dog food. They then referred to him a cardiologist where they found the dog food was causing irregular heart rhythms in addition to the cardiomyopathy. Almost a year later and (b) (6) is on 10 pills a day. His vet believes his heart is improving. Decreased arrhythmias and decreased heart size with improved function. Both the cardiologist and primary have concluded the cause was this food. They say at least one dog a week comes in with same problem from grain free food.	4	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	70	Pound

The first two bags were fine, but the new bad made her very ill with vomiting and diarrhea all night and into the next day. She's fine now. I looked over various web sites and found that several dog owners are having the same experience. Of course a puppy will sometimes eat things they shouldn't, but seeing the other reports, I'm inclined to think it was the Stella and Chewy food. She ate her regular kibble (Royal Canin) with no problem. EON-581413	5/3/2024 8:24	Kristis all natural pet food Raw all natural cat food Turkey cat food Grain free and all natural For kittens adult cats and seniors	Kristis raw cat and dog food has no nutritional facts or any info besides ingredients. It is being sold as a complete food. The owners have no idea how much of anything (vitamins, minerals, percentages of fat, protein, taurine, or any essential nutrients) is in their food. The typical consumer believes it's a complete food. Nutrition facts are needed to give consumers the ability to know if this is a proper diet with everything essential. Missing one or two essential nutrients can cause numerous diseases. I believe the FDA requires net info and nutrition facts to help consumers make decisions. The food is also being sold in Ziploc type bags with no actual seal. Anyone could open and remove or add anything they wanted and then seal the bag again. The food is lacking the essential tests and labeling to be sold as a complete food, yet it is several stores. I notified (b) (6) and have no response. I'm not sure why there are about 5 different markets selling this food lacking any info.

The next day they did not wish to eat and we found multiple soft stools in our yard. (b) (6) condition worsened over the course of that day and the next and she vomitted a large pool of blood, in addition to having bloody stools. (b) (6) was admitted to the Vet and stayed overnight for two nights, to receive treatment for severe GI irritation. We paid over $1200 in Veterinarian fees. Morning of 3/16/24 - ate tiny amt of food . On Sun - began projectile vomiting liquid (bile) in large amts. Took her to ER vet on Sun 3/17/24. She wasn't eating at all and very lethargic. She was laying around her water bowl but wouldn't drink anything. ER vet administered fluids … etc. Advised if there weren't any improvements she would need hospitalized. By the next morning , nothing had improved & I drove her back to thER vet (hospital) where she was admitted. She remained in ICU from 3/14/24 until 3/26/24. It was a horrific experience that I wouldn't wish on anyone. After a couple of days , there wasn't much improvements & they started bringing up the word euthanasia . They ran numerous blood tests. Her chloride and potassium levels were bottoming out. Test that was run for pancreatitis showed high. They took chest and abdominal xrys which didn't show any abnormalities. My perfectly healthy cat was deathly ill. As a last ditch effort, we tried dexamethasone (steroid). After receiving this , by the third day, her blood levels started improving & she started eating on her own. Prior to this she received her nourishment through a feeding tube they had placed. One of the reason I was told why she was so uncomfortable was because they had been raining approximately 150 ml of fluid from her abdomen daily. She has eaten Purina pro plan grain free wet food her entire life. I feel this must have been a bad batch of cans. She was fine one minute and gravely ill the next. EON-581144	4/30/2024 8:24	Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Stomach and Skin Salmon and Rice	My dog (b) (6) was in excellent health and had just been to the vet for his annual check up including labs. Other than slightly elevated liver function, all his labs were normal. (b) (6) had been eating Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Stomach and Skin Salmon and Rice for 3.5 of his 4 years without any problems. I keep (b) (6) food in a BPA free airtight container and I clean the container when it's empty, before adding the next bag of food. Mid October of 2023, about 3 or 4 days after feeding him from a new bag of food, he experienced vomiting and extreme diarrhea. I called the vet rather than take him in since he'd just had a thorough check up. They suggested making sure he was drinking plenty of water and check my yard for any plants he may have eaten. However, I didn't have anything in my yard except grass, and both my dogs became very sick. I decided to throw all their food out and sanitize the food bin before adding a different brand of dog food - Wellness Core. Both of my dogs were better within a couple days, which further increased my suspicion it was the Purina Pro Plan. I was extremely upset that Purina didn't seem at all concerned, despite the multiple complaints I had read on the Chewy website while I researched a replacement dog food. I thought perhaps it was just a bad batch, but I'll never buy from Purina again given their continued denials and lack of serious investigation in the face of mounting complaints. I wish I'd had the foresight to keep the bag, but after Purina's dismissive comments, I decided to throw it away. Now after reading about increasing issues, I decided to file this report. It doesn't have all the data necessary, but it does document another incident.	4	Years	Mountain Dog - Bernese	Dog	120	Pound

A few days after starting a new box of cat food, (b) (6) started experiencing vomiting, diarrhea, and complete loss of appetite. He was taken to the vet Friday 4/27/24 where a general exam and a fecal sample was sent out to test for parasites. Saturday, fecal results came back with no parasites and he was vomiting more frequently so I took him to the emergency room. At the (b) (6) a full physical exam was done, as well as blood work to test for dehydration - liver, kidney, pancreas, sodium levels, and he was tested for FIV as well. Blood work came back completely normal, so a radiograph was done to check for obstructions in the GI tract. Initial x-ray image was difficult to read because of food from the morning still in the stomach, so he was fasted for another 8 hours and brought back for a re-check x-ray. Recheck x-ray showed a completely empty stomach and intestines looked normal. (b) (6) was given fluids, anti-nausea injection, probiotic meds and prescription food to help with diarrhea. After starting meds and prescription food (b) (6) showed full recovery and is back to normal. However, his sister (b) (6) is now showing similar symptoms with diarrhea and loss of appetite. After searching online I found other consumer complaints about Purina Friskies cat food with identifying number ending in 1157 and 1159 making their cats very sick. The box of cat food we started recently has the number 1157 on them. I am not sure exactly what this number is supposed to identify, but I have reason to believe something in these cat food cans with the same identifier number is making cats sick.	3	Years	Domestic Mediumhair	Cat	10	Pound

EON-580861	4/26/2024 17:16	Just Food For Dogs Lamb and Brown Rice	In December 2024 I purchased several packages of Just Food for Dogs 18 oz packages including Venison and Squash and Lamb and Brown Rice from Petco in (b) (6) There was a significant amount of unknown contaminant/foreign object/ground up bone-like remnants in several packages of the Venison and Squash 18 oz, which is not an ingredient in this food. Prior to discovering the visually obvious contaminants, I had been feeding packages from this same purchase, and my typically healthy dog had been pooping blood for several days with no clear cause. I had put my dog on a different bland food diet and the stomach issues resolved. When I resumed feeding, I discovered on January 22, 2024 that there was an odd contaminant in several packages, I contacted Just Food For Dogs via email and the next time I went into Petco, I spoke in person with employees about this issue as well. Just Food for Dogs representatives stated they had tested it prior to shipping and found it safe, but they had no control over the quality of their product once it left their stores and went to secondary retailers like Petco Unleashed. I noticed the packaging from Petco Unleashed was sealed differently than the packages I bought directly from the manufacturer and thought it looked possibly like it had been opened and glued back shut or like it was different packaging materials, including the printed labels that looked a little odd/off/slightly misprinted. I thought it looked like a counterfeit label or something odd. Based on advice from Just Food for Dogs, I discarded the obviously visually contaminated packages and stopped shopping at this store. My dog got better for the most part. She appears to have lost some weight since then and she is due for a check up at the vet next month.	5	Years	Poodle (unspecified)	Dog	60	Pound
			On (b) (6), I was suddenly and unexpectedly ill and had to go to the emergency room. Prior to taking me to the ER, my mom helped me buy dog food that day, and she and I shopped at this same Petco Unleashed because it was closer to my house. I had doubted my prior judgement after reporting it to Just Food for Dogs in January and thought maybe I overreacted, and I had decided to purchase food from this store again. Today, April 26, 2024, I found the same type of contaminants in the 18 oz Lamb and Brown Rice packages I purchased from the same Petco Unleashed from the day I went to the hospital on the (b) (6). I have a bad feeling about it and have preserved the food it was in and the contaminant in my fridge and have taken photos of it. I am concerned about this for two reasons. This food is supposed to be sourced from human grade ingredients that are safe for humans to eat. They let people eat it in the Just Food For Dog store to show it's healthy and safe. I am concerned both from the standpoint of the health of my dog and I feel this is potentially a consumer fraud concern. This food is obviously visually not what they claim they are selling on the label. If it's not what is says it is on the label, it could be anything, and that is potentially very concerning. I just have a bad gut feeling something is wrong and this needs scrutiny and wish I had not overrode my instincts in January and reported it then. Thank you for taking this concern seriously, I appreciate it.

EON-580622	4/25/2024 12:12	The farmers dog fresh food	We received the Farmers Dog 2-week supply after ordering online. The food is a "fresh food" product, with promises of proper packaging to stay good throughout the shipment process and then promises that you can safely refreeze upon delivery. Our package came with the majority (all but 1) thawed almost completely. The directions were EXTREMELY vague and insinuated that if the packages of food in the dry ice were any way thawed they could still be re frozen, and so that is what we did. My dog a few days after beginning the food became EXTREMELY ill with E.Coli. Horrible GI issues, puking, she also had a skin reaction and had her hair fall out of the back of her hip due to the itching. I reported to farmers dog and they were not helpful in the sense they told me "I shouldn't have refrozen the food if it was partially thawed" on the paper it is extremely confusing and vague and does not explicitly state you should or should not if any packs are thawed.i expressed the vagueness and how it needs to be re written, they said they would look into it and refunded me. Once opening the can it smelt bad and had a skunk like smell. I returned them to my local Petco where I purchased them and made a complaint. I then purchased again in March 2024. It again had that horrible smell. I have purchased this line of food for over 2 years and haven't had a problem with what I've purchased before. I tried calling the manufacture but since it is made specifically for Petco, the phone number on the can is for Petco.

EON-580559	4/24/2024 17:16	NUTRO Small Breed Adult The Superfood Plate with a Trio of Proteins from Chicken Lamb and Salmon	Nutro did a rebrand of the Adult Small Breed Superfood blend dry food. They previously sold a 4 lb bag, which went out of stock on Chewy.com and Chewy notified us that they rebranded and no longer sold a 4 lb bag of that food, and sold a 3 lb bag instead. We were told that the ingredients did not change. We ordered a bag of the rebranded dry food, and within hours our dog had diarrhea, encased with mucus indicated his gastrointestinal tract was irritated. Previously he defected once or twice a day, and always had solid stools so this was abnormal. We thought it was maybe a minor preservative change that he had to adjust to, but the diarrhea stopped and we opted to switch him to chicken and rice. Once he was stable on chicken and rice, we slowly implemented the Nutro back into his diet. The next morning he was vomiting bile. We stopped Nutro, put him back on chicken and rice and he is much better now. We went to the vet and confirmed via a stool sample that he has no parasites via a full parasite panel. The only thing that changed is the Nutro rebranded bag. We looked online and it seems other consumers had issues after the rebranding, and those consumers were under the assumption that the recipe was not changed.	1	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	10	Pound

I was told several times that they don't have to disclose their ingredients because of proprietary blends but when doing research saw on the FDA's website that isn't the case and that they have to disclose the ingredients, just not the weights/amounts of said ingredients. To make it even weirder, the company is a German pharmaceutical company (Boehringer Ingelheim) and they are claiming to work very close to the FDA when it comes to their labeling. EON-580318	4/22/2024 21:52	EreBon Natural Core	Hi, I am a cat owner and have been trying different kinds and brands of cat food for my picky cat. Right now in Korea, hundreds of cats have been affected with tens dead and still dying from eating the food made by the SAME pet food manufacturer, EreBon. They say cats die rather promptly from severe symptoms. EreBon manufactures pet food for multiple brands, which makes it hard to identify for a lay consumer. In November, 2023, the CEO of EreBon bragged about having started exporting their pet food to USA. I have heard that they are selling their food under the names of Natural Core, Natural Care, etc. With considerable number of pets still dying and suffering in Korea this company is still selling their product without voluntarily recalling because of its low ethical standard, close relationship with Korean Veterinary Medical Association (KVMA) and lack of sensible pet food industry standards in Korea. Please guide us to identify the pet food manufactured by EreBon that are being sold here in the US, I don't want to kill my cat. With Erebon's threats to sue, not many reputable newspapers are writing about this, but the majority of nationally aired news programs have reported on this. Yet cautiously. Our miniature dachshund, who has been diagnosed previously with epilepsy, had a seizure on the morning the vomiting started and lost bowel control while seizing (which is typical). The seizure may or may not have been related to the illness. We conferred with our veterinarian on the symptoms we saw in our dogs. They informed us that the symptoms were consistent with food poisoning or a food reaction. The dogs have been eating this particular brand for almost 2 years and we have never had an issue with the food or any food related allergies/reactions to the food, which supports our thought that it may have been this particular batch and that it might have been contaminated with microorganisms.	3	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	65	Pound

This is the same brand of food we have been feeding the dog for almost all 6 years of his life. The second feeding from that bag of food on Monday, he threw up everything he had eaten. He did the same thing Tuesday. We left his bowl of food out for him Wednesday. He would not eat it. He continued to drink water. On Wednesday, he threw up 9 times. I took him to the vet Thursday. They determined no obstruction after imaging. They prescribed Metronidazole antibiotics and gave him Cerenia injectable anti nausea. He continued to throw up small amounts of water even on Cerenia canine anti-nausea meds. After a week of meds and small feedings of hill science digestive I/d, he is getting back to normal. Our other dog eats different food and has been perfectly fine the entire time.	6	Years	Pit Bull	Dog	58	Pound

EON-575069	4/19/2024 6:48	Carna4 Hand Crafted Dog Food / Quick Baked Air Dried Whole Food Nuggets/Grain Free/ First Ingredients:Duck Liver Eggs Sprouted Seeds	Opened bag of Carna4 dog food...after first meal Labradoodle vomitted. (He had had the goat version of this food before with no problem) I noticed there were flakes (like cereal sized) in the bag of food. Wrote to Carna4/manufacturer. Was assured this was simply a production issue and that the food was safe. About a week later I tried the food again. Immediately after meal my dog began licking his lips constantly and when he went outside he ate large amounts of grass....grazing like a cow. (He had never behaved that way before and has not done it since.) He ate the grass compulsively for most of the day whenever I let him outside to potty...He clearly felt lousy...continuously licking his lips. Lethargic when indoors. Later that evening he vomitted up copious amounts of undigested grass (no dog food was evident). The next day he pooped undigested grass. I fasted him for 24 hours and started him back on boiled potatoes and chicken meat for a couple of days. He returned to normal eating the goat protein version of this food and has had no problems since. I wrote the manufacturer again explaining what had happened when we tried the duck protein version. When I heard back from Carna4 there was an internal email attached to the correspondence indicating I was not the first customer to complain about this specific lot number.	2	Years	Poodle (unspecified)	Dog	73	Pound

The (b) (6) grocery store on (b) (6) has refused to put out any non-dented Signature Pet Care cat food cans, and I was told that they were going to "force me and the customers to buy the dented cans" and that they would "not put out any undented cans until all the dented cans were gone." The flavors in question were chicken flavor and salmon flavor. This went on for three weeks, and I could not get my elderly cat's favorite flavor, and other stores I visited did not carry that flavor and my elderly pet died on (b) (6) as I was forced to offer him foods he did not like as well as I was not going to feed him dented cans, and he did not like the other flavors as well. EON-574793	4/17/2024 1:04	Complete Canine Companion Everything But The Meat with egg	In May, 2023 I began purchasing and feeding my dog (b) (6) a product called "Everything But The Meat" purchased directly from Complete Canine Companion, LLC. The company website is https://completecaninecompanion.com. The product is marketed as "complete and balanced" and "safe". These claims were made on the product insert included with the package (see attachment), and on the website in several places. The website has been modified since the time of purchase, but screen shots of the website pages where these claims were made upon purchase are included with this complaint. It was also stated on the "Everything But The Meat" product page of the website that "all the ingredients in the package, minus the meat of your choice, is formulated to meet the nutritional levels established by the AAFCO Food Nutrition Profiles for maintenance." Furthermore the product insert included with the package made the claim that this product was designed and developed to provide "a safe meal of the highest quality" that is complete and balanced. On Oct 30, 2023, and after feeding this food for more than 5 months, my dog and beloved companion, (b) (6) was diagnosed with B cell multicentric lymphoma as shown in the email from her vet, (b) (6) . A review of the detailed nutrient analysis, which is attached and was obtained from the owner of Complete Canine Companion, Linda Hilger, shows that this product had an extremely high omega 6 to omega 3 ratio of 26.7:1, and the actual ratio may even be higher than this. In fact, this ratio is 4.5 times higher than that of a good commercial raw dog food, which is typically 6:1, and it is about 35% higher than the 20:1 ratio found in the worst commercial kibble. It is well documented that diets with such dangerously high and unbalanced omega 6 to omega 3 fatty acid ratios promote inflammation, which is critical in the development of cancers like lymphoma and other chronic diseases, and this is also noted by my vet in her email. Additionally, while omega 3 fish oil is listed in the package ingredients, omega 6 is not included or mentioned anywhere in the ingredient list or labels as a component. There is absolutely no information in the packaging or on the website to inform consumers that omega 6 oils are a significant part of the diet or to warn them of the unbalanced nature of the fatty acids that are typically found in only the worst kibble foods. Also, the container of oil included with the product, which is a mixture of fish and walnut oil, had a significant rancid smell and is of questionable quality and possibly toxic.	10	Years	Corgi - Welsh Pembroke	Dog	27	Pound

			I previously submitted a complaint with the Animal Feed Program of the (b) (6) in January of this year as shown in the attachment. The result of that investigation was that the department agreed with my complaint that the product did not conform to the claims made, as the owner was unable to provide the required documentation to show that the product was complete and balanced and that it was in compliance with the AAFCO nutrient profile for maintenance. It was determined that the product is misbranded due to the false and misleading claims made, and as such a stop sale notice was issued by the department. The department determined that product testing is not required to deem the product misbranded due to the fact that the owner could not provide the required documentation. Since the product purchased cannot be shown to be complete and balanced and is misbranded, it is also by default adulterated. Please note that since receiving the complaint from the (b) (6), the manufacturer has apparently revamped their website and changed their product. However, given the results of the Department of Agriculture investigation, along with the rancid smell of the fish oil, the abnormally high omega 6: omega 3 ratio, and the testing requested by my vet, I am requesting additional testing and investigation into this misbranded and adulterated product by the FDA. I have the unopened product available for testing.

EON-574630	4/15/2024 14:28	Blue Ridge Beef Kitten Mix	My cat has been on a raw food diet, a 50/50 mix of Blue Ridge Beef Kitten Mix and Blue Ridge Beef Rabbit with Bone. He started looking lethargic Wednesday afternoon. He was throwing up and having a diarrhea that night and refused his food. We first took him to the vet Thursday morning. The vet suspected gastroenteritis and suggested right away that it's a food contamination issue. Because he was in a relatively stable state, the vet gave us some gastroenteric cat food and told us to watch his symptoms at home. Before this event he has always been a very healthy cat, and throughout Thursday and Friday he continued to play with us, only that he was not eating at all. He drank a little water and played with the water with his paws. Because he has not been eating at all, we took him to the vet again this morning, and while we were waiting we found out about the Blue Ridge Beef food recall. We had consistently been getting kitten mix and rabbit with bone from our (b) (6) distributor since September 2023, and we were never notified by either the manufacturer or the distributor about the recall of kitten mix. Our cat is in the ICU right now. He's dehydrated, but he's young and he's a fighter. The vet put him on antibiotics. We threw out the rest of the roll of kitten mix on Thursday, so we don't have it now. We are very upset that no one from either the distributor or the manufacturer ever bothered to tell us about what's going on, and that we had to find out about it ourselves on the internet after our cat has been infected with Salmonella and Listeria Monocytogenes.	10	Months	Maine Coon	Cat	13.5	Pound

The first bag had a UPC code of "17800-15453" the second bag had a UPC code of "17800-14941". The manufacturing code was very hard to read but the first bag "23051073 1833L (illegible)" and the second was "326010790223L07 best by Mar 2025". The bags were both purchased at Pet Supermarket at (b) (6). The first bag I purchased had white spots all over the kibble. I took pictures and sent it to Purina asking what was wrong with the food and if it was safe to feed my dog. They did not answer my question, instead they asked for information about the food like I provided above, and they simply sent me coupons for more food. They never addressed the issue I was concerned about unfortunately. The next contaminated bag I got was with one of their coupons about a month later. I purchased another 31lb bag of the same food, thinking it would be fine. This bag had dozens of live bugs and eggs inside the bag. When I transferred the bag of food to a sealed container I could clearly see that the whole bag was contaminated and there were bugs flying around. I ended up taking my dog off this food around March. My dog also had a kennel cough that developed into a pneumonia he couldn't recover from starting in November and finally ending at the start of March. While I don't believe the food got my dog sick, I do believe it prevented him from recovering fully. Please look into this food brand as I am really disappointed I never saw a recall when I have seen multiple contaminated bags even though I'm just buying for one dog.
EON-574578	4/15/2024 0:40	Purina Pro Plan All Ages Sport Performance 30/20 Chicken & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food 50 lb Bag	Ever since starting my dog on this food he has been throwing up. He occasionally keeps it down but usually throws it up entirely shortly after eating. He is fine eating dry kibble but even before the vomiting he was avoiding the food. He would ignore it in his bowl and whine to me as if he was hungry & nothing was in the bowl. He has been constantly "asking" (in the way he does) for different food via whines & gesture. In the past when he vomits food, he consumes/attempts to consume it again as is natural for dogs to do when vomiting due to need for further digestion. However, with this food, he has never even attempted to consume the vomit. He behaves normally after vomiting and does not vomit again. He has eaten other food since the event and he does not vomit other foods. I do not detect anything wrong with the food by sight or smell, however my dog avoids this food militantly until he is extremely hungry. In the same bowl, he will devour other food and leave the Pro Plan kibble in the bowl. He may detect something is amiss with it by scent.	2	Years	Cattle Dog - Australian (blue heeler, red heeler, Queensland cattledog)	Dog	47	Pound

(b) (6) was showing signs of dehydration and but was still drinking. The X-ray showed a lot of blood in colon and we decided to take her home to see if she would get better. She got worse and we took her back early on 4/1/2024. They admitted her for IV and worked to get her intestines and colon under control. She had bloody diarreah every 12min for the nex 18 hours under vet care. We were able to take her home on 4/3/2024 and it took another 9 days to return to eating and drinking normally. The doctor believe it could have been salmonella in the treat.	5	Years	Other Canine/dog	Dog	190	Pound

EON-574393	4/12/2024 11:00	Royal Canin Veterinary Diet Adult Gastrointestinal Low Fat Loaf Canned Dog Food	As above the problems have been on going for years but really have been worse this past year. The following has pushed me to report Royal Canin's dogfood: (b) (6) initially seemed to like the previous 2 batches of cases of canned dog food (for February/March 2024) but by the end of the second case she wouldn't eat unless she was very hungry. These cases of dogfood were very wet, gray in color, fluffy in consistency weak odor of usual smell. She wouldn't eat dinner, she wouldn't take the medicine she needs in the food because she refused the food. Her spine is now showing as though she is starving, there were many days that she could barely walk from weakness, she became constipated so i had to add pumpkin which irritated her stomach. I had to add chicken to her food to get her to eat something but even that wouldn't get her to eat eventually. I thought she was close to dying because of the bladder cancer. It was very stressful and thought we may have to put her down. Well the case of food we have now for April 2024 is a totally different consistency; it's thicker, drier, the color is more pink, different smell. She loves it. Suddenly she is eating again, just like she was before the 2 previous cases of the fluffy gray in color canned food. I don't have the lot numbers of those problem cases of dogfood, we're on to the present case, so far, a better quality. So i received another case to start after this one that has restored (b) (6) appetite and this new case is not the good quality food..it is like the fluffy gray 2 cases that (b) (6) wouldn't eat and lost weight from. This poor dog needs quality food and i can't keep going through this problem of calling and returning dogfood. Every shipment i worry what will they send now, will (b) (6) eat it, will it make her sick? I plan on trying a different brand now and since this company won't listen, follow up and do something about their low quality food that is so expensive and got our dog sicker i am reporting it you now. There are many complaints on Chewy's website by customers with similar experiences we are having. This product is harmful to pets.	14	Years	Terrier (unspecified)	Dog	8.5	Pound
EON-574380	4/12/2024 8:25	Purina Pro Plan Lamb and Rice Formula	After eating from a new bag of Purina Pro Plan, Lamb and Rice Formula, my dog vomited. This was one April 1st 2024. The next day, the same thing happened after eating. He threw up the food. He was more tired than normal, that night I made him rice and chicken for dinner. He at a little bit. That night he went pee in the house, which is unusual. For the next week it has been the same symptoms. Lack of appetite, lethargy, drinking a lot of water, and peeing in the house. I haven't taken him to the vet yet due to financial reasons, but I will if his condition does not improve. I called Purina and told them the lot number. I kept the food. Purina is sending a bag to me, and requested I add 2 cups of food. They are going to test it and let me know. I know there is something wrong with this food, and there have been many other reports on social media.	4	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	72	Pound

EON-574376	4/12/2024 8:24	Whole Hearted Smart Smiles	THIS IS A FOLLOW UP TO THE REPORT THAT I SUBMITTED ON (b) (6) which was the date of my beloved (b) (6) death from a Smart Smile Dental Chew. The Pomeranian breed is not listed, but (b) (6) was a purebred Pomeranian. I had to choose unknown. I was directed by Jim Delaney and tech support to handle it this way since I haVe more information and did not have my original report key. I also was so distraught when I filed t he report on the date of (b) (6) death that I just wanted to notifythe FDA so this would not happen to another dog. I assumed someone would call me for further details. No one did. I gave (b) (6) a Smart Smile Dental chew at approximately 2:45pm on (b) (6). At the time I did not know they were a generic brand of greenies, made by Petco or I never would purchased them and have given it to him as I know how bad greenies are. I know about the class action, mostly small dogs, and I wish someone could help me understand why the FDA allows these dangerous chews to be sold to pet parents still to this day. I sent an article to Jim Delaney written by a vet student which I hope he passed along. I was present continously after I gave the treat. I never leave my dogs when they are given any kind of chew. He took the treat and went to his bed. His bed is under my desk. I live in a small 1000 foot condo. I was back and forth between the kitchen and the living room (where my desk and his bed are). I was not on my phone, not watching tv, just straigtening up. I would say approximately 10-15 minutes later I sat down at my desk and looked down at him in his bed. I noticed his head was not moving to chew the treat. I said "Hey (b) (6) you ok"? I reached down to pet him and he didn't move. I moved his body and it flopped over and he was dead, unresponsive. His eyes were wide open his tongue was blue and then turned black hanging out. It was HORRIFIC! I did not check for a pulse, I went immediately to my first aid training and tried to remove the obstruction. I turned him upside down and gently shook him, nothing came out. I got out pliers and I could feel something that felt like the smaller half of the chew, but it was under his throat trachea tissue. It was very strange. I could not get a grip on it even with the pliers. When I saw the xrays I knew what I had felt. (b) (6) never made a single sound, not a gagging sound or coughing sound that would have alerted me to his distress. In the past any dog I have had has done has always made a gagging or coughing sound. My understanding is that he was so blocked that no sound could be made.	6	Years	Unknown	Dog	5	Pound
			I have xrays so please let me know how to get them to you. They confirm the obstruction. What is very odd is that the radiologist says the entire lumen is blocked, but you can also see the other side of the treat in his throat plain as day and it is sideways!!!!!!. I believe this is what I felt. As a lay person I can see it on the xray! Yet the radiologist does not mention it their report or point to it with the yellow arrows. Incompetence? How can they not even note it?? This is very troubling that these radiologists are sitting in some other country and won't talk to me and I paid for the xrays! They will only talk to my Vet and his tech was incapable of getting to the bottom of my question. I am not devasted I am DESTROYED. It has been almost 5 months and I still wake up at night screaming. I have been put on medication. I have terrible flashbacks and I will never be able to unsee that terrible image of him dead in his bed with his tongue hanging out and his eyes wide open. When my other dogs are sleepng deeply I now have to wake them up because I am afraid they are dead. The slightest sound and I come running in a panic. I always came running, but not in such a high state of panic. Whenever I go to the happy place that (b) (6) and I went to I call out for him hoping he will come running. He does not. Like I said this horror has destroyed me. (b) (6) was the happiest, most energetic little guy you could ever meet. He loved life and he had an incredible amount of training and worked in TV and film and has been on shows such as Blue Bloods. I believe that there is a lot of false advertising going on and mislabeling. Greenies and other similar generics should be taken off the market. They have gels now that remove tartar..we don't need dangerous treats. What scientific evidence do we have that they really remove tartar? Vets DO NOT recommend greenies or their generics for good reason. Why do you allow them to be sold? If choking in dogs is rare and 50 or so dogs have choked on greenies then something very dangerous is going on here. Please do not look at my report from the perspective that this is the first time you have heard of an adverse event for Smart Smiles. They have not been out that long and since they are just like greenies you need to add it to the greenie death count and other similar chews collectively and not count this event individually and wait for a "pattern".

			People's pets today are like their children. You have to consider how deeply something like this affects the pet owners in addition to the poor dog being dead. If a child choked on something like this all hell would break lose with warnings etc. Why do we have to wait for more dogs to die? Can't we be proactive? I don't think anything should be sold that they can break off because if its too small they choke and if its too big they can choke. How do we find the perfect Goldilocks size treat? Even if the label has said, like most generics, compare to Greenies, I NEVER would have bought them. I had always seen Greenies in the shape of a bone not a toothbrush so that also fooled me. I feel tricked. I would also like to mention that after several months I went to my toolbox. I took out the pliers I had used to try and remove the obstruction and what do I find on it? Pieces of wood!!! Very small pieces. I can bag them and send them to you if you would like. I also did my own experiment and soaked one of these smart smiles in water for 5 days and it does not dissolve!!!! The outside slowly gets soft and the inside remains hard. I can certainly see why they would cause obstructions in addition to choking. I would like to work together with the FDA to ensure this type of unecessary tragedy never happens to another beaufiful little dog and destroys any other pet owner. Thank you for your consideration of my very grave concerns.

Veterinarian did not know the cause and prescribed medicine such as probiotics and special feed for her. The symptoms did not change over a month time frame. When we stopped giving her these dog chews from Safeway the diarrhea issue stopped and her hair is starting to grow back. The only thing we changes was not giving her these dog chews from Safeway. I escalated the issue to Safeway back on October 2023 and they are still selling these dog chews. I believe the cleaning agent used in the China Manufacturing facility similar to other recalls that caused the same issue is the root cause of the problem.	5	Years	Rottweiler	Dog	90	Pound

We had been feeding (b) (6) this food type since we adopted him in Nov. 2011 I noticed that the size and shape of the soft pieces of food had a dramatic change. They were much longer and thicker in size. Mid April I contacted the company to inquire about this. They said the fallowing,,, "We appreciate you for taking the time to bring this experience to our attention and know that your concerns will be forwarded to the appropriate department for their review." Case # 22769478 I had emailed back and asked what would cause this, why was it different. They had no response back. (b) (6) very slowly started having health issues that he never had before. Extremely tired, thirst, bladder issues, redness on the skin and in his mouth, drooling. Near the end he would stare into space, and developed hearing issues. All which were slow to manifest, however progressed more as time went on. We took him to the vet and had bloodwork done on 5/31/23. They put him on a 4 week antibiotic treatment which did not resolve his issues. By the end of August we felt he was deteriorating so fast we had to put him down, assuming it was old age. Looking back on this i do see the correlation between timing of the change in food and his health issues. Then came the reports of contaminated food. This took me a while to report because i just couldn't stand the thought, that we possibly lost our beautiful boy early due to negligence form a company i trusted. I regret not saving any of the food for testing, when that was a concern in the back of my mind.	12	Years	Terrier - Bull - Staffordshire	Dog	85	Pound

EON-573738	4/6/2024 18:40	Purina Pro Plan Hydrolyzed Chicken	Purina Pro Plan Hydrolyzed was recommended by my vet for (b) (6) food allergies. He wanted to help stabilize (b) (6) gut to try further food options to test possible allergens. I then purchased the food from the vet. The first bag, there were no health issues and (b) (6) allergy symptoms also stopped. I was thrilled! Then he ran out of food so I purchased another bag from my vet. Upon opening, I did not notice anything wrong with the food but upon fishing some out to (b) (6) he sniffed it and refused to eat any (this dog LOVES food, even when he was allergic to it). I told him it's fine and encouraged him to eat it...man I wish I hadn't. (b) (6) then ate about 1/3 of the bowl and refused to eat any more. Within an hour, he was having continuous diarrhea that would continue for 6 weeks. I thought it was his allergies again since diarrhea was his main symptom then, that was until my two other dogs, who each are a few cornels of kibble, also for sick the next day and a few days later. (b) (6) symptoms were the worse and he eventually also exhibited vomiting after eating the food (I still wasn't aware it was the food causing the issue) until he refused to eat all together. He lost almost 10 lbs in a week! All three of my dogs were then having chronic and explosive diarrhea. The diarrhea symptoms lasted about 6 weeks for everyone. (b) (6) ended at the vet after not eating for a week and they did x-rays, blood tests, stool samples, among other tests to rule out every illness they could consider. But as they don't have a test for e-coli and salmonella, the vet told me he suspected salmonella and that I should report it to Purina. So I did. Unfortunately, because the vet did ever write "salmonella" in his findings, Purina refused to help me other than testing the food for everything except e-coli and salmonella (their reasoning being because all sites test for salmonella routinely so it's impossible to have salmonella in their food). Unfortunately, I am out $1000 due to this event. Luckily, I finally found another food that (b) (6) isn't allergic to that is NOT PURINA. I am disappointed that they refused to even test for the suspicion of exposure as I feel that they would have caught something quite major if they had.			Shepherd Dog - Australian	Dog

She had done fine with the puppy version so we assumed the transition would go well. We combined the two foods for the first week. After that we changed her to the adult food she began to act strange for a short hair puppy. She refused to eat for days. She stopped running around. She was lethargic. She was sad. We thought she was just a stubborn, picky eater. She finally finished the first bag of food. We got another and then heard other dog owners were having concerns with purina pro plan so we threw the food away and changed brands. (b) (6) started eating more regularly (though she still doesn't love food like sure did when she was a pup) and her behavior changed. EON-573658	4/5/2024 12:12	Blue Buffalo Tastefuls cat food indoor	Subject: Concerns Regarding Blue Buffalo Tasteful Cat Food for Indoor Cats Dear FDA, I am writing to report a concerning experience with the Blue Buffalo Tasteful Cat Food for indoor cats that I recently purchased. Since introducing this product to my cats' diet, I have noticed adverse reactions and changes in their behavior that have raised concerns about the quality and safety of the product. Ever since I started feeding my cats the Blue Buffalo Tasteful Cat Food, both of them have been consistently vomiting and displaying a lack of appetite. This is highly unusual for them, as they have never exhibited such symptoms with any other cat food brand in the past. My primary concern is that the product may be compromised or of poor quality, potentially posing a risk to the health and well-being of my cats. As a responsible pet owner, I believe it is crucial to bring this matter to your attention and seek further investigation into the safety of the Blue Buffalo Tasteful Cat Food for indoor cats. I kindly request your guidance on the appropriate steps to take in addressing this issue. If there is any additional information or documentation required to aid in the investigation, such as the specific batch number or expiration date of the product, please let me know, and I will provide it promptly. Ensuring the safety and welfare of our beloved pets is of utmost importance, and I trust that the FDA will take this matter seriously. I appreciate your attention to this concern and eagerly await your response regarding the next course of action. Thank you for your time and consideration.	7	Years	Mixed (Cat)	Cat	10	Pound

EON-573640	4/5/2024 10:04	Purina Pro Plan Large Breed Chicken & Rice	The evening of November 9, 2023, (b) (6) started vomiting, explosive bloody Diarrhea, not eating and very lethargic. I took (b) (6) to the vet on November 10, 2023, which the vets ran bloodwork, , xrays to rule out a possible foreign body, gave fluids as (b) (6) was already showing signs of Dehydration & cerenia injection to stop the vomiting. The vets also sent home EN LowFat canned food, cerenia tablets to be given at home and fluids to be given under the skin. (b) (6) was still not really getting any better but the vets said to give a few days for the medications to kick in. On November 29, 2023, (b) (6) was still vomiting uncontrolable, still having explosive bloody Diarrhea, losing weight, not eating, Dehydrated, letgargic,so I took him back to the vet. The vets Hospitalized (b) (6) and did IV fluids, gave cerenia injection and metronidazole injection through his IV, and at the end of the day sent him home but to bring him back the next day. So on November 30, 2023, (b) (6) went back to the vet for more IV fluids, another ceneria injextion through his IV port and metronidazole through his IV port as well and kept checking his PCV volumes through out the day while they had (b) (6) in the hospital. I was advised to feed (b) (6) boiled chicken & rice and give very small meals. On December 2, 2023, I called back to the vets office and stated (b) (6) was still not doing well and he needs to be seen again. I was told that the vet stated to just take him to the emergency clinic and let them figure out what would be the next step and they did not have any other openings to see (b) (6) that day. I ended up taking (b) (6) to another vet that same day (my roommate is friends with this vet) and they redid xrays, redid bloodwork, gave cerenia injection, urinalysis, gave Famotidine injection, gave B12 injection, gave fluids and sent home cerenia tablets, Omeprazole tablets, Sucrafate tablets, Entyce liquid, sent home IV fluids as my roommate is also a vet assiatant so she knows how to give fluids, Ondansetron tablets and Cefpodoxime tablets. On Decemver 5, 2023, (b) (6) was seen again at the vet which they redid another bloodwork panel, more xrays, Barium study, another ceneria injecrion, B12 injection, more fluids were given. Endosorb tablets were sent home and changed his food to Royal Canin HP dry & wet as the vet stated she thinks (b) (6) is having a reaction or possible food poisoning. I still have the new bag that he had about 3 meals out of and I can provide the lot # along with the expiration date that is printed on the bag. When (b) (6) went in for his annual 05/17 his weight was 106lbs and on December 5, 2023 he was 92 lbs. Si ce I have chanfed his food, (b) (6) has gained his weight back and has not had any other problems with an upsst stomach, no more vomiting, eating/drinking normal.

She, then began in with diarrhea which quickly progressed to clear. Because her other 2 doggie mates had already started in with the same sickness (they eat different amounts at different times of the day), I assumed it was probably the kibble I'd just introduced, after taking one of her siblings to the vet and being given an antibiotic as well as a probiotic. I began to give the other 2 a probiotic to see if it helped them get over their sickness. Due to (b) (6) other issues, it took her a while longer to recover, but since she was still drinking and active, I didnt take her to the vetm i just withdrew the new kibble. She began with lack of appetite and not drinking followed by diarrhea. She was still playful, but because her diarrhea was frequent and became clear on the 2nd day, we took her into (b) (6) for an assessment where she was prescribed antibiotics due to bacteria in her stool as well as probiotics. Out of an abundance of caution, I stopped mixing the Salmon and Tuna kibble in with her Salmon and Beef, although some residual Salmon and Tuna remained in the bottom of her food container. She was able to recover over the course of a handful of days while on antibiotics and probiotics and with her usual food; however, recently, as the kibble ran low and we got to the bottom where some of the Salmon and Tuna kibble mixed in with her usual kibble in the storage container, I noticed that her stool had started to get sloppy. I immediately stopped feeding from the bottom and refilled her food container with her usual True Instinct Salmon and Beef. She quickly returned to normal stools.	3.5	Years	Boxer (German Boxer)	Dog	58	Pound

I know he didn't get into anything because I watch him very closely all the time and we don't use chemicals he can get to, nothing in the yard or the house. On the 5th day of throwing, he saw the vet who took xrays of his abdomen and gave him a shot under the skin to hydrate him. They also gave him a shot of medicine to help with nausea. They sent me home with rx of anti-nausea pills. After a few days, we tried the same food, he threw it up. Changed to a different food and he's been doing great so far! No throwing up and more energy. "Best Buy 02 04 25 221, 4068 1KKM08 14:58" (b) (6) began refusing her food, but because she was offered no other food, she would eventually eat it. She then began drinking excessive amounts of water and peeing excessively. She would toss and turn and became unable to sleep. She kept getting up to drink water excessively and pee excessively! She was panting a lot! Her back legs began giving out. I couldn't believe how fast she was going down and her symptoms kept getting worse. Sadly, it took me a couple of weeks to figure this out. She had an accident in the house and this has never happened! On Good Friday I even contemplated the thought of having to put her down, she was getting so miserable! I googled the symptoms and they could indicate a urinary tract infection, Kidney failure, doggie diabetes, etc. I decided we needed a vet visit but it was the Easter weekend. Saturday evening I decided if she was going to leave this earth soon that I'd feed her a carnivore diet. I took her off the Pedigree food and gave her ground beef starting Saturday night. By Monday morning (the day I was going to call the vet) her symptoms were GONE and she was back to her old self! I notified the company (Mars) and they said there was no recall! On Wednesday 03/27/2024, I picked up a new bag of his food from a local dog store, Petco. He was fed from this new bag that evening. Around 4am on Thursday 03/28/2024, (b) (6) became extremely ill, vomiting repeatedly and becoming lethargic. We took him to his vet ((b) (6)) at 1pm on 03/28/2024. His vitals were normal (temperature, heart rate, etc) and they performed and X-Ray that came back normal. He was extremely dehydrated, so they recommended hospitalizing him for the day to monitor him and to receive fluids. Although they were unable to get him to eat while he was there, they did release him to us that evening around 8pm. The sent us home with Hills ID food to be fed over the next couple of days. Although the vomiting subsided, (b) (6) still appeared ill on Friday 03/29/2024 and Saturday 03/30/2024 with diarrhea, extremely weak and tired. By Sunday 03/31/2024, (b) (6) seemed like he was his old self (with the exception of some diarrhea), running around the yard, wanting to go on a walk, playing with toys, etc. On Monday 04/01/2024 around 3pm and 8pm, we gave (b) (6) a small amount of his normal food (again from that new bag). It was about a half cup each time, although the second time, he barely ate it and spit some out. On his last time out to go potty, he was kind of acting funny, just sitting in the yard - not wanting to do anything. In the early morning hours of Tuesday 04/02/2024 (after he had resumed that food), he began vomiting over and over again. We took him to his vet again. They performed additional bloodwork and another X-Ray. All came back normal. The vet did do an ultrasound of his belly and determined it was inflamed and seemed painful to him when she touched it. He again, was given fluids while he was there and sent home with the prescription Hills ID food to eat. He was also given and ant-nausea med and antibiotic to see if it would help at all. The common variable in both incidences is the new bag of food. He got better for the most part and when he started that food back up, he became ill again.	2	Months	Retriever - Golden	Dog	90.5	Pound

EON-573324	4/2/2024 13:44	Purina chicken and rice dry dog food. Large bag	In late January 2024 I noticed that two dogs that ate purine chicken and rice dry food would vomit. I contacted Purina and stopped feeding the chicken and rice. Since that time one of my dogs has been vomiting daily (mostly bile). This has increased daily. In February, I took him to the vet and we did blood work. His blood work was normal. The vet put him on an antacid. The problem continued. In March he was vomiting several times a day. On March 21 I took him back to the vet and they conducted an endoscopy under sedation. At that time they took several samples for biopsy. Samples were sent to IDEX and they found in his stomach "basophilic hyphae-like structures". Additional work by IDEX found"identifying the specific type of fungal is difficult based on morphology alone. The features could be supportive of Candida species". My dog is an inside pet and is not allowed outside without supervision. We are waiting for blood and urine results from (b) (6) who is conducting tests to see if they can determine the fungal type. EON-573231	4/1/2024 16:20	Purina pro plan High Protein Small Breed Dog Food Shredded Blend Beef & Rice Formula - 6 lb. Bag	My 4 year old goldendoodle has been eating Purina pro plan High Protein Small Breed Dog Food, Shredded Blend Beef & Rice Formula - 6 lb. Bag purchased from Amazon subscribe and save for the past year, and this has been her favorite dog food out of 4 different formulas we have tried over the years. Recently we started a fresh bag and she became very reluctant to eat it. After about 8 days of forcing her to eat her food her stools were extremely runny and yellow. The bag of food smelled a little funny to me and I ordered another bag thinking something was wrong, before the new bag arrived she had a seizure that lasted about 5 minutes where she lost control of her body and couldn't walk straight. She has never had a seizure before this point, but an hour later she was back to her normal behavior. I decided to avoid the stress of this food that she clearly did not like and fed her a previous hills science food for a few days while waiting for the new bag of pro plan to arrive. After about 2 weeks we started feeding her the new bag of pro plan. Again after 8 days of eating the new bag she had another seizure similar to the first one. We took her into the vet and described the problem where the vet ran a full physical exam and blood panel of tests. His recommendation was to change foods immediately based upon other reports of seizures caused by this food and the potential link. I do not follow any social media, so I was shocked to learn that this exact food has been the focus of various social media news reports of dogs having seizures starting around the same time I purchased this food from amazon. It has now been almost a month and she has not had a single episode.	4	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	19	Pound

EON-573017	3/29/2024 17:08	Hill's Prescription Diet Food Sensitivities d/d (Venison and Green Pea Recipe)	Vet forced me to switch to this supposed prescription cat food--which is only sold through the vet with prescription. I had discussed my cat's food sensitivities/allergies extensively with the vet, who claimed that I needed to immediately switch to this Hills d/d Food Sensitivities line foods as the best/only way to treat my cat's GI symptoms. I began feeding the food, as directed, and by the third day of transitioning to this food, my cat quickly degraded to critical condition and was exhibiting signs of life-threatening biological distress and organ failure. This was terrifying and I checked the bag to find several critical product defects and issues--any one of which could have on its own created this would-have-been-lethal illness in my cat. The food was nearly expired (and would have expired while feeding it to the cat), the bag is mislabeled stating it's two different recipes on different areas of the bag (Duck and Green Peas in some areas and Venison and Green Peas in other areas), and the food claims to be (AND WAS PRESCRIBED BY THE VET SPECIFICALLY FOR MY CAT'S GI/FOOD INTOLERANCE ISSUES) Venison and Green Peas for Food Sensitives, but venison is not even the main ingredient (it's not the first or even second ingredient listed) of the food and there is also a substantial chicken ingredient (CHICKEN BEING THE NUMBER ONE CAT FOOD ALLERGEN AND WHICH MY CAT HAS A STATED/DOCUMENTED ALLERGY TO THAT THE VET KNEW ABOUT) that is not disclosed anywhere on the main packaging about the food's recipe--which states that the food contains only one animal protein, the novel protein venison--and is also super misleading because it's listed in the ingredient list as "chicken liver flavor" and flavor in human foods usually just means an artificial flavor inspired by the actual food item, but when I researched pet food ingredient naming conventions/regulations, flavor in pet food means that actual item, not an artificial version of it. I immediately discontinued use of the food and stopped feeding it to my cat. I reported this incident to the vet who sold it to me and asked them to fix this terrible disaster and refund me my money; they refused to acknowledge these serious, near lethal product defects and instead kicked me out of the clinic and refused to refund me money for this defective/dangerous product. Once I stopped feeding the cat this Hill's food and replaced with another food, her condition immediately stabilized, and all of the pre-lethal symptoms disappeared. I'm still having to help the cat recover from the trauma done to her system by feeding her this poisonous, unsafe food. I visited a new vet a few weeks later (when I could find a replacement vet) but that visit/bloodwork was several weeks removed from this incident, so not listing it formally with this FDA report. Bag	Our poodle, (b) (6) was on Purina ProPlan sensitive stomach (salmon) before and after the reformulation around 2020. When it was reformulated, (b) (6) had a very hard time adapting to the food with severe diarrhea. After a few months, she started to have urination problems and developed masses on near her eye, tail and right leg. The food was very different. Before the reformulation, it smelled like salmon. After, the texture and smell of the food was very different. While this was disconcerting enough, the response from Purina was even more startling. I asked where if the ingredients were being sourced from different vendors and countries, I asked why it didn't smell like salmon anymore, I asked what specifically changed in the nutrient content in their recipe. None of this was answered. All I received was a reply that "we add probiotics, noy much has changed." This is an unacceptable response. Interestingly, I tried to do an internet search on this when we were experiencing problems and just in the last several days a question came up from my vet and I Googled it again only to find that the FDA is tuned into this. If you have not already reviewed their consumer line for complaints it would very interesting to understand the rise in complaints.	12	Years	Poodle - Medium size	Dog	12.5	Pound

EON-572741	3/27/2024 8:24	Purina Proplan Sensitive Stomach Salmon and Rice.	I hope this email finds you well. My name is (b) (6), and I am writing to you from (b) (6). I would like to bring to your attention a concerning issue related to Purina Proplan Sensitive Stomach Salmon and Rice, which has had a significant almost deadly impact on my dog's health. For over six years, my dog (b) (6) has been consuming Purina Proplan Sensitive Stomach Salmon and Rice without any issues. However, after receiving our latest 40lb bag on February 8, 2024, we noticed a sudden and severe deterioration in her health. (b) (6) began vomiting blood and experienced Acute Hemorrhagic Diarrhea Syndrome, resulting in pools of blood coming from her colon. At the time, we were unaware that her food could be the cause, as it had been a consistent part of her diet for years. We rushed (b) (6) to the emergency vet multiple times, including three visits to her regular veterinarian, where she received two IV treatments. It was only when we reintroduced ProPlan into her diet seven days ago that her symptoms resurfaced immediately, including bloody diarrhea, mucus in her stools, and other related GI issues. However, since removing the Purina Proplan food from her diet for the past two weeks, her bowel movements have returned to normal. In my pursuit of answers, I contacted Purina to file a claim, and they informed me that they had recently changed the recipe of Proplan due to supply chain issues. They admitted that they were unable to include the probiotic that had been a part of the food for years along with other changes that they did not elaborate on. This revelation deeply troubles me, as it appears that Purina's product almost caused the death of my beloved pet. I also believe based on the immediate deterioration of my dog once I would readd the food that there is a toxin/ pesticide in the food. I kindly request that you take this matter seriously and shed light on the potential dangers associated with this particular Purina product. Please test the dogfood to determine the cause. It is crucial to hold companies accountable for any changes they make to their recipes, especially when it poses a risk to the health and well-being of our beloved pets. Thank you for your time and attention to this urgent matter. I look forward to hearing from you soon.	6	Years	Retriever - Chesapeake Bay	Dog	75	Pound

One of my cats has been experiencing diarrhea and vomiting since March 18th. Our vet cannot find the cause of the illness, and said it may be that he eats something toxic or contaminated. Initially, we did not suspect Nulo as the cause since both cats eat the same food. However, the affected cat only eat the Nulo food, while the other cat also eats dry food from a different brand. In the past two days we've observed the other healthy cat also experiences diarrhea, and we also noticed she also seems to eat the Nulo cat food more than usual recently. We have been feeding them with Nulo for over a year without any issues. However, this recent illness coincides with the time when we start feeding a new batch of Nulo food. And I also noticed (before this incident) that the recent batch seems to have a stronger smell. I'm not sure if this is related to the food quality issue of the Nulo wet food or other causes. But if you need more information, please feel free to contact me. Thanks.	4.8	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	6.8	Kilogram

EON-572573	3/25/2024 13:04	Purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach Turkey and rice	After eating some of the last bag she started getting sick, I had taken her to the vet because she was wobbly on her back legs, she was on a chicken and rice diet because of vomiting and diarrhea and I tried the Purina pro plan sensitive stomach and she threw it up that morning. The next feed I gave her pumpkin, chicken and rice with a little Purina kibble and she licked the pumpkin off the kibble and refused it. She is not a dog that refuses food normally. Over the next few days she was leaning and head tilted to one side and couldn't walk without stumbling and falling. She has trouble turning corners and the vet did tests and he thinks she had a seizure or something. I'm trying to get a MRI but it is very expensive. The only thing I can think of is the food as her symptoms are the same as other reports.	7	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	62	Pound

EON-572520	3/24/2024 20:44	Purina One chicken and Rice	Our journey started about 3 weeks before we lost him! This is our boy (b) (6) short for (b) (6) He was the sweetest boy. My constant companion. I'm so devasted and heartbroken ??! It started with some diarrhea. He did spit up a couple of times but never vomited. I took him to the vet and they prescribed a pain medication and stomach medication. They did an X-ray to check for an obstruction which he did not have. He was starting to eat less and less. Both of my dogs were being fed Purina One chicken and rice. He was starting to reject his dog food but not acting like he felt bad. He would eat chicken, turkey, rice. I noticed when we were out walking that his urine was really dark. I called the vet and they had me bring in a urine sample. He was diagnosed with a bladder infection. At this point he was eating very little. It was a Friday morning and I just didn't know what to do because he was now prescribed Amoxicillin and a pain pill. Both pills required to take with food. I called the vet and they didn't really offer any advice. By Friday night I was becoming extremely concerned as I was afraid he was getting dehydrated. I could tell by now he wasn't feeling great. I got online and found a vet open on Saturday mornings. We got to the vet at 9 and spent 3 hours. More X-rays and now bloodwork. The only thing the bloodwork showed was elevated liver count! We brought home with bags of fluid that we administered through his back. We did that twice on Sunday. We offered chicken but he wouldn't eat anything. He went back to the vet Monday and Tuesday and spent those days getting IV fluids and antibiotics. He also received an ultrasound. Somewhere in there we took him to the ER vet where they checked his vitals and we came home. We were instructed on Wednesday how to do force feedings with a syringe and more iv type bags to administer to him. We woke up Thursday morning and he had passed. I'll just never get over losing this young guy. We will never know exactly what happened and that sucks. We tried everything to save him and we couldn't. ????????	4	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	45	Pound

EON-572517	3/24/2024 20:20	Blue Buffalo Wilderness with Chicken and LifeSource Bits Puppy	On March 18, 2024 we purchased a bag of Blue Buffalo Puppy food from a local Target in (b) (6). This is the same food we had been providing to our puppy since we brought him home (and his main food after easing him off his previous kibble). We opened this new bag the next evening and gave him his normal dinner serving (about 1/4 of a cup). The next morning, he woke up with severe diarrhea and liquid stools. We were unsure of the cause, but I stayed home from work to monitor him. After his breakfast of the same Blue Buffalo food, about an hour later he had completely liquid stools, and was whining from gastrointestinal distress. He began vomiting. We immediately called our vet, and when we told her about the bag being new to us, she said to immediately stop and to move to a chicken and rice diet. After switching to that, (b) (6) only vomited one time about 3 hours later, the very last of the kibble and some white rice pieces. We had set the bowl of food aside in the kitchen, during this time our cat - a (likely) 8 year old rescue (who was previously a feral woods cat, and has a stomach of steel) apparently ate some of the Blue Buffalo puppy food, less than an hour later, she began vomiting as well. She was able to get it all out of her system. Both animals are fine now, and are back to normal energy-wise after some lethargy. Stools are solid again, and no vomiting has occurred since the end of the bag of Blue Buffalo purchased on March 19. We reported this issue to the Target where it was purchased, as well as to Blue Buffalo. We have switched (b) (6) to Hill's Science Diet, and he is keeping it down fine.	4	Months	Poodle - Miniature	Dog	7	Pound
EON-572508	3/24/2024 17:24	Ol'Roy Complete Nutrition T-Bone & Bacon Flavor	We got this bag of ol'roy dog food roughly two weeks ago. Both of our german shepherds have been eating it. On roughly day 2 of them eating it they both started to develop diarrhea. We continued to feed them since they were still eating and thought it may have just been a virus at first. However 9 days later we stopped feeding them from this particular bag and even bought a different brand. They have stopped having diarrhea finally and seem to be feeling better, however a bad batch of dog food has caused a lot of stress on my household. EON-572506	3/24/2024 16:20	Blue Buffalo Wilderness Rocky Mountain Recipe Healthy Weight Adult High Protein Natural Red Meat & antioxidant rich lifesource bits	On two consecutive orders of "Blue Buffalo: Wilderness Rocky Mountain Recipe Healthy Weight Adult High Protein Natural Red Meat & Grain" dry dog food, placed on both January 29, 2024 and February 26, 2024, I have encountered a large amount of moths in the dog food bag. This raises a concern for the quality of Blue Buffalo's quality inspection as they recently changed the recipe and the development of the food. Both bags purchased had no holes in them frim the distributer and once entering my custody. However, I could feel a foreign item while grabbing the bags. Once, opened moths and moth larvae were exposed within the bags. I immediately contacted the shipper and the company through which I order the product, and the issued a refund. When I contacted Blue Buffalo to address the possible manufacturer issue, they refused to take responsibility and blamed incorrect storage of the product. Because of the lack of action on their behalf, I am now reaching out to the FDA in hopes they can be held accountable for distributing food that is potentially infested.

EON-572419	3/22/2024 21:12	Purina Puppy Chow	I am reaching out to give a more detailed description and time-line of what happened this past week now that I can gather my thoughts better. On 1/20, I purchased a new bag of Purina puppy chow and 2 bag's of Purina dog chow. I mix the food for some of my younger dog's and my female's. On 1/22 I opened the Puppy Chow and fed it mixed with the Dog Chow to a few of my dog's around 6-630a.m. That afternoon/evening I had 4 dog's vomiting, unable to hold down water until about 10p.m. All of those dog's were the one's that had some of the new bag. I also had another dog with diarrhea late that night, who had not been vomiting. I withheld food that night, they still had access to water. In the morning everyone seemed to be doing better, except for (b) (6) When I let them outside, she went out, but I had to go get her to come in. She was walking slow and was lethargic. I separated her from the other dog's, gave her a 24mg cerenia tablet mixed with a meatball of Royal Canin GI wet food and syringed 15mls of water down. I left her in a kennel with a bowl of water, hoping that the cerenia would help her feel better and that she would drink if she needed to. Then I went to work around 8a.m. My plan was to come home on my break and feed her some more GI food and water and see how she was doing. I got home to check on her a little after 12p.m. and she had spilled her water, was lying on her side, could not get up or lift her head. I took her out, started drying her off, checked her temperature, it was 100.0. I had some Royal Canin GI liquid that I had brought with me, I tried to syringe a few mls in her mouth, but she could not swallow, I also tried to put sugar in her mouth. Her breathing was labored, her pupils were big and would not dilate when I shined light in them. She layed there, breathing heavy, stuck her front leg straight out, and stopped breathing. She has had 3 c-sections in the past and always did good. Her last surgery was Dec. 17th 2022. Her last 2 visits to (b) (6) she did have issues with stress. She normally would get nervous and start spitting up/foaming at the mouth as soon as she enteted the Vet Clinic, but would get over it after a few minutes being there. Her last 2 Vet visits she went in, did that, but then turned blue and had seizure like activity because the lack of oxygen, but came to and was okay once she got ahold of herself. Since then I haven't taken her in because how stressed she get's. For the future the plan was to get a mobile Vet for her yearly care. She never had these issues at home or in public, just when going to the Vet. I do have a picture of something red that was in her vomit that I put on a paper towel, trying to figure out what that was. She had about 2 piles of vomit with red chunks in it that night, but I wasn't sure if it was blood or dye from the food. Besides these thing's, I can not think of anything else. Sorry for the long message, but I'm just trying to think of anything that can help explain what happened to her. Thanks for everything that your doing....I just want to know what made her and my other dog's soooo sick. Show quoted text	4	Years	Bulldog - French	Dog	19	Pound

EON-572415	3/22/2024 21:12	Acana Premium Pate Chicken and Tuna Recipe in Bone Broth	Friday before christmas 2023 cat suddenly stops eating anything. Take him to vet. Kidney values are off the chart. Vet says he is in end stage renal failure. We make an appointment to say goodbye for the next day. That night we stay up with him all night giving him fresh water every time he opens his eyes. Approx every 30-45 minutes. The next day he is slightly better. By Christmas Day he has marked improvements. We had been feeding both cats Acana cat food. Both cats had horrendous eye discharge. (b) (6) had a pre existing kidney issue. We cant afford to bring hom back to vet for $250 blood panel. We stopped feeding the Acana and were only feeding them a dry cat food Open Farms. The discharge from thier eys ceases and (b) (6) had literally a miraculous turnaround. I did not make the connection with the canned food until I remembered I had run out and did not get any more for a few days. Both cats exhibited the same symptoms as this time but not as severe and it stopped when I stopped when I stopped feeding the canned food. I have the cans of food including last opened one I feed them. It is obvious this food made them sick. (b) (6) was better until today. I opened a new bag of Open Farms. Both cats have goopy eyes and (b) (6) will not eat or drink anything and appears to be dying. Im sure you could easily justify not investigating this situation due to the prw existing conditions and the inconclusive nature of the situation however with a huge increase in pet illness and deaths in the last 3 months can you in good conscience not follow up? Do you own any pets or have family or loved ones that do? If there is an issue with pet feed as well as pet food then human's could possibly be ingesting something that is making us sick as well.	14	Years	Maine Coon	Cat	10	Pound

EON-572337	3/22/2024 9:48	FreshPet Chunky Beef Recipe For Dogs	My dog started to walk slowly last week. He usually is ver active. Last Saturday while I was cutting a freshet meat roll (6 lbs, he ate it half already) I found a green-grey big spot like I never saw during the two years we fed him with this brand. I did not fed my dog with and purchased a new one at the supermarket, same brand, but chicken, since I have not a clue what was coming soon. He ate the food as normal he does. That was around 9 am. Around at 1pm while I was having lunch, my pet did not asked me for food. Weird, he always wanted a treat. I notice he was not acting normal. I walked him, and I fed hime with organic chicken and vegetables, believing the freshet food I was giving to him without noticing the green-grey spot, had something to do with his changes in attitude. Sunday morning I fe him more more roasted chicken and vegetable but I had to fed him with my hand. One hour later he vomit everything. He did not eat anything else and drank a lot of water which actually was weird to me. I took him on Monday morning to the regular vet thinking in some c=kind of stomach bacteria sickening my dog. The vet immediately asked me to leave the dog for blood work, since he notice something wrong while touching hime. Long history short, my dog had the liver and kidneys enzymes numbers so high (also the BUN) they put him in fluids to clean his kidneys. That was Monday. Today the vet told me the numbers went worse. Almost nothing to do but keep trying with more fluids. I have faith. He saved him when he was a puppy. But the numbers don't help. Before this batch of pet food he was in perfect condition. My vet says this is something worst than bad pet food. I want to believe him, but I don't really know what is in the food, it could be a ingredient clump like the lady from FreshPet said to me, maybe is lead, maybe is something worse. I have the food with me, but I won't keep it on the fridge for too long. It scares me just to watch it. I want to prevent this situation to happen to anybody else. I am devastated as any pet owner would be.	6	Years	Bulldog - French	Dog	26	Pound

It stinks up the room where we keep it. It was about all we could do to scoop her food out for meals. We've been buying this food for over 10 years and it has never had this type of odor. The other issue is she has started to have diarrhea all over the house and one morning refused to eat her breakfast. She's never really had diarrhea but maybe a few times and never in the house. I actually stopped giving her the food for a few days so she could get better but once she ate the food again we had accidents in the house.	11	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog

EON-572241	3/21/2024 9:20	Purina puppy chow	On Feb 10th I had purchased two bags of purina. I had a dam and 8 puppies they were on it and started getting runny poop. They had no parasites. Removed off and put on diamond and it cleared up. I did contact purina then. I did notice a strong smell from the food also. They issued me coupons to replace the bags. There was no stamp on back for lot number or best by date then the coupons came in and we got to more bags of purina. My male german shepherd and another one were on this new bag of purina puppy because I didn't want to switch the puppies again to a different food they stayed on diamond. (b) (6) seem to have an upset stomach I pulled her off and contact purina about my dogs getting sick again. (b) (6) . Then we opened another bag we got same brand and our male (b) (6) got sick from it we with held his food on (b) (6) after the first vomit. Then I left and went somewhere and came back to blood in his vomit and alot of it. My husband had went to work and I called one of those emergency vets and text one of those lines. They suggested active charcoal to give him if I had any. Which luckily I do have. This however did not work and (b) (6) got worse. I contact a vet to take him in but before I could get him in he got worse and started pissing blood even. He started to throw chunks of blood up. Ultimately I knew what this meant. I called a vet I knew and we talked about it. Even if we could save him there just wouldn't be good for him. So we had to put him to sleep. I let purina know. They then escalated the thing up and said they reimburse me for my dog food and possibly the vet bill but I don't want anything from them. They said the wanted to collect some of the food though so they could test it. Then I got an email that told me basically to no long contact purina but a 3rd party company called Sedgwick CMS. I made a post about what happened and was told to contact the FDA because they may want to test the food themselves. Also many people habe reached put to me in my area saying they have had the same problem. I purchased my dog food Feb 10 - march from (b) (6) Walmart. In (b) (6) . I'm sorry if I'm confusing I'm just having a hard time because this dog meant a lot to me. We did bury him today but was told to dig him back up because an autopsy may need to be done. EON-572117	3/19/2024 21:56	Organomics salmon and duck dinner	I received a package of my dog's usual wet food, the Organomics brand of canned salmon and duck dinner. I always mix in some of the food with water to add to my dog's dry food, so I end up getting an up-close view of what is in his food. The other day I noticed small black pieces in the food that weren't usually there after opening a new can from a new order of food. I emptied the rest of the can and found the pieces throughout- they seem to be small black pieces of plastic. I opened more cans and found the same thing. I contacted Chewy and shared the lot number. They sent me a replacement as I hoped it was a fluke. In the replacement order, the food unfortunately did have the same plastic in it. Original was lot number 1424N28NDS15. Replacement was lot number 1424N20N0S16. I hope the manufacturer can find out what caused the plastic to enter their product- we really liked this food. But I don't want to feed my dog plastic!

EON-572094	3/19/2024 17:04	DreamBone	Both of my dogs have experienced explosive bouts of diarrhea and projectile vomiting after consuming one dream bone each. The diarrhea stopped after 2 days but they are still having bouts of vomiting 3 days later. They are slowly getting back to themselves, but I think DreamBone was the cause of this as the bones were the only thing they consumed that was different than what their used to. They have never had DreamBones before and will never have them again. I have read in several places online (new york post, reddit, pet safety forum etc) that this product has made thousands of animals sick and or die. I have also heard that the glycerin that they put in these treats has been chemically sourced and that's why a lot of these dogs are having seizures. Thankfully my 2 did not, but other pet owners have not fared so well. I implore the FDA to look into this further as I think it is killing more animals than anyone is aware of.	8	Years	Dachshund - Miniature	Dog	15	Pound

EON-572088	3/19/2024 16:16	Purina Pro Plan performance 39/20	Purina problem I am a concerned dog owner and have no other agenda than reporting on a problem I had with Purina dog food. I was not aware of the social media controversy surrounding the product when my dog had this problem. On Saturday January 27, at a (b) (6), the staff at the Purina booth were handing out samples of Purina Pro Plan Performance 30/20 chicken and rice treats. I received two 6 oz bags. Our dog is a fussy eater and I was pleased to see he liked this dry food. So I later purchased a 6 lb bag of Purina Pro Plan High Calorie, High Protein Dry Dog Food, 30/20 Chicken & Rice Formula. For about 5 weeks he ate it as only a treat for catching and running games. He ate a total of those 2 bags of 6 oz each and maybe another ounce from the large bag I had purchased. Then (b) (6) had started showing signs of overall weakness, having trouble jumping up on both our couch and bed: most unusual and somewhat alarming. This symptom had started to show up around 3/8. Additional symptoms were sporadic diarrhea and noticeable leg weakness. As I thought about anything that had changed about the way we treat (b) (6) and I realized I had been giving him Purina Pro Plan in small amounts as a treat since Jan 27th, so it was about 5 weeks of small amounts. I looked online to see if there were any contraindications from that food and saw all the reports of both problems and no problem. I felt I should report my experience. It seemed very likely that the food was the cause. I stopped feeding him Purina Pro Plan on 3/9 and his muscle weakness gradually disappeared and (b) (6) was almost completely better around 3/12. He could now jump up normally. He still had upset stomach and diarrhea on 3/13, but He is almost completely back to normal now, except tummy still upset and some funky looking poop.	11	Years	Terrier - Jack Russell	Dog	11.5	Pound

EON-571980	3/18/2024 14:24	Purina Pro Plan Urinary Tract Health classic wet food with Salmon	I've been feeding my cats Purina Pro Plan Urinary Tract Wet Pet Food, Salmon, for over 2 years. About a month ago, I purchased this food in a 24 can pack (as I aways do) and my cats wouldn't eat it. Typically they scarf it down. I threw away the can and opened a new one, still - wouldn't eat it. I repurchased another 24 pack and they devoured it. Obviously something was wrong with with the first batch. I called Purina Customer Service and described what happened. The agent asked for the UPC numbers and manufacturing numbers, and then told me that in fact, this product was mislabeled, apologized and I was sent a coupon for a free 24 pack. Now, it has happened again. This time I purchased the item from Chewy. Cats won't eat it, I go buy another, and they eat the new batch. Obviously there is something very wrong with Purinas quality control. I tried to call customer service, but was on hold for over 45 minutes and had to hang up. If someone has a pet that is allergic to certain foods, this mix up could be deadly! I did email Purina and explained that this has happened again to me. Awaiting their response.

Every single one of my dogs became very ill after consuming it. It began with some having grainy stool and progressed into severe vomiting and diarrhea across all animals. I sent out a fecal sample tested by IDEXX which came back negative. We went to the vet again for a Parvo Virus test given how bad their symptoms were, which also was negative. We bought a new bag of Diamond Naturals thinking we possibly bought a bad bag but the symptoms continued. All of the dogs were severely dehydrated and started refusing to eat the food or drink water. In our most recent order, our dog, after consuming multiple treats 2x per night, became violently ill, with extreme vomiting, uncontrollable diarrhea, and bleeding in the stool. We isolated this as the cause by rotating through her consumables. We removed the treats from her diet, and the events decreased and she became stable. Following 2x days of recovery, we added the treats back to her diet, and the symptoms returned, becoming violently ill. We've since omitted the treats from her diet entirely, with no plans to return them.	2	Years	Shepherd Dog - Australian	Dog	35	Pound

EON-571778	3/15/2024 16:32	Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Ocean whitefish and tuna entrée	Starting January 15, 2024, (b) (6) stopped eating the wet food she's typically presented with, but was still eating dry food. On January 16, she refused food entirely. She's typically a "vacuum" who will eat all her wet food, and then whatever wet food her littermate doesn't eat as well. Specifically, for breakfast, she receives a full 3 oz can of food and a second 3 oz can of food is split between the other 2 cats in the household who eat this food. (b) (6) (14 pounds) is half the size of one of those cats. Saw regular vet January 16 in the morning, treated for no appetite and blood drawn - given anti-nausea and appetite stimulant and sub q fluids. Somewhat improved, she ate a little tuna (human food) early evening. seemed to be improving. No other obvious symptoms otherwise. The next day (1/17) she got worse, initially eating a small amount of food earlier in the day. By late evening, she didn't eat anything else and then was growling and otherwise acting strangely when presented with food or treats. When touched below her shoulders/on her belly, she cried like in pain. (The other 2 cats in the house who receive the same wet food also stopped eating their food the same time but did not get sick.) Taken to the ER vet that night (1/17-1/18). She was treated for UTI. Nothing improved, still not eating despite more meds, taken back to the ER vet on 1/18 in the morning after she refused all food/treats that should have enticed her. She seemed to be in more distress/pain and generally agitated. This time the vet determined, based on discomfort/agitation from her when evaluating the L cranial quadrant that pancreatitis was likely, along with other symptoms. This time she was treated for pancreatitis, and symptoms of it - steroid shot, antinausea, appetite stimulant, pain meds, and b12 shot. (lab results for cbc from regular vet were normal) Slowly, (b) (6) regained interest in food and over the next day or two started eating again and then another day or two passed before she was eating her usual amount of food with usual amount of enthusiasm. We needed to change wet food. *Wet food is fed promptly from a freshly opened can. Cats are generally supervised because we are at home most of the time. Play is supervised. (b) (6) has no interest in chewing on things that would be a risk for a foreign body. The food was purchased 4 cases at a time from chewy.com, cases were opened as needed so cases/lots were never mixed and any unopened cases were rotated appropriately when we got a new order.	7	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	14	Pound

			(b) (6) was 1 of three cats being fed the same wet food at the same time. All 3 cats did eat less of the food than usual as soon as we fed the new lot but didn't think much of it at the time. Eventually all 3 cats refused this food. Our vet recommended we examine the food we've been feeding because all 3 cats in the household who eat this food had changes and that's when we noticed we'd just started a different/new lot from what was previously fed. We realized the decrease in interest and how much they ate started with opening a new case and new lot of food. We had 3 more cases of the same lot and buy 4 cases at the same time. so it was easy to test out a different lot of food to see if they'd eat that because we had another 4 cases of a different lot of food so it matched up with the way we order food. Additionally, there was at least 48 hours of loose/soft stool in the litterbox with very little normal stool in the litterbox. There are 4 cats in the household. The 4th cat does not eat this wet food and showed no symptoms so we assume the normal appearing stool was hers. Of the 3 cats who had changes in appetite/symptoms/or refused food at the same time, (b) (6) was the smallest one who eats the most compared to her body weight and the only one not already taking prednisolone for an unrelated issue. The two cats who didn't lose their appetite completely/present as sick still refused this wet food of this lot - more than once, except they ate the same wet food from a different case/lot with no hesitation. EON-571682	3/15/2024 0:56	The Honest Kitchen 10# Whole grain chicken and oat Small breed	I purchased an honest kitchen, 10 pound bag of small breed, whole-grain, chicken and oat, dry dog food from Petco for my Chihuahua. I purchased the bag in January. When I got towards the bottom of the bag, I reached down in to scoop her food out, and I touched some thing furry. I am blind and it scared the crap out of me. I handed the bag to my husband, and he said that it was a dead mouse. I contacted honest kitchen, and they refuse to take responsibility. They say there are no mice in their facility. The bag did not have any little holes in it anywhere for the mouse to have gotten in at Petco. I have no mice in my house. We have never seen one in the house before this incident, or since this incident. Besides, the mouse was dead towards the bottom of the bag, half buried by kibble. They said they were sending me a free bag of food thinking that that would make things right. Why would I continue to feed my dog any of their products? I hope that you will take this complaint seriously and look into it.
EON-571678	3/14/2024 23:24	Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Beef and Rice Formula	We have been feeding our dogs Purina Pro Plan for many years. In December our smaller dog (b) (6) started throwing up and had a big episode or diarrhea, vomiting, lethargy, extreme thirst and excessive urination. We gave her the bland diet of chicken and rice but she then lost her appetite and stopped eating. We took her to the vet and they didn't really have any answers. I think they said it could have been a kidney/liver infection but not guaranteed. We decided not to give her the medication and it cleared up on its own. Shortly after (b) (6) started feeling better, our other dog (b) (6) started vomiting and having diarrhea although no excessive thirst, urination, and loss of appetite. We could not figure out what was causing them to be sick because someone is home with them 95% of the time and there is no evidence that they have gotten into anything. They have continued to vomit once or twice a week since this started in December, and finally have decided to try a new dog food.	8	Years	Unknown	Dog	35	Pound

EON-571569	3/13/2024 16:44	IAMS Proactive Health Indoor Weight and Hairball Care	In the week after opening a new bag of Iams Indoor Weight Control/Hairball Care dry cat food around Jan. 29, 2024, I noticed my cat drinking more water and urinating more than usual. These signs persisted and then gradually increased to the point where I became concerned. Around March 15 my cat also became hesitant to eat his dry food, so I shifted his diet from 3/4 cup a day of Iams dry to 1/2 cup a day plus a can of wet food. He then started refusing both dry and wet food. His condition declined (anorexia, dry heaves, diarrhea, listlessness, excessive drinking and urinating), and we sought veterinary care 3 times within 5 days (2/22, 2/25, and 2/29). His blood glucose, thyroid, liver, and kidney labs were normal. He was therefore treated as for a UTI and has since improved. I have not given him any more of the Iams dry food since about February 23. We have used Iams products for years and have never had any problems, so I did not suspect the food at first. But my cat has never had any previous health problems, and the rapid onset of the illness, coming so soon after opening the new food bag, has now caused me to wonder if the food was defective in some way (such as too much sodium?). I decided to report this out of concern that other cats could perhaps fall ill, if the food is in fact defective. I still have most of the 7 lb. bag and will retain it in case it is needed for testing.	13	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	15	Pound

I began to see symptom resolvement toward the end of week 2. On 3/11 I gave (b) (6) a treat because I felt like his stomach/digestion had gone back to normal. It was a Golden Reward Sweet Potato and Chicken treat. The next morning he vomited that up and had diarrhea all day. Other than that treat, he had been given nothing else other than his dry dog food. My concern is that the treats may be a bad batch because it was a fairly new bag. EON-571397	3/12/2024 8:25	Purina Pro Plan Adult Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Salmon & Rice Formula	(b) (6) had severe diarrhea with many movements containing blood. This occurred morning after her second day of introducing Purina Pro Plan Salmon into her diet. She had such a bad reaction we had to take her to an emergency veterinarian. She was given subcutaneous fluids, anti nausea, and antibiotic treatments. She is currently recovery. Prior to introducing Purina Pro Plan, no food change has caused such digestive distress. She had a very normal, energetic day on 3/8 with three solid bowel movements. There were no other changes to her diet and we are nearly certain she didn't ingest any other foreign or poisonous object.	1	Years	Shepher Dog (unspecified)	Dog	67	Pound

It is a small white rectangle less than 1/8" long and the thickness of cardstock paper. I then saw the package and it was really hard to understand, also in kg not in lbs. Somewhere, I read online that it had a specific protein content, which is higher than normal dog food. Seeing this type of food being advertised without clear indications is quite concerning, and I'm glad I didn't buy it.

EON-571313	3/11/2024 12:52	Freshpet Slice & Serve roll-Tender Chicken Recipe with carrots peas and brown rice. Also the tender chicken recipe with potatoes and spinach	We transitioned our Boston Terrier over slowly to this food after we got to the full amount he should eat, he began throwing up and had bloody stools. We noticed he was asking to go out more than usual leaving up to this, but just thought it was the transition phase. He got to the point of not eating at all and barely drinking. Thank God we realized what was going on and made him Real Chicken and rice that was able to stabilize him before we had to go to get emergency treatment. We have 3 other Boston's and would give them just a few taste pieces (2 or 3 cheese cube size) when we fed the one above. Even all 3 of them started having loose stools and were acting different. Dogs will love it at first, but then get extremely sick from it building up whatever toxins are in the food. User's recommendation: NEVER buy!! Potential to kill your dog.	2	Years	Terrier - Boston	Dog	17	Pound

Went to the vet, had a poop sample sent out- everything was negative- vet could not figure out what was wrong. I soon learned from online a bunch of others had the same issue around the same time as me. The recipe had changed due to the brand being built out. The company will tell you there was no change but the order of the ingredients changed. The color and smell of the dog food changed, the way my dog and many others dog reacted to the dog food changed. My dog no longer is on Orijen and since I have not had one problem. First he started grumbling and hissing when we held him, which we thought was just a personality change. Then we noticed blood in his stool, and he started screeching at any physical contact. He is now having diarrhea and avoiding the kibble food entirely, which made us consider the food as the issue. EON-571206	3/9/2024 18:11	Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Small Breed Formula Salmon	We've been feeding this same food for years with no issues. Opened new bag on 3/3/24, Dog had diarrhea attack in kitchen early 3/5/24. Since I heard rumors about the food, I stopped it and gave rice and chicken. She didn't have any BM on 5/6 so that evening I gave half the usual amount of ProPlan for her dinner. The next AM VERY watery puddle of poop on the kitchen floor and she never has accidents. Called vet, they couldn't get her in but I took stool sample and they told me to feed bland diet of boiled chicken, rice, and a little canned pumpkin was ok. Did that - this AM diarrhea on our walk with a little blood and about an hour later, she threw up. I called vet, no appointments available. Called purina, explained, and offered to take a sample of the food to the nearby (b) (6) plant for testing and they would not test it except to send a bag for visual testing, but no chemical testing "because every batch is tested before released". I said I have a sick dog and offer to give you the sample and you refuse? I worked in quality control and involves "pre-ship" but also failure analysis and if issues they should test it and address it in case it's bad...why are dogs getting sick? Is there someplace I can send the sample myself and find out what is wrong with this food? I care about my dog and everyone else's. This needs to be addressed. I will be happy to cooperate in any way possible to get to the bottom of this. My dog had a 100% healthy check-up and stool sample on 2/26/24. She doesn't eat any other foods or treats and this is the same food she has been on for years. Also I am retired and she is with me constantly when I am home and in a dog-proofed kitchen when I'm not. When we go outside she is always with me and on a leash so I know she has not gotten into anything...the only change was the new bag of food. Here are details: ISBN 038100177018. Best by Jun 2025 Lot 33466001 0515L04. The Purina consumer line said it was manufactured in mid Dec at a NY state facility. She also said they discontinued the probiotic in this product in January of 2024 "because of lack of availability of the probiotic" and they needed to get stock on shelves. However apparently my bag was prior to that change and contains the probiotic. I asked if there was something wrong with the probiotic and that is why they discontinued but they said it was just due to shortage. Then I said I was upset and would let social media know I asked to have the food tested at their nearby facility and they would not. I asked what do they test? He said they tested it already for Salmonella and I said how about any other bacterias and molds and he said they test for "everything possible". He said they also test for metals, and I asked which ones and he said "every metal possible". The person I talked to was (b) (6) at 1-855-744-1216. I said I wasn't sure what to do next. I hoped I would know if it was the food if they could have tested it. My dog has been sick and it's the weekend and no vets open unless I take her to (b) (6), 2 hrs away, if she should get the seizures or worse like some dogs have had happen. I said they don't care or they would be testing the food I have and try to figure it out.	9	Years	Spaniel - King Charles Cavalier	Dog	18	Pound
			He said if I had to take the dog to emergency, I would have to pay out of pocket but then I should call and they would send an email about reimbursement after it had been reviewed and to save my receipts just in case. Come on, this really needs to be addressed!!! I can't believe all the people reporting this happening after opening a new bag of Proplan. PLEASE PLEASE can we get my food tested? Can we stop this from continuing to happen to these pets and their families? Thank you!

My vet told me to give her nothing until she would eat it, after 3 days I bought another bag, still no luck. The vet had me crush it up and add broth to it. She did eat it then, but quit eating it in Oct altogether, she became very ill, hair loss and redness around her eyes. He gave her antibiotic, she got better, but still wouldn't eat the food. We tried different brands, still no luck. Took her back to the vet, blood test showed an infection that couldn't be found, she was on another round of antibiotics. An Xray showed an enlarged heart. We did start making her food, which she would eat, she got down to 7 pounds, and came back up to 8.2 but died on Feb 13th. We suspect from a dilated heart. The food was Nutro Brown Rice and Lamb, and we did try Brown Rice and Chicken, but found she had an immediate allergy to the chicken blend. EON-571114	3/8/2024 12:52	Purina Pro Plan High Protein with Probiotics Shredded Blend Chicken and Rice Formula Dry Dog Food	I purchased a 47lb bag of Purina Pro plan shredded chicken and rice on 2/12/24. A week after buying the new bag my dog became extremely sick resulting in 3 emergency hospitals visits. This was weird to me as he had been eating this food for over 3 years with no issues. The vet had to run blood work, take x rays, provide antibiotics more than once, and deworm him for the vet to come to the conclusion that his dog food is what made him sick as when I tried to convert him back over he instantly got sick again resulting in another hospital visit. It has been almost a month and my dog has still not fully recovered. I called my local pet store to ask about returning the dog food and when I mentioned what kind of food it was she instructed me to return it immediately and to not feed it to my dog. She said she has had 50 reports of dogs dying after eating this dog food since the beginning of February which is when I purchased my dog food. Along with reports of worms being found in the food. I am now stuck with over $1,000 in medicals that I can not afford, plus almost $1,000 of medical bills for myself that I can't afford because my mental health and my physical health crumbled under the stress, and anxiety due to almost losing my best friend over your dog food. We had been giving her a variety of Royal Canin food for years, but wanted to try something new since she was getting tired of the Royal Canin. I chose Fancy Feast Senior 7+ because I had given her Fancy Feast years ago which she liked. I fed it to her first on the evening of (b) (6) and again in the morning and evening for the next two days. Within 18 hours of first eating it, she became so lethargic that she only got up to eat and use the litter box. This was very unlike her. I discovered bits of a hard gritty substance in her food. I called four representatives of the company who could not identify it. We took her to the vet after the 2nd day. Vet found nothing but advised us to stop feeding her the food. 2 days later she howled and doubled over in pain and had trouble breathing and walking. Another emergency vet appointment found nothing. This pain and breathing/walking problem happened again twice more in the next two days. EON-570987	3/7/2024 8:28	Nature's Domain Sweet Potato and Salmon Formula Cat Food	(b) (6) began to complain of severe abdominal pain on December 4th, 2023. (b) (6) was still eating and drinking as usual and developed uncontrolled foul-smelling diarrhea on December 5th, 2024, in large amounts. (b) (6) was unable to walk or jump without leaking directly from his anus. He attempted to lay in the litterbox, so I removed it and encouraged him to defecate on a towel instead, which had to be changed almost constantly. We made (b) (6) a vet appointment on December 6th, 2024, where it was determined that he had gastric dilation, and obstruction was eventually ruled out. We were given medication to treat and for discomfort. (b) (6) had a recheck on December 7th, 2024, where the swelling of the GI tract had been reduced. A fecal sample was sent to a lab. While awaiting results, it became essential to time (b) (6) medication correctly to avoid extreme, foul-smelling, painful diarrhea. (b) (6) was not eating or drinking water but was more affectionate. Once the fecal test returned from the lab revealed high CPA levels of 301 THOUS/g and a positive result for Feline Coronavirus. We continued treatment for over a month, and (b) (6) began to lose fur on his rear end and stomach and was bare skin on a usually long-haired cat. Unfortunately, treatments seemed to be unhelpful to him, and we were only able to alleviate his discomfort. EON-570985	3/7/2024 8:28	Nature's Domain Sweet Potato and Salmon Formula Food For Cats	We grew concerned for (b) (6) on (b) (6) , because he was beginning to show signs of jaundice in his eyes, skin, and gums. He was losing weight before he had been less active than usual, and we suspected diarrhea. (b) (6) attended his first vet appointment on January 8th, and we were informed that (b) (6) had regenerative anemia. Severe elevation of Neutrophils and monocytes. In addition to elevated liver values and the apparent Jandicae, skin, eyes, and gums. (b) (6) had a revisit on (b) (6) , where he was observed to be more jaundiced, but the abdomen was filled with less fluid, and there was no fluid in the lungs. We continued the treatment with antibiotics and steroids and requested (b) (6) receive fluids. (b) (6) received fluids multiple times and showed improvement. On (b) (6) (b) (6) , (b) (6) was observed for continual abdominal swelling, and blood was rechecked to show a slight improvement in liver values; however, a 4cm mass was also identified on (b) (6) liver, the fluid in his abdomen was described as a rust color with a low protein level, and blood was in his urine. (b) (6) also began to suffer from pleural effusion. (b) (6) would revisit a total of eight times for critical treatment when he finally collapsed on (b) (6) , and had to be euthanized at (b) (6) . In (b) (6) last moments, he was panting and vomiting blood. An internal GI bleed was suspected. Throughout this event, (b) (6) still attempted to eat and drink, and I never took the Nature's Domain food away. (b) (6) consumed the food moments before he began to vomit blood on (b) (6) , with him passing after midnight.	3	Years	Mixed (Cat)	Cat	6	Pound
EON-570984	3/7/2024 8:28	Nature's Domain Sweet Potato and Salmon Formula Cat Food	(b) (6) developed upper respiratory symptoms with an aggressive repetitive sneeze, pale gums, and swollen eyes. (b) (6) began going to places that were not usual to her and began eating and drinking much less. (b) (6) went to the vet on January 9th for her symptoms, and I was given treatment for her discomfort. On January 10th, 2023, (b) (6) began bleeding from her right eye in copious amounts and was dripping onto the floor. This lasted for a half hour until the eye finally stopped bleeding. I then had to open her eyes to put the drops in, and they seemed to help. We took her back in on January 11th, 2023, to ensure no damage to her eye. Illness continued but lessened in severity over time. Symptoms have began to subsid since the food was changed on February 9th, 2024.	3	Years	Mixed (Cat)	Cat	5	Pound

EON-570983	3/7/2024 8:27	Nature's Domain Sweet Potato and Salmon Formula Cat Food	(b) (6) has never had an aliment in the four years she has lived with me and is inherently healthy. (b) (6) began to have uncontrolled diarrhea and was generally lethargic. (b) (6) went to the vet on January 9th, 2024. Because the vets had seen this before and already knew whatever the ailment was, it was not responding to treatment, it was decided that the same course of action as (b) (6) would apply to (b) (6) to alleviate her discomfort. The vet did not think we would find anything significant in the lab. The veterinarian observed a mild heart murmur and pale gum membranes during (b) (6) exam. In previous days, she had become abnormally affectionate and food-aggressive. (b) (6) would scuff down other foods before she stopped eating. (b) (6) continued to be very active but slowly accumulated fluid in her abdomen, and she had hard stools. In two days, she developed severe respiratory symptoms, continued not to eat, became lethargic, and began losing weight very rapidly. We took (b) (6) to the vet on (b) (6) where we were informed that (b) (6) had abdominocentesis; based on the fluid culture, it was determined the cause was FIP, and she would eventually drown in the fluid. Extreme efforts weee made and the litter of puppies about to go home was presented to our vet due to them ingesting the food. He began I've and antibiotics all trying to save them and one by one they died with throwing up blood and such. He had the litter for 4 days and each day lost one. He stated he had never seen anything like this before. At the same time I became ill and presented to our er with rectal bleeding. I had fed and cleaned for the puppies and came in contact with the food. We replaced food with science hill and once food was replaced loss of life stopped. This all happened with ingestion in a matter of 3 days. I lost 4 adults and a litter of puppies that was only eating from that bag. EON-570635	3/3/2024 18:44	Purina Pro-Plan Performance 30/20 Chicken and Rice formula	After buying a new bag of Purina Pro-Plan Astrid began to lose weight and began having diarrhea. We began feeding her chicken and rice for 2 weeks incase it was just an upset stomach, and the problems stopped. About 2 weeks after starting her back onto her food (beginning of January) we noticed she was extremely skinny and not quite as energetic as previously. We were advised to feed her smaller more frequent meals throughout the day to increase her caloric intake without hurting her stomach. Her diarrhea once again returned, however there was now small amount of blood in her stool. We were then told it could possibly have been due to constipation so at that point we began mixing her food with a wet food of a different brand, and her diarrhea occurred less frequently without blood but was still occurring. We had to pause purchasing her wet food as we'd just had a baby that had to be admitted to nicu and were tight on finances. At this point, she was purely on the dry food and after a week she stopped eating the food completely, and began having bloody diarrhea once more. After 2 days of attempting to get her to eat anything and trying to keep her hydrated, she began evacuating entire pools of blood from her bowels. Upon admittance to the vet, she was weighed at 26 lbs when was previously recorded at around 60. The vet advised it to be a gastrointestinal problem, however treatment would most likely not be successful due to her rapid decline. Within 24 hours she went from walking around to having internal bleeding and unable to stand. She was euthanized that day. EON-570573	3/2/2024 17:36	Purina ONE Lamb & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food	My dog has eaten Purina One Lamb and Rice dog food since we got her in July 2018. She gets occasional stomach issues; she used to get stomach bacterial infections a couple times a year, but not as often now. Her last known stomach issue was an infection in late November 2023. I bought a 16.5 pound bag of Purina One Lamb and Rice from a Walmart in (b) (6) on January 26th. Around February 4th, she rejected the food when I fed her. She loves any and all food, and she only rejects food when her stomach is causing her severe discomfort. I tried soaking her food in some water and mixing a few small training treats in. She ate about half the food- just enough to eat the treats. She began doing this nearly every meal, so I started soaking her food before each meal and giving her smaller portions to try and work her appetite back up. She was becoming pretty lethargic and antisocial like she was about to have a panic attack, but all the time. She had a vet appointment February 9th (a follow-up for a previous ear infection) and I asked the vet to check her stomach out while we were there. The vet did not find any specific causes, and she had not had diarrhea, so the vet said it was probably just anxiety. (b) (6) has a history of anxiety, but normally only has panic attacks or shorter periods (max 5 days) of elevated anxiety. I had been more stressed from school which had been causing some flareups with my health issues, so I figured maybe she was just worried for me (she is normally very empathetic toward me, but not for periods this long). Her personality became more and more lethargic, and she was still not wanting to eat. I tried everything- I tried soaking food, sneaking in treats, and got a daily supplement to add for probiotics and immune support. The supplement helped the eating issue- it's a strong-smelling powder that I sprinkled on her food, and she purposely only ate the pieces with powder on them. It seemed to help a bit too with lethargy, but she was still acting weird. I even took her home for a few days to see my parents and our other dog, and she was happy to see her favorite people, but she still was not acting like herself. Finally a couple days ago, her food container was running low so I bought more. I removed the old food and added it on top of the new food so it could be used first. I noticed that the old bag of food had a lot of lighter colored pieces with no shape instead of the darker triangle pieces. I removed those pieces and the rest of the old food from her container to see if that was the problem. A few days later she is already eating more and acting like herself. I did some research and many other people have had this issue. Chewy reviews for this specific food mention several dogs becoming ill since January from this food. I am thankful that I finally realized and that my dog did not have a worse reaction. Shes eight and a rescue, so shes reaching the age that I do not want to take any risks with her health.	8	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	56	Pound
EON-570572	3/2/2024 17:36	Purina Pro Plan Senior	We currently use Purina Pro Plan Senior. Our dog lost her appetite at the end of her last bag, so i discarded it and opened a new bag (small 7lb bag) She still refuses to eat it right away, but will nibble at it during the day. Totally unlike her because she usually woofs it down. This is not the first time I've had problems with Purina. Another dry food product was discontinued after i called to complain about a year or two ago. This current bag has a best used date of May 2025. The batch # is 3319 1082 0038 L06-89. I finally googled Purina recall this morning and saw other Purina Pro Plan owners were having similar issues, so decided to report this problem. I will attach pictures of the bag and bar code. Thank you for your time. We will be switching to another brand. I've raised all my dogs on Ourina since the 1970's, but they have finally lost my trust.
EON-570571	3/2/2024 17:36	Purina Naturals Indoor	(b) (6) is just 1 of my cats that were vomiting excessively after consuming Purina Naturals Indoor for a few days. I had noticed there was a plastic/chemical smell to the food. I immediately switched to a different food and all sick cats recovered. Just in the past couple days it has happened again with a new bag of Naturals Indoor. Again there is a strange plastic/chemical odor that I didn't notice when opening the bag, but it is there now. Once again, I have changed the food, notified the vendor and Purina just today.	12	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	8	Pound

EON-570566	3/2/2024 17:28	Purina One Chicken & Rice Formula	Mid to Late summer, we noticed that (b) (6) was not always wanting to eat (his diet was Purina One chicken and rice and sometimes homemade chicken, rice, and pumpkin) had diarrhea on and off, & excessive urination. The symptoms came and went, which we attributed to his age. On January 16, 2024, (b) (6) had an unusual amount of diarrhea throughout the night. He stopped eating for a couple of days, and then seemed better. During the overnight hours of (b) (6) (b) (6), he again had severe diarrhea, lethargy, and some vomiting. We took him to the emergency clinic on where he was diagnosed as septic, dehydrated, his heart was enlarged among other ailments. He began having seizures at the clinic. His condition went downhill very quickly and we eventually made the very difficult decision to end his misery and send him to a better place. I was not made aware of the potential Purina food problem until about a month later when I happened to read an article that popped up.	13.3	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	72	Pound

I rushed her to the (b) (6) , where it was confirmed by blood work that confirmed she has pancreatitis. She was given pain meds, fluids, and nausea meds. I started her back on her food, thinking nothing of it after she started feeling better a little over a week later while eating plain chicken and rice, and she seemed to be ok and then some days she'd hurt right after eating her dog food and I'd put her on a fast for 24 hours with pain meds and rest and she would be better and start back on the dog food and she was just up and down until February 20th she had to be rushed back to her vet ((b) (6)), where she was given more medicine and antibiotics. EON-570392	3/1/2024 8:24	Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon is first ingredient	One of my dogs started having bloody diarrhea off and on. I took her to the vet and she was put on medication because the vet believed she'd picked up a bacteria. She was put on chicken and rice and after a week, was doing better. So, I started her back on Purina Pro Plan and it started happening again. Only this time, she was throwing up too. My vet did some blood work and found that her liver enzymes were elevated. Then, a month later, my other dog started getting sick as well so I took her in and had blood work done. Her liver enzymes were also elevated. Neither one of my dogs get treats and I don't use any harsh chemicals in my house. They're both really small dogs and never go outside. My vet suggested taking them off the food immediately. I'm now having to cook homemade food for them to get them healthy again. I also have to take them both back in in a month to do another blood test to see if everything has leveled out.	6	Years	Maltese	Dog	3.9	Pound

EON-570283	2/29/2024 8:13	Sweet Meadow Farm Herbs & Timothy Hay Organic Small Pet Food 20oz	I ordered Organically Grown Timothy With Herbs 20oz (bag) for my rabbit on February 19, 2024. When it arrived, I noticed the plastic packaging had no ventilation holes and was concerned. My concerns were confirmed when I opened the bag and smelled a musty smell and felt moisture. It had a lot of mold. The product was likely not dried properly, the packaging is not ventilated, and it is too packed into the bag to ventilate. Unfortunately, I cannot use this product as it would likely make my pet sick. I reported this to Chewy.com and Sweet Meadow Farm. The hay did not come with any lot number. My order number at Chewy is 1466542319.
EON-570282	2/29/2024 8:13	Stella & Chewy's Freeze-Dried Raw Chick Chick Chicken Recipe Dinner Morsels	For years I have been feeding my cat Stella & Chewy (S&C) Freeze-Dried Raw Chicken Dinner Morsels cat food. About a week ago, I opened a new bag and I saw that it contained many pieces that were light orange in color. Usually the food is tan or light brown. I was concerned about the unusual color, but S&C says on their packaging that color variation in their lots is normal, so I fed it to my cat. A few days later my cat vomited up some water and fur and then again the next day. The next day she vomited up quite a lot of food. For several days she had also only been eating about half the amount of food she normally ate. After she vomited up the food, she barely ate at all for the rest of the day. The next day she didn't want to eat or drink at all and began hiding in a closet she rarely went into. In the morning, I found her hiding in a box at the bottom of her cat tree. I took her to the emergency vet and she had numerous blood tests done and a urinalysis and they were mostly normal except for elevated globulin and clumped platelets. Her kidney values had even improved from two months prior. That day, I continued feeding her the S&C food and she barely ate and continued hiding all that day and the next day. Concerned that the abnormally-colored S&C food might be the cause of her illness, I bought a new bag of the food from an earlier lot and began feeding it to my cat. The next morning she started acting normally, eating, drinking and not hiding anymore.	13	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	8.4	Pound
EON-570281	2/29/2024 8:13	Almo Nature Tilapia And Mackerel Recipe in Gravy	Good morning! I tried to contact Almo Nature since January 6th of this year so that the company could clarify what is happening, but unfortunately they have not yet sent the supposed laboratory tests on the batch contaminated with plastic, as they claim to be a transparent company. Since we are just consumers, they don't care about us, but I hope they will respect the FDA. There are two distribution addresses in the packaging, one in Miami and the other in Quebec. In this case, it is not clear to us where the product comes from. Apparently they distribute the same product throughout the USA and Canada. Please help us, all pet guardians who bought this food and our animals who eat it. I only saw the plastic because I have a habit of crushing the product with a fork before giving it to our cats. But if you don't have this habit, it may go unnoticed. Which is a danger in addition to all the contamination and danger to human and animal health that plastic causes. Purina One True Instinct Classic Ground wet dog food and Pedigree Chopped Ground Dinner. More than half cans from both companies were dented. I spoke with a representative from Pedigree and reported this. She said they have NO connection with Purina One. Yet many of the cans from both companies had dents on both sides of the cans that were nearly identical. Furthermore, after looking closely at all 12 cans from Purina, 2 cans had EXACTLY the same information, including the same "serial number". Of those 2 cans, 1 was undented. In fact that can was the ONLY can of the 12 that was NOT dented. Furthermore, that can's label was wrapped around the can in the opposite direction of EVERY OTHER can. One other thing about the Pedigree cans. I received 2 cases of 12 cans and the shrink-wrapped outer wrap on one case was not the typical yellow Pedigree wrapping. It was clear and it had some information stamped on it, such as the Best By date. I have not spoken to Purina about the dented cans issues. And I have not spoken to either company regarding the fact that the majority of the cans with 2 dents from both companies, appear to be nearly identically damaged. But in addition to the sheer number of dented cans, the fact that these 2 companies are not affiliated, but yet the damage from cans of dog food from both companies are what looks identical to me, is what prompted me to look into this, and then ti contact you. Earlier today, I fed my (young adult German Shepherd) dog one of the cans before I realized all of this. He does not appear to be having any medical issues as of right now. I have all of the cans and the boxes and outer shrink wraps, if you would like me to drop them off somewhere for you to investigate. Lastly, Ibdid contact Amazon and they took a report and said they would notify both companies of my complaints.

EON-570180	2/28/2024 10:16	Purina Pro Plan Adult Chicken and Rice Formula	My dog has always had stellar health and wasn't on any antibiotics. We just received a new bag of Purina Pro Plan Chicken and Rice which she has eaten without issue for the last 4 years. She was on day 2 of this food when she started having serious seizures that lasted for several hours after. I took her to the vet right away and they did blood work and tests and everything came back perfect. They had no idea so said it was Epilepsy. Sent her home with drugs. 2 hours after her eating dinner, the seizures started again. I had no idea about the issues with the dog food and neither did my vets so they said it would be best to put her down if I couldn't afford the cat scan and MRI which I couldn't. So, I sadly did put her down on (b) (6). The day her seizures started. It has been bothering me since so I started digging into and found all the complaints of other dog and cat owners with the same seizures caused by the food. I don't have the bag it was in anymore as I put it into a bin once I receive them but I have the whole bag of food still in the bin. I am very saddened that this food caused my perfectly healthy dog to have seizures out of nowhere. Now I'm out 1100 dollars and having to grieve a very special dog that had many years left in her. I have all vet records and the Lot number, best by date, and UPC code. Purina is denying this was what caused my dogs death but she's never outside unsupervised and the dog food was the only thing new introduced to her. I have a completely full bag/bin of the food as we just started using the food from that bag. I don't have the original packaging but it's in a bin in my garage. Consistent vomiting and loose stool were seen in all 3 cats. At that point my family and I had seen the reports on social media about petfood making large numbers of pets extremely ill, so (despite Applaws not being included in the affected brand list) we quickly switched them to a different brand of wet food that was well liked/rated and all signs of illness stopped within 24hrs of the switch. EON-570156	2/28/2024 8:34	Purina One tender chicken and Purina One tender salmon	Got (b) (6) from the (b) (6) humane society. He was on Purina Pro already, and they gave me a bag, so I continued feeding him that. I then ordered 2 large bags chicken and also salmon. When I received mixed together in a large plastic container. He ate it no problem about a week later or so I noticed he was having horrible gas and looking thoroughly at the litter he had diarrhea. I gave it a few days and it didn't go away. So I tried giving him some rice but he didn't want that. I found some diarrhea medicine online so I tried that but it didn't work. I was about to go to the vets when I saw a article on Facebook about Purina food. So I thought I'll try it. So I took him off Purina and put him on Iams. Within a few days he was getting better. By a few more days no gas and no diarrhea. During all of this he hardly acted sick. He played and ran around. He had no fever and no other symptoms. EON-570063	2/27/2024 10:36	Purina Friskies Shreds Turkey & Cheese Dinner in Gravy	I bought the exact same cat food that I normally buy from the grocery store, but I bought it off Amazon. When first opened, each can looked different than the ones I have bought from the grocery store. The gravy was congealed. I still thought it was safe though, since it was Friskies a trusted brand. After a week or so of feeding it to my cat he became lethargic, loss of appetite, depressed acting. I quit feeding him that food, switched back to (the exact same brand, flavor) the grocery store food and he instantly started acting normal and happy and full of energy again.	2	Years	Unknown	Cat	12	Pound
EON-570056	2/27/2024 10:04	Good 'n' Fun Triple Flavor Rolls	I gave my dog one of these Good N' Fun Triple Roll treats. Within about an hour he started tremoring and falling over. He was running into walls, losing his urine, and his pupils were dialated. He couldn't keep his balance and was falling over face first into the concrete. We rushed him to the vet and they said he had classic signs and symptoms of toxicity. While he was stable and having tests run, we went home and checked the house for anything he could have gotten into. His bloodwork came back with elevated white cells but otherwise ok. He was given intravenous fluids and charcoal which helped. I had in the back of my mind gnawing at me that I had given him this rawhide so I checked today to see if there were any other reports of this happening to other dogs. Sure enough There were symptoms almost exact to my dog after injesting this particular brand. Some were not as lucky as my dog and passed away.	8	Months	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	70	Pound

She would only pick at her food when she was super hungry and has always been a great eater. A fecal flotation and a full examination were performed but no answer as to why she was not eating. 3 medications were given to help alleviate (b) (6) symptoms. Vet Bill: $174.60 • On 2/14/24, I took (b) (6) back to the vet because her symptoms had gotten worse. She was now barely picking at her food, lethargic, vomiting and experiencing diarrhea. Another full exam and abdominal x-ray were performed but no answers given. 4 more medications were given to attempt to alleviate (b) (6) symptoms. Vet bill: $159.68 • On 2/16/24, I woke up to (b) (6) vomiting every 3-5 minutes. She also had diarrhea in the house 4 times because she could not make it to the yard quick enough. (b) (6) has not messed in the house since she was a very young puppy, so I knew something was terribly wrong. I had her at the vet's office at 8 AM where the vet did yet another full examination, CBC/CHEM Comprehensive Diagnostic, Parvo Snap Test, Fecal Flotation and Pancreatic cPL Test, all of which came out negative or normal. The vet admitted (b) (6) into the canine hospital where she was given a S.A. Cath and 1 L of fluids because she was severely dehydrated from the vomiting and diarrhea. She was also prescribed 5 more medications. • On 2/17/24 and 2/18/2024, (b) (6) was admitted into canine ICU treatment where she was given another round of medications and more fluid via IV. • On 1/18/24, (b) (6) was sent home with 4 prescriptions which she is still on today. Vet bill: $483.52 • (b) (6) was taken off Purina Pro-Plan Puppy Sensitive Skin & Stomach on 2/17/24. Her symptoms have rapidly decreased since she was put on a new high quality dog food brand. • The vet diagnosed (b) (6) with Hemorrhagic Gastroenteritis most likely due to continuous food poisoning. EON-570033	2/27/2024 8:24	Purina One +PLUS Healthy Weight High-Protein Formula	Just three weeks ago, we bought a bag of Purina One Plus, for our dog. After being on it for two weeks, our dog started having what we thought were seizures. These events happened within minutes up to two hours of her finishing her food. I took her to our veterinarian, where we talked about the dog food, decided to switch back to our regular dog food. Thought everything was getting better until she had another seizure. I took her back to the vet and found out that she had a heart murmur, that she never had before. Before we left the vets office, she had two more seizures. The vet said what we thought were seizures were actually mini heart attacks, so we had to make the hard decision to have her put down, because the vet said that she would only keep getting worse.

EON-570031	2/27/2024 8:24	Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice, Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice Senior Formula	I believe I am in possession of some contaminated dog food, specifically Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice. I actually noticed a difference in my dog's demeanor over the summer and called the vet to see if she was depressed. She used to LOVE her food, but I found myself having to "dress it up" and she no longer had the energy she used to. In December, the large bag ran out and I bought a small bag and I basically had to force it on her. Seemingly overnight, she lost use of her hind leg and it completely atrophied. The vet said it was her arthritis, but we have been doing PT 1x weekly since April 2023 and she was doing amazing. You would have never guessed and her physical therapist can attest to this. But going by what the vet said, I bought a small bag of the senior formula PPP Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice and she refused to touch it. In hindsight, thank God. Finally I tried the same formula in wet/can form and within the minute she was trying to throw up and an hour later we were at the ER. The vet said it was a UTI. Knowing what I know now, I think it was much more than this. I do not have the bag from the summer when I suspect something was starting to go wrong, but I do have the two small bags and I put the rest of the can in the freezer. I'm a little unclear of what my next steps should be regarding the reporting and samples and want to make sure I do my part. I know you must be so busy, but I would appreciate any direction when you have the chance. Thank you so much. (b) (6)	8	Years	Pit Bull	Dog	38	Pound

I did notice the top of the cans had a different look than what I normally get (always purchase from same place), but didn't really think anything of it. My cat started throwing up about 4-5 hours after eating, twice daily, and runny stool. Thought maybe she just had a little something, and could tell she wasn't feeling well. After a little over a week, I purchased another case of food, and the top was as I was used to seeing. She has not thrown up since feeding her from the new case, and she's back to her normal self. EON-569806	2/25/2024 1:56	Purina Pro Plan Urinary Tract Health Chicken & rice formula	(b) (6) health took a fast decline in less than 3 weeks his weight dropped from approx. 13 lbs. to 9.7. He started to exhibit lethargy, lost of appetite, and increased water consumption around approx. January 28th, 2024. This was shortly after starting a new bag of cat food. He and my other cat (Female, Spayed, 10 years, approx. 11.5 lbs) have been eating this same formula and brand since June 2023. On Feb. 12, I had to take him into the vet for a swollen bite wound to his face. I expressed concern to my vet about his weight (10lbs that day) and his lethargy that day. The vet thought it was connected to the wound on his face and provided an antibiotic to treat the bite. By Feb 19th, 2024. (b) (6) was more lethargic and week and not eating still with clear signs of weight loss. However he was still drinking and urinating. I took hi back to my vet and they did blood work and signs pointed to kidney failure because of toxin exposure. (b) (6) is not an outdoor cat nor did he have access to any chemicals or plants that could have caused this type of toxicity. They only thing that it could have been is his food. He is on a restricted diet as well as my other cat. My other cat had also stopped eating this dry food kibble and was only willing to eat a wet food (Purina Pro Plan Urinary Tract wet food). Purina had a recall of some of their Purina Pro Plan food in 2023 for elevated levels of Vitamin D which was causing toxicity to the animals. Vitamin D toxicity causes Kidney failure. I am currently seeking for someone to test the food that I have left from this batch. I have stop feeding them Purina food immediately. I have also reported this potential issue to the manufacturer and filed a complaint case with them, case#23270894 on Feb. 22,2024. UPC Code: 0-3810013126-3 and Manufacturer batch code: 320610822205122-89, Best By Date: Jan 2025 My cat has been receiving treatment from my vet for the past 3 days (Feb 21, 2024 to Feb 23,2024) of fluids and potassium as well as anti-nausea and appetite stimulants. EON-569731	2/23/2024 16:44	Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food	Purchased Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food (30lb) on 04Jan2024 at Petco (Located at (b) (6)). Today, 23Feb2024, I discovered the sealed container we store the dog food in contained many maggots/larvae. I almost mistook them for the nature of the grainy food appearance, until I saw they were moving. We have not had an issue with this dog food before in the past 3 years of purchasing this brand, nor have we made any changes in the nature of which the food is stored. I do not have the serial # available of the dog food bag anymore, nor the store receipt. I am, however, more concerned this is a manufacturing issue, and am concerned that the larvae did not "hatch" until later after purchasing. There were also some larger bugs located in the food, which may have been the more adult form of the infestation. I have a video of the contents discovered today as well, if needed.
EON-569730	2/23/2024 16:44	Kirkland Signature Lamb Rice & Vegetable Dog Food	Dog owner of 3 dogs. Opened up a new bag of dog food on Saturday February, 17th. On Monday, February 19th, my smallest dog (12 pounds) became lethargic. On Tuesday, February 20th, I took her to the vet as she was not eating, drinking or getting up & she was severely anemic to the point of almost needing a blood transfusion. Blood test, stool samples and ultrasound all determined that the only thing they could decide was that it was an autoimmune anemia. We have never had any sort of medical issues over the years with this dog. There were no changes in her diet, no rough housing, no treats, no people food, no medicine, no changes in our daily routine with the exception of using a new bag of dog food. This is the same dog food we have purchased for about a year now. Both other dogs have since developed stomach problems including diarrhea. One is roughly 35 pounds & the other is 75 pounds.

Not thinking it was the food we fed again the next day and she had another seizure after reading a little online and contacting our vet we were told to try a different food so the following day we changed foods and she had no more seizures until we reached the bottom of the food container which has some of the old food still in there so we fed her the new food with some of her old food and sure enough she had another seizure. Ever since we have kept her on the new food she hasn't had anymore seizures. This happened towards the middle of end of January.	7	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	55	Pound

EON-569671	2/23/2024 7:44	Hills Science Diet Perfect Weight Chicken Recipe	We have fed our dog (b) (6) Hills Science Diet Perfect Weight for over a year. On February 7, 2024, we opened a new bag labeled as batch 607827 PT327498. On February 8, 2024, (b) (6) began vomiting. This progressed to several episodes of bloody diarrhea. (b) (6) blood pressure became dangerously low and he was admitted to (b) (6) (b) (6) with a diagnosis of hemorrhagic gastroenteritis. He spent three days on IV fluids and antibiotics. Subsequent laboratory tests were negative for parasites and infection and an ultrasound was unremarkable. Veterinarians at (b) (6) have been unable to identify the cause. He was discharged on February 10 and placed on a bland diet, probiotics, and antibiotics. (b) (6) symptoms had improved by February 17 and we began reintroducing the Hills Science Diet mixed with a bland diet. (b) (6) gastrointestinal symptoms worsened and he began vomiting and eating grass again the following day. We discontinued the Hills Science Diet Perfect Weight and his symptoms have again improved. Earlier today we observed that several other dog owners recently reported that their dogs became sick after eating Hills Science Diet Perfect Weight. For example a review by (b) (6) on February 19, 2024 similarly reported that the food "made my dog sick with diareah[sic] to the point of bloody stools" (See https://www.chewy.com/hills-science-diet-adult-perfect/dp/794870). We urge the FDA to contact the manufacturer for an investigation and potential recall. EON-569640	2/22/2024 16:24	Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded blend. Adult. Chicken and Rice Formula.	When I opened the new bag of food, I noticed an odor different than previous bags. Also the shape of the kibble was different and the food felt oily. This was the only the second time I had bought a 35lb bag so I was unsure if this was within the acceptable range. I had been buying smaller bags for both of my dogs waiting to see how they did on the food before investing in the large bags. I had not seen any food advisory about the brand. I decided to feed her a smaller than usual daily ration to see if she exhibited any changes. After about 3 days, she did not eat all her food. She was lethargic and her stools were loose and had mucus. Very unusual for her. I was about to make a veterinary appointment for her when a friend sent me some information that there might be a problem with the Purina ProPlan. I discontinued feeding her and switched to another brand. After 4 or 5 days on the new food, her energy level returned and her stools were mucus free. My 9 month old puppy was eating Purina ProPlan Puppy food, but she was almost finished with the bag that I had bought several months ago. She had been gassy but no bloat. Her stools were sometimes solid and other times loose. I attributed this to the leaves, twigs and cones she ate in the yard. I decided to change the probiotic I used with the dogs. I'd been using FortaFlora. When I switched, the puppy's gassiness was greatly reduced. The bag of PurinaPlan puppy food I had was unopened so I returned it to the store where I purchased it. I have transitioned both dogs to Open Farm dry kibble. Both dogs get lightly cooked turkey, green beans and either a couple of blueberries or a strawberry as a topper to their dry food. Their energy levels are up and they are eating. I'm using a new probiotic with my older dog and will wait a little longer before I introduce it to my puppy.	4	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	45	Pound
EON-569580	2/22/2024 11:04	Purina One Chicken & Rice formula	On Thursday, (b) (6) (b) (6) had an early morning bout of yellow diarrhea, and he would not eat all day. On Friday morning (b) (6)), he was very lethargic and wouldn't get out of bed. After not eating all day and not going to the bathroom, we decided he needed to go to the vet on Saturday morning (b) (6)). His blood tests revealed that he had lost a significant amount of blood and his liver enzymes were extremely elevated. The vet suspected some kind of toxic exposure and had us take (b) (6) to a 24-hour animal hospital about an hour away. They began tests and found severe anemia was being caused by extreme blood cell destruction and non-existent blood production. After 2 blood transfusions (one Saturday and one Sunday night), antibiotics, immune support, liver support and steroids, he was extremely weak and not responding to the medicine or producing blood. Concerned that (b) (6) would not survive another night or blood transfusion, the vet advised our family that a humane euthanasia would enable (b) (6) to pass away peacefully, while surrounded by his loved ones. Our family, myself, husband, and two sons who grew up with (b) (6) were and are completely devastated. (b) (6) was fine on Wednesday ((b) (6)) and dead just days later, on Monday (b) (6) . The veterinary specialists ran many tests to determine what did this, but they could ultimately only say immune-mediated hemolytic anemia took (b) (6) life. Since (b) (6) we had purchased a brand-new bag of 'Purina Pro, Chicken and Rice' on Tuesday evening, which he ate from only ~2-3 times, we became very concerned that this food may have caused this severe reaction and condition leading to our dog's death.	5	Years	Spaniel (unspecified)	Dog	29	Pound

Our yellow Labrador (b) (6) was diagnosed with copper associated hepatitis after a liver biopsy was completed in November 2022 finding high levels of copper in her liver. Our dog has suffered from this and it has significantly negatively affected her over the past year as the medication to take the copper out of her liver has made her incredibly nauseous and the first nausea medication made her involuntarily urinate and dedicate and the second nausea medication was extremely expensive and made her excessively drool and not feel well. Excess copper in her commercial dog food overdosed her with copper. I implore the FDA to take immediate corrective action to limit copper in commercial dog food so this does not happen to other dogs. We are now feeding our dog a board certified nutricianist home made diet that we paid 350 dollars for to try and further reduce her copper as her liver enzymes have continued to rise after a year of feeding her prescription royal canine low copper hepatic support. The copper overdose from commercial dog food has given her chronic hepatitis and inflammation of her liver. Her liver is now smaller and her quality of life has been negatively affected with the medications she now has to take and how it makes her feel. The cost over the past 16 months has been incredible not to mention the pain and suffering of our dog and emotion pain in has caused my spouse and myself. I would like the FDA to take corrective action to lower the maximum copper concentration in all commercial dog food to stop this from happening to all dogs in the future. She is exclusively feed this dog food and nothing else. In the past few weeks, she began sniffing the food upon me giving it to her like there was something wrong with it. Then, she would leave it sitting there until she was too hungry not to eat it. I thought she was being picky because she is the only puppy, and the other two senior dogs get fed something else. I figured she wanted their food instead. However, as time went on, she began having digestive problems. She is perfectly potty trained at 10 months old, but she began having accidents in the house. Her stool was lose. Then, she started having diarrhea and eventually vomiting. In between instances, I would give her pumpkin. This would settle her stomach, but as soon as, I went back to only the dog food her digestive problems would resume. Soon I received a new shipment of dog food. I figured something was wrong with that batch of food. So I opened the new bag and fed her only from the new bag. The issues continued even with the new food. She would sniff it, look at me, and refuse to eat it until she was too hungry to oppose. I decided it was time to stop feeding her this dog food. It was not her being picky, especially since she had no issue with the food for months. Once I stopped, I started looking on the internet to see if other people have been experiencing issues. EON-569190	2/18/2024 20:32	Purina One Natural Dog food for hip and joint care plus joint	(b) (6) was a very active dog, we ran out of her regular dog food. And it would've taken a while for her regular dog food to get delivered. Well, the day before my kids were playing w her, she was running around the yard and everything. Well we to get her some dog food from Dollar General, well they had a sale on the app for the dog food & you get the treats free. So that night we fed her the Purina dog food. Well the next day, she wasn't her usual self, my daughter went to feed her again that morning and to make sure she still had water out there. Well my daughter came back in and stated she wasn't her usual self, because usually you call her she'll run to you. She was in her home. Well, my fiancé checked on her and said she was barely breathing. By time I went out there she was dead. She was healthy, fit, and very active. She just went to the vet a few months ago she had no issues. The only thing that had changed was the dog food. So I looked up Purina and I seen the reports and was told to report here. My dog is dead. I received (b) (6) last year for Valentines Day & now she's gone.	1	Years	Chihuahua	Dog	35	Pound

EON-569189	2/18/2024 20:28	Milo's Kitchen Homestyle Dog Treats Chicken Jerky Recipe.	My boyfriend bought dog treats at a Tractor Supply Store after they gave my dog a sample. After we got home & after giving my dog several more treats, I read the label & discovered that the treats contained garlic powder & onion extract - both of which are NOT supposed to be fed to dogs as it is toxic to their liver. It doesn't kill immediately but can destroy the liver & eventually kill the dog according to info on the internet AND according to my vet. My boyfriend contacted Tractor Supply & asked them to remove the product from their shelves. I contacted the manufacturer - JM Smucker & requested that they remove the garlic & onion from their product. They responded that it's small amounts approved by the FDA. So I am contacting the FDA to demand that you ban garlic & onion IN ANY AMOUNTS IN DOG FOOD OR TREATS. It should not be allowed & no company should be able to say it's FDA approved.
EON-569184	2/18/2024 18:48	Purina Pro Plan Puppy Chicken and Rice Formula	We had just bought a new bag of purina puppy pro plan food after our pup had been on it for over 6 months. We noticed that the coloration of the kibble looked different than the last batch but thought nothing of it. Our pup vomitted bile multiple times consecutive days and then we later found that other dog parents were having the same issue with the same brand/type of food. We've stopped feeding our dog this food since and the vomitting had not happened ever again. We changed nothing else other than the kibble, which leads us to believe that it was the kibble causing this issue.	11	Months	Retriever - Golden	Dog	23	Pound

EON-569138	2/17/2024 18:04	Purina Pro Plan Adult 7+ Shredded Blend Chicken and Rice Formula	Had been feeding (b) (6) Purina Pro Plan food for years. However, in November we noticed he was no longer interested in eating his food. In October he had a vomitting issue and was losing weight after not wanting to eat his food and vomitting when he did. This cleared up with recommendations from our vet. In December, he started to have diarrhea and vomiting. We added a bland diet of rice and chicken to his dry dog food. He would only eat the chicken and rice and would put as much of the dry food on the floor. His vomitting and diarrhea cleared up after the vet put him on medication. Just about 4 weeks after that spell he had another spell of diarrhea and vomitting. Our vet put him on long term use of a anti-diarrhea medication. I was looking at switching our other dogs food and was planning on that being Purina Pro Plan. After reading recent comments I became concerned that (b) (6) symptoms were due to his food. We switched to a different brand of dry food and he is excited to eat it and has not had any vomitting or diarrhea.	13	Years	American Pit Bull Terrier	Dog	48	Pound

I switched back because they were refusing the kibble) the next day I gave them each 1/2 can mixed with the kibble to transition. Again, they were hesitant to eat. Within 10 minutes of eating they both vomited again. Then over the next few hours, they both had several urine accidents in the house- they looked completely overwhelmed and it was as if they didn't realize they were about to go to the bathroom. Our larger dog, (b) (6) never has accidents and uses a bell to ask to go out. He never rang the bell, and both dogs were with me during several of their urine accidents. EON-569091	2/16/2024 21:24	Purina Pro Plan - Sport - all agest 30/20	We purchased a new bag of Purina High Protein blend about a month ago after we were running low from Petco (as we normally do). We finished that bag the last week of January, and we started up the new bag around that same point. For reference, our dog is a high energy, highly athletic border collie. We've had a few incidents over the years of her having a sensitive stomach, so we know how to respond if her situation doesn't improve (she had giardia as a puppy). Tuesday 1/30, I came home to diarrhea all over the house (nothing too out of the normal as far as her stool consistency went that'd cause concern), which was weird because there were no signs that morning (we go to the park every morning) or the day before. She continued with that food but refused to eat it. She continued having problems, but the consistency wasn't unusual. That weekend, the consistency changed to essentially straight liquid that was also seemed like there was mucus as well. We switched her diet to strictly chicken and rice. Over the next few days, it didn't improve much, but she wasn't pooping as much so it wasn't as much of a concern. I had to travel out of town for a hobby 2/8-2-11. As we drove, she ended up pooping diarrhea all over me as we drove. This was the start of a horrible trip. It wasn't bloody or anything, but definitely lots of mucus. Friday, she started pooping straight blood. There was no stool at all. It was only blood. We took her straight to the vet with a sample they could run. They ran lots of tests and there was nothing out of the ordinary. They sent us home with some probiotics. We used those religiously, and we were finally able to pull her off Chicken and Rice back to the normal food + probiotics. Well, I came home today to more diarrhea. That's when I searched her dog food only to find mountains of recent complaints. There's no way this dog food can continue to be sold. There's definitely some issue with this most recent batch. I will be dealing with Purina to have them reimburse our vet bills. I didn't notice this until I read the vet report - she was also running a fever when she was in at the vet as well.	3.8	Years	Collie - Border	Dog	36	Pound

The results are not back yet. Unfortunately, I do not have the lot number because as soon as I got home last night, I emptied the Purina bag into the empty food bin and put the bag out with the trash which was picked up around 5am today. My husband and I believe these adverse events have been caused by the Pro Plan dog food. I obviously have an entire bin of dog food which I would be happy to send you a sample for testing. I will be reporting this adverse event to the FDA as well. My dog is an indoor dog and has to be taken out on a leash since there is no fence. He did not eat anything else. My other two dogs eat a different brand of dog food so therefore are completely fine. My dog also does NOT go to dog parks or interact with dogs outside of our other two because he is dog aggressive.	15	Months	Spaniel - Springer English	Dog	43	Pound

EON-567073	2/15/2024 13:11	Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach	(b) (6) was a normal happy, spunky dog last Thursday morning (2/8/24). About 10am she went into her kennel with a treat like she does every Thursday so I could go into the office for a few hours. I returned home a little before 430pm and she was nearly passed out, breathing was very labored, she had thrown up and soiled the kennel repeatedly, and she she couldn't even stand up. I carried her outside and she tried to stand and pee and then collapsed and laid on the ground. I was already on the phone with the vet who said they would be closed before I could get there, and they gave me a list of emergency vet locations to try. Finally found one nearly an hour away that could see her, so I loaded her up and left. Upon arrival, they did an ultrasound and some other tests and determined that her heart was now in a non-normal rhythm and she had lost so much oxygen that other organs and her brain had been impacted. They recommended that we end her suffering and put her down and we signed cremation papers. It was the next day that I had learned that many other pets had gone through something similar and there's a good possibility that the new bag of food had some impact on her organs failing.	10.5	Years	Retriever (unspecified)	Dog	48	Pound

I took my dog to the vet because she was vomiting and had diarrhea. Eventually they did a scan and found she had a mass on her liver. They told me not to give her foods containing copper. I did my research and found that copper causes liver damage and that the AAFCO has stopped monitoring the amount of copper manufacturers can safely put in dog food. Removed food completely after finding two rock hard pieces of kibble which I could not break with my fingers as other kibble. The lot number was 3176 1082 1144 L09-82 on two remaining packages I gave a 4th package to my friend (b) (6) . He found a similar rock hard lump in that food only larger. The lot number from this same bundle only differed by one digit and it is as follows: 3176 1082 1145 L09-82. I believe my package, since discarded, was one of those lot numbers. We guess or theorize that moisture got involved in the production process of that lot and caused the rock hard clumping

EON-565409	2/14/2024 8:52	IAMs Proactive Health Salmon Indoor	(b) (6) normal food is IAM's indoor cat Salmon food, which is typically one of the only food he likes. He's always had a sensitive stomach, but he was began to throw up 3-4 times a day for four days in a row, which is extremely unusual for him, and neither he nor our other cat was interested in their food any longer. On the third and fourth day, his vomit began getting tinges of pink in it, and was only bile and liquid and no longer had any food left in it. Finally, we tried switching to a different brand of cat food, and both of our cats instantly started eating it like crazy despite not eating any of the other food, and he hasn't vomitted yet today. This makes us suspect that there was something in the other brand that was causing a bad batch.	2	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	10	Pound

EON-565407	2/14/2024 8:52	Purina Pro Plan Puppy Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon and Rice Dry Food	We have been feeding (b) (6) the Purina Pro Plan Salmon and Rice blend of dry puppy food since he was around 16 weeks old. He was used to this food and was eating it fine until we opened a new bag of dog food. Upon opening a new bag of dog food, he stopped eating his kibble and began going on multiple-day hunger strikes. After 3 or 4 days, he would finally eat the food but would experience GI upset (diarrhea) and significant issues with gas and bloating. At first, we thought maybe he was just being picky, and the hunger strikes were causing his problems. About halfway through this bag of dog food, he began vomiting and became incredibly ill and weak. We took him to the vet, who ran many tests and took X-rays to ensure no other issues or bowel obstruction were present. Our vet told us they were unsure what was causing the illness but we should take him home and feed him plain white rice with some wet dog food for a few days while he recovers. (b) (6) health significantly improved over the next 7-10 days while on the mix of rice and wet dog food. About 10 day after our visit to the vet we began feeding Remy the Purina Pro Plan Salmon and Rice Dry Puppy Food. He went back to being on hunger strikes and again after about 4 days he finally caved in and ate the food and instantly began vomiting again. This time we did not take him to the vet but we did put him back on the mix of rice and wet dog food again and he began to recover. We knew then that the Pro Plan kibble was making him ill. We have since switch him to Natural Balance Salmon and Rice Dry Dog Food and have had no issues since the switch. (b) (6) is now back to eating eagerly and normally and his GI issues have disappeared.	10	Months	Other Canine/dog	Dog	24	Pound

EON-565404	2/14/2024 8:52	Royal Canin Care Digestive Loaf in sauce.	Note: This is the THIRD ((b) (6)) of four reports. It is important because they are related. 3 of our 4 cats got extremely sick eating Royal Canine Care Digestive canned cat food. The fourth cat got mildly ill. The fourth cat was the only cat eating a different cat food and only once in a while ate the left-over portions or crumbs from Care Digestive left on the other cat's plates who got extremely ill. The first cat, (b) (6) was first reported on the FDA report 383355, "Initial Report Information" ISCR 2153152. The "Second Report and Information" was FDA report 383377, ICSR 2153155, cats name (b) (6) . This THIRD report is for (b) (6) . (b) (6) is an indoor cat. (b) (6) diet was Primarily Royal Canin Care Digestive Loaf in Sauce canned food. On 1-28-23 (b) (6) ate a small portion of the food we gave her. We didn't think too much about this because she can be a picky eater. So on Fri. 1-29-23 when she didn't want to eat we began to think she too was getting sick like the other cats, (b) (6) and (b) (6) . By 1-30-23 (b) (6) wasn't eating or drinking at all. She didn't eat or drink Sun. 12-31-23 and Mon. 1-1-24. We took her to the vet on Tues. 1-2-2024. She was hydrated and sent home with prescription of Cerenia. When we got home from the vet, (b) (6) appeared to collapsed on the floor and laid on her side not responding for a few minutes. We picked her-up and held her for a while. After an hour or so we gave her Cerenia and she drank some tuna water, and a small amount of food. We tried Mirataz as well. Wed. 1-3-24 she vomited a couple different times. She had diarrhea and tried to poop about every 20 minutes but nothing came out. We got Proviable-Forte probiotics in her. Eventually, we nursed the different foods, tuna water, regular water bit-by-bit down her. Eventually, she gained her strength. (b) (6) is now eating Hill's Digestive Care with Chicken. It took to almost 1-12-24 before she could eat without an occasional vomit or diarrhea.	13	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	9	Pound
EON-565403	2/14/2024 8:52	Royal Canin Care Digestive Loaf in sauce.	We had been feeding (b) (6) the following for last 5 years: Royal Canin Care Weight Loaf in Sauce (canned) and Royal Canin Care Digestive Loaf in Sauce with no problems. On the 12-26-23, 5 p.m. feeding, we opened a new can from a NEW CASE of Royal Canin Care Digestive and fed 1/4 can to (b) (6) (along with 2 other cats reported on different report) along with 1/4 of can of Royal Canin Care Weight. The Care Weight food was from a case that we had already been feeding (b) (6) and 1 other cat with no negative reactions. The morning of 12-27-23, (b) (6) refused to eat her food. Her behavior was like she was scared of the food. She stopped eating and drinking water the entire day of 12-27-23. On the morning of 12-28-23, (b) (6) was still refusing to eat or drink, so I took her to the Vet. They examined her, completed a full battery of tests including ultra-sound, blood work and found no abnormalities. Before leaving they hydrated her and prescribed Mirtazapine transdermal ointment (Mirataz). We returned home, applied Mirataz at 4 p.m. and at 5 p.m. she ate small amount of Friskies canned and few dried kibbles of Royal Canin for Sensitive Stomach. Morning of 12-28-23, she had not urinated or had not passed a B.M. and would not eat. Mid-morning of 12-28-23, (b) (6) vomited what looked like all the food she had eaten the evening before on 12-27-23. Due to the long New Year's week-end, the vet recommended we take (b) (6) to Emergency Hospital. After waiting 8 hours, they examined (b) (6) and found nothing to cause (b) (6) to not eat, drink or vomit. EM also hospital took a specialized detailed X-rays that the regular vet couldn't provide. Before discharging her on the early morning of 12-29-23, the emergency hosp. hydrated (b) (6) and gave her two injections-one fore nausea, the other for pain. When we got home the EM hospital, (b) (6) hid to find a dark sleeping place. Next day, Sat.,12-30-23, (b) (6) slept in lowest level in the dark and refused to move all day, except to have one-large pee. Next day, Sun. 12-31-23, (b) (6) was sick isolating herself to sleep all day on 12-31-23. She did lick at a tablespoon of Friskie tuna, no pee or B.M. today. On Mon., 1-1-24 she licked at some tuna water, still would not eat anything we placed in front of her. She did not isolate herself today. Tues.,1-2-24, (b) (6) ate a tablespoon of food that we had added a little water to in her a.m. and p.m. meals. She had a pee and I got a B.M. sample to take to vet tomorrow. (b) (6) remained somewhat inactive and still not enthusiastic about eating or drinking. On Wed., 1-3-24 went to regular vet. No worms in stool sample. (b) (6) ate morning meal, and I provided 100mg Gabapentin for 20 min. ride to vet due to stress, which she normally is provided for this ride. The next several days, we slowly changed her diet to Hill's Savory Chicken Entre (Adult 7+) and Hills Digestive Care with Chicken. For a few days we had to add Proviable-Forte Probiotics due to loose stools.	8.5	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	15.8	Pound

She had slight diarrhea and her appetite was diminished. On January 3, she began vomiting food and bile multiple times throughout the day and did not eat for the next 1.5 days. Her 35 lb bag of dog food was half eaten so my husband suggested we try a new bag. On January 5, I purchased a new 5lb bag from Petco and gave her just 1/2 cup along with chicken. I have given this food to my dog on three occasions from this new bag, and every time she has gotten liquid diarrhea. After the first time giving her this food and her getting diarrhea, I paused a day, thinking maybe she was just sick. The next day she was fine. However, I gave this food to her two days later and she proceeded to again have diarrhea again. I withheld the food for a week, giving her only the canned version. During that week, she had NO issues. But as soon as I gave the dry version from this bag to her again, she had diarrhea once again. I am not talking about mushy consistency diarrhea. Discussed itching and vet recommended we try Purina Pro Plan. salmon and rice formula. Prior to that he had been constantly on Nutri Source Element Heirloom grains for over 5 years. Blood tests came back normal on 2/6. Very active dog and we walk for 45 minutes daily. Began transitioning him from NutriSource to Purina Pro Plan with 25% Purina and 75% Nutri, together with normal diet of well cooked ground beef and chopped carrots (same lot and Packaging), as well as nNorwegian Salmon OilNext day 2/7 increased to 35%P to 65%N and began to be lethargic and developed limp tail, but appetite good. On 2/8 began feeding 50%N to 50%P. Extremely lethargic, constipated, and sleepy started having trouble walking up stairs and jumping. On 2/9 stayed at 50-50 ratio with vegetables and cooked ground beef. Ate, trouble walking and slept all day. On 2/10 upped ratio to 75%-25%, appetite good, took to park and stool was small and hard. On 2/11 switched back to beef and rice and began to improve within 24 hours, but still limp tail and constipated. Back to walking but cries went trying to poop.. EON-564933	2/13/2024 9:40	Natural Balance Limited Ingredient Lamb and Brown Rice Small Breed	Received a new bag of Natural Balance Lamb and Brown Rice Small breed dry dog food from Chewy.com. This is the diet both dogs were consuming and had been for more than six months. Noticed when I opened the bag it smelled different than previous batch- not rancid but maybe like a chemical smell. On the first feeding one dog walked away from her bowl initially (which never happens) but both dogs ended up eating it. During the day the dog that did not initially refuse the food vomited three times. At dinner neither dog would eat the food(which really NEVER happens.) At that point I took it away and fed some canned food we had in the pantry and dogs seem ok.

EON-564927	2/13/2024 9:12	Purina Pro Plan Adult 7+ Bright mind Turkey & Brown Rice Entree.	In July 2023 I noticed (b) (6) was no longer wanting to eat his dry dog food (Iams Senior) so I ordered a food topper for him to mix in. I ordered Purina Pro Plan Turkey & Brown Rice Entree from Amazon. Around January 13th he started experiencing symptoms. Vomiting and diarrhea continued for two days and he stopped eating and drinking. On the 3rd day, he had an enormous amount of blood and bloody diarrhea and couldn't walk due to being so weak. I immediately took him to the vet and he stayed at the animal hospital for two days. The vet thought he had worms but his fecal sample came back negative; the only explanation he had was that (b) (6) might have a bacterial infection in his intestines so he prescribed antibiotics. (b) (6) started to get better and started eating again. Many people have had their pets die from Purina Pro Plan- i wish i had known this. He's been a very healthy dog for most of his life and has always been fed Iams. I believe 100% it was the food that made him so sick and I want to prevent other people from going through this!	14	Years	Shepherd Dog - Australian	Dog	50	Pound

When I opened a can from the new case, I noticed a black substance on the lid. I then opened another can from the same case. I called Hills and the said the black substance could be from a reaction of some of the ingredients, Chicken and egg, and it was fine to feed it to our dog. I told the representative we have been using this particular dog food for over 2 years and have never had this problem. I refuse to feed it to my dog. When I hung up the phone with Hills, I opened the rest of the cans in the case and the lids were all the same, some worse than others. I took a picture of all of them together and the lot # / expiration date on the bottom of one of the cans since they all came from the same lot and all had the same expiration date on them. He was prescribed several medications for about a week. The veterinarian also put him on a special diet. The food was Hill's Prescription Diet C/D. He started to have constant vomitting and diarrhea daily. On 12/27 We took him back to (b) (6) for the vomiting and diarrhea it was persistent. They administered a 10mg injection of Cerenia and gave us a probiotic to administer at home (FortiFlora Feline) for one week or until the symptoms subsided. He was on the probiotic for a week, we stopped because the diarrhea and vomitting subsided. A few days later the diarrhea started again, we started giving him the probiotic again per the Vets instructions but that did not stop the diarrhea. After a few more days of trying the probiotic again which did not help we changed his diet again to another food reccommended by the vet, Royal Canin SO. He remains on that diet and we are not seeing as of yet any episodes of vomiting or diarrhea.	3	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	16	Pound

EON-564875	2/12/2024 18:44	Fancy Feast Chicken Feast Classic Pate Canned Wet Food	This is what was sent to Purina and their third party: My cat is diabetic. I believe he suffered from food poisoning from Fancy Feast chicken pate cans he was fed in early December. In September of 2023 I switched him from Hill"s Science Diet DM canned cat food to Fancy Feast Pate. In the first week of December, I gave him a can of chicken pate,it has a blackened ring around the bottom. None of the other cans that I fed him had that, I smelled it, it didn't smell off and I was in a rush, so I fed him and went on about my day. I was rotating multiple flavors in his food routine, and a couple of days later fed him another can of chicken, this one was not blackened, but it had a tint to it at the bottom. I only let him eat half before I decided to throw it out and give him something else. A few hours later he threw up all the food he had eaten that morning. I then pulled all the chicken cans from his rotation. He didn't eat much that night. The next morning he ate better, but not like usual. That night, Dec 8th, about 30min before I fed him he started heaving and when I got over to him I saw that he was throwing up blood. No food, just a pool of saliva and blood. Of course this was at 6:30pm and all normal vets are closed so I took him to the emergency vet along with a stool sample that he had just produced as well and it smelled awful. They ran bloodwork and it was all normal. They gave him a nausea shot and had me monitor him for 24 hrs. The next morning I took him to his usual vet for more tests, they tested his urine (also normal) and did a physical exam to make sure he wasn't in pain as that is a sign of pancreatitis. He showed no pain throughout the multiple visits. My normal vet asked to have him come in for a full day glucose screening the following Monday and gave me nausea pills to give him every 24hrs so he could keep food down. The glucose screening went fine. At this point there is no obvious reason for the vomiting of blood from 72hrs prior. For the next two weeks, he would not consistently eat his food, he had soft stool, we had to do nausea meds several times to get him to eat. The vet decided to give him an antibiotic since he was still having issues and he had the worst diarrhea I have seen a cat have and I have had inside cats my whole life of 44 years.. After three full weeks, he seems to be fully recovered though I am now paranoid about every can I open. I buy the food by the case. I still have the second case and a few extra cans from the first case. I opened 3 cans from the first case that are all the same Lot, but different runs. All have the tint to it. I have pictures I can send of those.	13	Years	Unknown	Cat	19	Pound

The first cat was found dead on or around (b) (6) . Unsuspecting of the food being a potential cause, we continued feeding the remaining cats twice a day, with the last feeding being the morning of (b) (6) . That evening, my mom was told by family members that an additional four cats had been found dead or dying. My mom also reports having recently cleaned cat vomit containing undigested kibble off the sidewalk. EON-564743	2/11/2024 23:28	Purina One Lamb & Rice	(b) (6) has had the same food essentially his whole life. We opened a new bag of Purina and after the second feeding he was agitated and threw up 4 hours after eating breakfast and again 9 hours after eating breakfast. I fed him dinner regularly not thinking it was the food and he threw up six more times in the next four hours. There were not objects in his vomit, just food and eventually acid/bile. I stopped the food immediately and he has not thrown up since. His poops and pees have been normal aside from less bowel movements since he went a day of vomiting up all his food. I am afraid to find a replacement because it seems many if not all pet foods are contaminated with something right now. EON-564724	2/11/2024 19:56	Purina Pro Plan Select Large Breed Shredded Beef and Rice	On (b) (6) at feeding time (b) (6) refused her bowl of Purina Pro Plan Large Breed shredded beef and rice. She and all of our 3 boxers had been on this food for 4 years at least. This was very strange for her to refuse her food as she was always our best eater. I started to worry, grabbed ahold of her and she was on fire. She was drinking a lot of water. I had some carprofen on hand for her from her surgery in Feb so I gave her some of that to get the fever down. I stayed home the next day, took her to the vet immediately as she was vomiting and her vulva was VERY swollen. I thought perhaps a UTI so I took urine into the vet they said that was normal. They drew blood and gave her Carprofen and Clavamox and sent her home, told us to give her a bland diet. The medications and bland diet were started immediately. She was happy to eat the chicken and pumpkin, took her medication well. By Friday AM she was back to her normal self. Bouncing around, happy, eating well, taking her medications. (b) (6) called me in the afternoon and asked how she was? When I told him she was great he said really? She has no white blood cell count. They are gone-0.6 was her reading. So he said that is weird that she is acting normal, she should not be. So he wanted to see her back on the following Thursday- (b) (6) So she continued on the bland diet he said for Friday and Sat AM, then slowly transition her Sat PM to half a bowl of her normal food and Sun PM a 3/4 bowl of kibble and Sun PM a full bowl of kibble. So we did just that along with her medications. She started to have diarrhea on Saturday PM after her dinner. She was going out more frequently. Drinking a lot more water than normal. Sunday she was ok but not as bouncy as she normally was. Sunday PM we gave her the full bowl of dinner and she ate it. By Sunday evening she was right back to being feverish, lethargic, wouldn't jump up in bed with us. was hiding, not acting herself at all. By Monday AM she was vomiting along with diarrhea. I took her into the vet on Monday. They redrew her bloodwork and her WBC count was even lower-0.45. They diagnosed her as Cancer- no proof of it other than blood work. It was a guess obviously. I was to bring her back and keep my appointment on Thursday (b) (6) and they were going to do full body scans to see what kind of cancer and where it was coming from. She never ate again, refused all food after she ate that Sunday, drank a ton of water. Due to the diarrhea and vomiting the vets told me to stop the antibiotics and carprofen. By (b) (6) she was so bad she could not hold her own head up. But was still trying to drink a ton of water when she could . She was vomiting blood at this point. We took her into the vet to see (b) (6) and we made the very difficult decision to put her down and end her suffering. At that time I did not know anything about the problems with Purina Pro Plan foods. I since have talked to close to 25 other pet parents who have had almost the exact same scenario, their dogs acted the same exact way, feverish, very suddenly, swollen genitalia, low blood counts, be it -RBC's, WBC's, platelets. Many of them were WBC's, then the vomiting and diarrhea, lethargy. (b) (6) perked up the minute I got her off of that nasty food, and started her on a fresh diet.	7	Years	Boxer (German Boxer)	Dog	55	Pound

			She got worse the minute I put her back on the PPP. I truly believe that the high metal content in this food wiped out these dogs bone marrow's ability to continue to produce the proper WBC count. All her other blood counts were normal, which (b) (6) stated he thought was very strange as well. I am so angry at myself that we did not spend the money to have full body scans and x-rays done prior to having her put down, or a necropsy done to get to the bottom of this, so that my little girl did not die in vane. I have another boxer who is 5years old. He is a very healthy, neutered male-big boy 85lbs. Since he was a 1 years old he has gotten PPP shredded beef and rice, per my vets recommendation. Ever since he started on that food he has vomited almost weekly, if not daily. I was told by the vet that he had acid reflux. Now mind you, when he was on Natural balance Bison and Sweet potato he NEVER vomited. It was only until he was put on the PPP that he started with the vomiting. He would eat his food from a slow feed bowl, so not too fast and approx 1hour -3 hours later he would vomit up his entire meal of undigested food, at least weekly, if not more...sometimes daily. I took him into the vet several times for this. I was told he needed to eat twice daily and possibly start him on Omeprazole for acid reflux. If this did not solve the problem they would start testing him for megaesophagus. I started feeding him the poisonous food twice a day, and giving him 20mg of Omeprazole a day and he still vomited. I am an RN myself, did not want to see him go through a bunch of unnecessary tests so I knew he could take Omeprazole twice daily with his size. i started to give him the Omeprazole 20mg twice daily, once with each meal. He finally stopped vomiting his entire meal up. I would just find yellow bile vomited up in his crate occasionally. He was keeping his food down so I took this as an improvement. Since losing (b) (6) we have changed all the dogs to a freeze dried raw diet of - Steve's Real Food. (b) (6) - the youngest boxer gets fresh ingredients added to his bowl. He has not vomited ONCE since we changed his food. He is the healthiest he has EVER been since we changed his food. All his allergy symptoms are gone, no vomiting, has all kinds of energy.
			I unfortunately do not save my bags of food. I was in the habit of bringing the 50lb bag of food home and dumping it in an airtight container with a screw top lid due to living in the country we have mice. I then throw the bag away. I therefore do not have lot#'s or expiration dates, etc. I have sent a sample of the food away for testing. I am still waiting on results. I have another boxer that is 10 years old and he has been riddled with horrific allergies for the past 5 years, since changing foods, his allergies are all gone. Which is amazing as he has Cushings, so for him to improve, it is something else. You will never convince me that Purina does not have a major huge problem with their food and that their food problem did NOT cost me the life of my sweet girl (b) (6) I should mention that this problem with (b) (6) all started shortly after we opened a new bag of PPP that was bought from the Tractor Supply in (b) (6), it was a 50 lb bag. I do have all of her vet blood work if you need to see this. I would be happy to share this with you. I would be happy to speak with anyone on this subject.

I looked at the other purina foods and the manufacture date was over two years ago. One of the bags had a maggot on the outside of the food. I was told this is a purina issue and not a store issue.

EON-564677	2/10/2024 21:16	Fancy Feast canned food seafood salmon and shrimp chicken.	One week prior to his passing, he slept more than usual and was lethargic. We thought it was seasonal due to winter and the reduced sunlight living in the northeast. He started refusing fancy feast pate which he usually loved to eat at mealtimes. He sniffed the food, appeared very turned off by it and walked away. Prior to December 2023 he was perfectly healthy and energetic. A major turning point for (b) (6) health occurred from 1/01/24 and 1/08/24 with ho explanation. His weight was 9.8 pounds November 13, 2023 and reduced to 9.18 pounds on 1/08/24 at 9.18. On this date, his bloodwork showed stage 4 kidney disease. Six months prior, his bloodwork was excellent. It seems unbelievable that this could happen on its own without an environmental influence like his food, canned Fancy Feast which is owned by Purina company.	16	Years	Siamese	Cat	9.18	Pound

They debated that he had a bowel obstruction but after it passed he continued to vomit. We changed his food to royal canin and it stopped. The other cat (b) (6) vomit increased about 3 weeks ago. The vomiting always happens right after eating purina pro plan UR. (b) (6) would refuse to eat the pro plan food and switched to royal canin. Vomiting stopped and he eats his new food since. Since switching from pro plan to royal canin all chronic vomiting that developed 3 months ago have stopped. Note: (b) (6) went to vet and (b) (6) did not. The fact that (b) (6) started and stopped vomiting after food change is what makes me believe (b) (6) vomit was food related and they both suffered GI issues due to food.	7	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	13	Pound

A friend also purchased some at the same time and they were also moldy. If you sort the reviews on Amazon by most recent you can see that every single one of the most recent reviews report moldy products. I have to believe that the seller knows the product was bad, hence the "Overstock Sale." All the containers I received had a lot number of L17873 with a best-before date of 5/24/2028. I don't have the ability to test the mold myself to know if it is of a toxic type or not, but as I'm employed in the livestock feed industry, I am well aware that some types of mold can have very bad health implications for animals. I received shipments on both 2/1 and 2/2/24 of this bad product.

EON-564641	2/10/2024 17:08	Hill's Prescription Diet w/d Multi-Benefit Vegetable & Chicken Stew Canned Dog Food 12.5 oz. Case of 12	I had given (b) (6) a new dog food Fresh Pet Vital last August that was apparently contaminated and after a week caused liver/pancreas/coilitis issues to be reported to you at a later date with all supporting proof. Prior to that event/illness caused by that food she was perfectly healthy no issues. It has been a battle since trying to get her well until first week of December when a tumor was removed from her hing leg her vet started her only on WD wet stew dog food. She has only eaten WD wet stew dog food since that time nothing else. WD wet stew is all she can tolerate now due to the liver/pancreas issues the other food caused. Before starting the WD wet stew her gums were beautiful bubblegum colored pink with no anemia ever in her life. Since the first week of December to present she has only and can only eat WD wet stew. Her new vet discovered her gums are now way to light and looking at blood work done very recently shows anemia. The WD wet stew is clearly not up to nutritional standards causing anemia in dog(s) that can only eat that food and nothing else. I am now going to have to spend even more money for more bloodwork/treatment because of the anemia caused by the WD wet stew that lacks proper nutrition. This "prescription" and far to expensive food that I am starving to feed her as I am disabled is for dogs like her and is supposed to provide all nutritional values. Sadly this is all she can eat now and I have no choice but to keep feeding it to her which will worsen the anemia. PLEASE forced HSD to recall, evaluate, and reformulate to provide adequate nutrition. Regarding the quality issue of the WD wet stew I have been buying and reporting to HSD repeatedly, I was buying the WD wet stew from Chewy first. The food kept coming with black stuff all around the inside of the can lift lid and floating in the food. The food was also yellowish, off in smell, full of water/liquid, hardly any meat. It didn't look right to me and all the food came that way from Chewy. I ran low and bought a case from her vet and I was appalled at the huge difference in the quality as it was brown in color, full of meat, no black contamination on the lid, and hardly any liquid and (b) (6) devoured it. I was furious I had been paying so much for HSD to Chewy for meat that was in no way near the quality of the food I purchased at the vet. All food I purchased from Chewy look just awful even the "replacement" case they sent me. I notified Chewy of the quality/contamination issue over and over and they notified HSD. HSD emailed me and said the lack of quality of the Chewy food was acceptable and common, safe to eat. That was completely unacceptable. I then notified the CEOs of ColPal and HSD to which they just forwarded to c/s who again just blew the quality issue off.	15	Years	Schnauzer - Giant	Dog	136	Pound
			Fast forward I then cancelled with Chewy and started with Petco. The first case from Petco was similar to the vets WD wet stew quality but then the next case...same issue. Yellow in color, black stuff on pull lid and floating in food, hardly any meat, off smell, too much liquid, etc. Again I notified Petco and they said they would investigate it. Nothing was done. So now we are stuck with the same bad quality of what appears to be contaminated food and (b) (6) has no choice but to eat it as that is all she can eat. I am poor and starving to feed her to which the CEO of ColPal and HSD were notified. It is a disgrace that this food is over $4 a can and this bad of quality from Chewy Petco but exceptional quality from vets offices. It is completely unacceptable that this is supposed to be a "prescription" food formulated accurately for dogs that have pancreas/liver issues like (b) (6) being all they can eat and it is not even providing proper nutritional value now causing her anemia to which she has never had. I wonder...in addition to not being of proper nutritional value, is this lack of quality what caused the anemia which (b) (6) has never had in her life?? (b) (6) began to turn her nose at the Chewy bad quality contaminated food. She is doing the same thing with the Petco food. I bought a case from another vet in (b) (6) as her vet was out and I ran low and it was again excellent quality and (b) (6) devoured it.
EON-564520	2/9/2024 7:49	Simply Nourish Lamb and Oatmeal limited ingredient dog food	January 26th I purchased a 30 lb bag of Simply Nourish Lamb and Oatmeal dog food from Petsmart. I slowly introduced it to my dogs by adding more and more to the food they had been on. Tuesday January 30th my 3 year old 60 lb Am Staff had severe diarrhea and threw up once. I went through the protocols of helping a dog with diarrhea and by Saturday Feb 3rd had it cleared up. I switched his food back to the prior food as well which seemed to help. On Monday Feb 5th my almost 9 year old 80 lb boxer/lab came down with the exact same symptoms, he was still on Simply Nourish. I immediately stopped feeding this food. When it first started with my pittie I was not 100% it was the food as he tends to munch on sticks sometimes so I knew outside factors could be at play. But once my boxer/lab came down with the same symptoms I knew it was the food 100%. He does not eat anything other than his food. He's incredibly picky and doesn't even like most table scraps lol, but also hadn't had anything recently. Once switching his food back I was able to have him back to solid stools by yesterday. I do still have a ton of food left over but it'll be going straight into the trash. I did let Petsmart know about this in case others also report this, and emailed the CDC just in case too. Neither has had any shots or medications in months and have no pre-existing conditions.	3	Years	Terrier - Bull - Staffordshire	Dog	60	Pound

EON-564517	2/9/2024 7:48	Acana Grasslands with duck free-range chicken and eggs- all life stages	Our cats have been on Acana Grasslands fairly consistently for years and previously done well. Then since January the cats started rapidly losing muscle mass and bones began protruding while their seemingly full stomachs remained the same size. The older cat went from sometimes puking once a month to puking several times a week, with fewer and fewer days puke-free. Both cats poop began to be more runny, yellow, and foul smelling and got tinges of blood in their stool. Both cats are fully indoor cats and were dewormed by their veterinarian several months ago, so parasite would be super unlikely. No recent vaccines in the past few months. They don't get flea treatments and have not had fleas where we live currently. Both cats were also alarmingly lethargic, even the usually hyper 3 year old cat, (b) (6) (b) (6) (female age 7) began puking excessively after eating. She threw up all food and bile and eventually just threw up clear gelatinous vomit continuously. We made an emergency vet visit and after all the testing of blood and a stool sample we brought in they found no obvious cause. She got a steroid and anti-nausea shot and we were told to switch foods. Within 24 hours of switching to a more reputable brand the sick 3 year old cat got all of her kitten like energy back at once. Their poop became a healthy brown color and no longer had blood. The sicker cat that saw the vet, (b) (6) also did shockingly well with the sudden food change and did not have a single other puking incident (the anti-nausea shot wears off after 24 hours). I am still hopeful our cats will gain back the muscle lost in time, but all other bad symptoms of eating Acana Grasslands kibble went away almost immediately upon discontinuing its use. I reached out to Acana and they only offered a free bag voucher and not to repay the vet bills or to test our bag of kibble to see if it has any faults. They allegedly did a quick internal investigation and found nothing wrong, but I don't trust their internal investigation as they didn't even take a sample of our bag. Our bag was purchased at Petco and has been stored in its original bag in our kitchen and with the original bag within an airtight storage bin. Temperature average of our home has been 71 degrees Fahrenheit. It is not expired. The cats seemed to be going downhill in muscle and energy in December also on an Acana Grasslands bag, but the new January bag really pushed their bodies over the edge. The new food we are on has the same proteins so I do not suspect a meat allergy of any sort as our cats are now thriving again.	7	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	9	Pound
			Please note bags we bought previous to this were original recipe and at least the last two Acana bags were the same brand and flavors, but the bag had a "new look" which usually indicates some recipe changes as well. I am not sure what they changed, but I suspect the ingredients used or supplier for their product was tainted with something that made our cat extremely ill. I found others on an online cat feeding group that also had dogs and cats getting sick since January on Acana food as well and I do not believe this is a singular incident. I am fully prepared to send in a sample for testing and I kept the bag safely stored since the incident. Our January bag was purchased 3 days before our cat grew deathly ill and needed to be brought to the vet. The vomiting started on the 15th of January 2024 and we took her to the vet the next morning after she showed no improvement and kept vomiting. We switched foods the same day as the veterinarian suggested.

The bag was a bit over half full at the time. I noticed huge chunks of mold in the food. I texted my husband a picture, told him to get a new bag and threw that moldy bag away. In looking back at bank records, the bag was purchased at Petsmart ((b) (6)) either on November 24th or December 16th. (We bought 2 kinds of food, I don't know which purchase this bag was). About two weeks later, we noticed (b) (6) was lame in his back leg. The vet noted that he had lost 10 lbs (concerning, as a growing puppy). Over the next two days he developed symptoms of a UTI. From there, (b) (6) internal medicine team noted a mottled spleen and swollen lymph nodes. In all, (b) (6) was hospitalized for 2 weeks (with one small break home in the middle). By the end, he was unable to walk, had a 105 fever for days, swollen limbs, significant weight loss and extreme lethargy. His test results came back positive for Aspergillus, which is extraordinarily rare in our area. On further research, we think the moldy food may have been contaminated. EON-562620	2/8/2024 9:16	ORIJEN Amazing Grains Regional Red Dry Dog Food 22.5-lb bag	My dog died a sudden and tragic death on (b) (6) . The emergency vet at the hospital where she was treated and passed away stated her lab results show poisoning/contaminants as a result of food that led to kidney failure, leading her to have an overworked heart and seizure. My boyfriend and I were there to witness it all, including all 10 times they performed CPR to attempt to save her. We are devastated at the loss of our barely 1.5 year old perfectly healthy pup. We originally reached out to Chewy directly when she began exhibiting symptoms of food poisoning from the bag of Orijen Regional Red shipped from Chewy. She has eaten Orijen for as long as we've had her since she was a month old. We did not know, however, that Orijen was acquired by Mars from Champion and clearly began cutting corners to cut costs. Our vet shared they are experiencing an influx of pets facing the same fate. When she began exhibiting the symptoms we immediately reached out to Chewy and Orijen to report this. She ate this bag from 1/9-1/26 when we put her on a boiled rice and chicken cleanse. As we stored her food in an airtight container, we had already tossed the bag and did not have the lot info to report fully. I was offered a reimbursement by Chewy if I shipped back the contaminated food in any alternate packaging and was given a promo code for 10% off my next order which I placed the same day. I never did send the contaminated food back and I never got to feed my dog her new food (I planned to switch her to Bixbi as I learned of all the reports). Friday (b) (6) she began exhibiting symptoms of vomiting and nausea, but we assumed it was an after-effect of the Orijen food. We didn't know she was already experiencing kidney failure due to eating said contaminated food for almost 2 weeks. We called for a mobile vet Sunday and he urged us to not reconsider and immediately rush her to the ER. She entered the ER on Sunday and passed (b) (6) . We left the emergency vet hospital without our pet and with debt. We were billed almost $4,000 for our dog's services. I plan to properly report this to the authorities of agriculture and food for my state (b) (6) as well as properly flag this to Chewy, Orijen, Champion and Mars. My pup was eating Regional Red though I cannot confirm the lot information. We are devastated, now emotionally and financially in distress and the worst part is we lost our pup a decade before we ever imagined this possibility.	17	Months	American Pit Bull Terrier	Dog	61	Pound

EON-562612	2/8/2024 9:16	Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice	We had opened a new bag of food and (b) (6) had instant liquid diarrhea within an hour. Unbeknownst to us that it could be the food, we went through three rounds of chicken and rice and then when we started introducing the food again, the diarrhea came instantly back. We took (b) (6) to the emergency vet, and they did the typical care recommendations for treating diarrhea. My friend gave us some of her Hills prescription food to try and (b) (6) diarrhea was gone in 24 hours. It proved the Purina Pro Plan food was bad.	1	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	45	Pound

EON-562609	2/8/2024 9:16	Classic Healthy Grains Real Lamb + Brown Rice Recipe with Ancient Grains	Our dog (7yo female mini-goldendoodle) had been eating Merrick "Classic Healthy Grains Real Lamb + Brown Rice" Dry Dog Food for 4+ years. Starting a few weeks ago, she started just grazing then flat out refused to eat the food... very unlike her. We originally thought she got a bad batch of food, so we purchased another bag from a different retailer. Same problem. Through discussions with her vet, temporarily switching to prescription wet dog food (that she devoured), and hours of research, we realized that Merrick changed the formula / ingredients of their food without ANY disclosure. Infact, Merrick's website (Chewy, Amazon, Petco, PetSmart, etc.) all list the original recipe. It appears that they replaced "Salmon Meal" (2nd ingredient) with "Chicken Meal", which was NOT originally in the original recipe. As you know, this can have significant ramification to pets. I feel as though such a major change should require some sort of disclosure (e.g. "New Formula") on the bag and on their website to bring the change to owners' attention. Instead, they are still misleading consumers. I don't think there's a coincidence that 1) they replaced an expensive ingredient with a cheaper one, and 2) that they purposely not disclosing that information... their website continues to list the old ingredients. EON-562608	2/8/2024 9:16	Purina Dog Chow: Complete Adult Chicken Flavor	We have consistently fed our dogs a higher-end kibble from Hill Science Diet for easy digestion and better weight management. However, when we need to stretch a bag to the next paycheck, we would mix in a cup of Purina Dog Chow to get us through. For weeks on and off of this stuff, not even fully switching their diet or kibble, and not even letting them get into anything else crazy, my girlfriend and I have witnessed our puppies become sick and deteriorate due to the cheap quality of ingredients in Purina food. The first time that we swapped them to a mixed kibble diet, they were ok for 1 or 2 meals. Slowly at day 2 and 3, just before we could swap them back to their normal food (Hill Science) fully again, they would become extremely lethargic, constant diarrhea, vomiting in one pups case, and both with anal bleeding while pooping. At first I thought it was the tap water we were giving the dogs, so I swapped them to distilled water (which we continue to only give them to this day just in case it was for that reason) and the problem still persisted. Come pay day I was able to purchase a new bag of their normal food and they suddenly became just fine practically overnight. I thought it could be purina, with the change in diet, but didn't want to jump to conclusions. Until the second time I needed to make a bag stretch and the symptoms came up again: diarrhea, lethargic and sickly dogs, no longer vomiting for the one dog, and anal bleeding while pooping for both. So I set up a vet appointment to see what's going on, and everything came back normal from their scans and imaging, in fact the only thing to seem troubling was that my dogs didn't fight being checked like they normally do with anxiety for the vet. Again, symptoms faded after going back strictly to their normal diet. Come this third time now, it's been 2 days and tomorrow they will be back to their normal diet, low and behold, they both are having diarrhea, were lethargic all day yesterday, anal bleeding every time they go out, thankfully no vomiting from our one dog (although she is being monitored throughout the day). My simple resolution to this has been boiled chicken and rice instead of givin them anything as dangerous as the Purina food has been to them. I will and am willing to do anything to avoid the stuff now. It needs to be fixed. With how much I've seen from other friends and family about their experience with the brand as well, it's never positive.	7	Months	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	60	Pound

EON-562539	2/7/2024 13:04	Victor Purpose Grain Free Hero Canine	Our dog (b) (6) was spitting up a bit at first and then he stopped eating his kibble and eventually started vomiting. The symptoms were over a 2-3 week period. He was diagnosed with hypothyroid and began medication. He was better for a couple of weeks and then started vomiting again. We changed his diet 3-4 times and always saw some initial improvement until symptoms returned. Over the course of 6 months (b) (6) symptoms would go up and down. He was then hospitalized due to excessive diarrhea and vomiting. We were then informed his blood ph was at a dangerously low level. (b) (6) was euthanized due to his lack of desire to eat and take his medication, and his ph being so low that he required 6 antacids a day for the bicarbonate. EON-562515	2/7/2024 8:20	Diamond Naturals Adult Dog Lamb Meal and Rice Formula	I have been feeding my dog (b) (6) Diamond Naturals Lamb Meal and Rice for 7 years. I purchased a 20 lb bag of Diamond Naturals Lamb Meal and Rice. My dog began chronically vomiting despite being in excellent health. I shared my concerns with the vet that it could be her food since we had just opened a new bag and nothing else in her routine had changed. She wanted us to continue our dog on the food since she is on the formula for a sensitive stomach. Despite my instincts, I continued to feed (b) (6) the food while administering pepcid per the vets request. On January 31st my dogs vomiting had still not ceased and she began to violently shiver. Though no recalls have been placed on the food, there are numerous one star reviews on Chewy (were I purchased the product online) saying it is making their dog sick. There are small feed retailers online stating it has been recalled due to salmonella. Upon discovering this I discontinued the food and she has stopped vomiting.	8	Years	Pit Bull	Dog	59	Pound

EON-562506	2/7/2024 8:12	Venture Rabbit Meal & Pumpkin	About a month ago my dogs both kept getting liquid poop and stomach issues with their taste of the wild food, and this was before other people said anything about their dogs having issues. Once I saw there were other people having issues I decided to switch my dogs to Venture Rabbit meal and pumkin by earthborn. I did the slow transition and a few days in a saw their poop was darker than usual. I thought it was due to the color of the dog food. A day or two more the dogs start having pooping issues. They were pooping massive amount of crap, and then it turned into massive amounts of liquid poop. I thought okay maybe my one dog the lab mix had an allergy thing like usual so I pulled her off, and kept (b) (6) on it. the next day or two he pooped blood. I thought it was due to straining. That next morning he was fully pooping blood and it was all over his butt. I pulled him off the food and gave him a rice based diet for two days, and each day it was less and less blood in his poop. My other dog did have some slimy blood in her stool but went away when I pulled her off of it. He is now transitioning onto the taste of the wild food and he is doing better. I noticed during this time he was itchy, and within a few days he was missing a patch of hair. I dont think it was an allergic reaction because both dogs went through this.I did notice he lost weight and was not himself. EON-562281	2/6/2024 12:12	Purina Cat Chow Naturals with added vitamins minerals & nutrients.	There are allegations against Purina, finding parasites in their dry food. I unknowingly bought and fed my cats Purina dry food in late 2023. Shortly after my cats developed worms. I wasn't aware of the allegations until later of this year. Both my cats became lethargic, bloated, and had worms in their stools. They are strictly indoor cats so I couldn't find the cause for a while. After a large vet bill and switching their food not one worm has been found. In fact the day I stopped feeding my cats Purina they felt so much better. The amount of stress and worry this has caused was overwhelming. I was in fear my cats would need serious medical attention. I am not accusing Purina because I do not have proof of parasites in the food. However with my health cats declining during that time and allegations from other pet owners, I am suspicious and concerned that Purina is harmful to pets. Then she started having cluster seizures on 1/21/2024. Then she had break through seizures after Receiving help on 1/28/24 and another break through 2/4/24 . I have spent hundreds of dollars maybe thousands already trying to figure out what is wrong with her as far as testing. We've done a bio test labs. She has an MRI scheduled and so far everything that has been completed has come back normal. The only thing I have not been able to do is get her food tested Which I have kept in case we could so far no one has been able to guide us in the right direction in order to get that to happen. I've already contacted Purina which stated this was just a rumor, but I also have a coworker who has a pet also on the same food who just started having seizures yesterday . This cannot be a coincidence or just a rumor . My puppy had a clean bill of health until she started this food. My dog is in good health, 30lbs. and he is of normal weight for his size and breed. I gave him 2 traingles from this "pie" as recommended on the packaging. My dog was puking for the next 3 nights in a row. I took him in and ran all tests including bloodwork, stool sample and urine sample. The bloodwork came back and he was diagnosed with pancreatitis. I reached out to the company to make them aware and they told me the other negative reviews of sick dogs from that product were just an attack on their company and that they tested the product for anything harmful, and it came back clear resulting in the FDA removing it off of the recall list. However, it is evident that dogs are still getting sick, and very sick at that. I have found numerous reviews at different time periods. I feel this food poses a hazardous risk to dogs health and should be removed immediately. I would like to preface again that I only provided the recommended serving size to my animal. I have also called Pet Smart and informed them as well. I would hate to see any more animals suffer due to the company assuming they are just being "attacked."

EON-562036	2/4/2024 17:04	Purina One Chicken and Rice Dog Food	(b) (6) started vomiting first and then over the week she started having loose stools that progressed to bloody stools not eating and lethargic. At that point we took her to the vet. She ran several tests and gave her medication and started her on a bland diet thinking it was pancretitis. She said if she did well over the next 3 days start introducing her dry food back. She got better so we started giving her dry food mixed with the bland food and then the dry food again. After that she started having the bloody stools again. We took her back to the vet and then she determined it had to be the Purina One. She told us to throw out the Purina One bag as it must be tainted and keep her on Hills bland diet. She is now better on the Hills diet but not sure if her pancreatis was injured as the vet told us not to go back to Purina One. We have fed her Purina One for 6 years so am shocked at the reaction she had.	6	Years	Terrier - Yorkshire	Dog	14	Pound
EON-562031	2/4/2024 15:24	Purina Pro Plan Adult Shredded Blend Chicken and Rice Formula	Recurring diarrhea and vomiting after eating the purina pro plan adult - shredded chicken and rice formula. He has been eating this exact formula since he was 9 months old and we never had any issues. We bought a huge bag of purina pro plan in November 2023 and that's immediately when we started seeing stomach issues. We would switch to other soft food when it got bad and his symptoms would subside and when we resumed his normal purina diet the symptoms would eventually return. Soft stool turning to diarrhea and bouts of vomiting shortly after eating. We ended up switching food brands when our local petco cashier told us a bunch of people have been bringing this brand back and she urged us to switch. His stool is completely firm now and doesn't vomit after eating anymore. Problem fixed after switching his food.	3	Years	Shepherd Dog - Australian	Dog	31	Pound
EON-562030	2/4/2024 15:12	Purina Pro Plan Under One Year Puppy Chow Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon Formula	She first lost enthusiasm for the product, which should've been my first clue. Then she had diarrhea, followed by worse diarrhea the next day, and she started vomiting, too. She was miserable. Fortunately, today she's much better. The product is marketed to dogs with sensitive stomachs, but she does not have a sensitive stomach. She's on it because it's the salmon, flavored puppy food, and she loves salmon. It's possible that her gastrointestinal symptoms were unrelated to the food. However, after seeing a number of reports online about similar (and worse) issues with Purina Pro Plan, it seemed like a good idea to report and let the professionals sort it out.	11.5	Months	Retriever - Golden	Dog	58	Pound
EON-562028	2/4/2024 14:24	Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food	Received a new bag of food (he had been on it for 3-4 years), he ate a meal 2 nights prior, would not eat at all yesterday. Started throwing up and would not stop for about 2 hours. Within those 2 hours, my other dog got into the food that was in a bowl on the floor (she is on a different food) and she was acting abnormal within 10 hrs, however I made her vomit everything up right after she ate it in fear the food was the culprit. Despite inducing vomiting, she still demonstrated pain and uneasiness after 10 hours which resolved itself after about an hour. I took the first dog to the ER Vet. Blood work came back with elevated pancreatic enzymes. (Lipase was 5259…normal range is 200-1800 and amylipase was 1820 and normal range is 500-1500.) My dog was given fluids and anti-nausea medication.	7	Years	Pointing Dog - German Wire-haired	Dog	60	Pound
EON-562027	2/4/2024 14:08	Purina Cat Chow Complete with Real Salmon	My cat was regularly eating this food and he randomly started vomiting and refused to eat the food given to him. He had experienced bloody diarrhea, lack of appetite, and absolutely refused to eat the food he had been eating. Ive never given him the food before and he was in excellent health. After eating this brand for a couple weeks he had a decline and vomited multiple times around our dwelling. We heard about recalls on Purina so we switched his food and immediately he is on the mend. I believe the food that he was eating was somehow contaminated because he has never experienced these problems in the past. I don't want others to lose their animals to this kind of thing.	1	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	9	Pound

She chewed both sides of one bone on Feb 1st. The next day she went to the bathroom and started SCREECHING so loud. She couldn't walk, I couldnt pick her up. She was screeching and shaking. I carefully got her in the car but couldnt touch or go near her butt area. She was unable to put her back end down. We got to vet, they did xrays and gave her enima and it was because peiees of this bone are in her and in her rectum.
EON-562023	2/4/2024 13:17	Purina One Plus Healthy Puppy Lamb & Long Grain Rice Entree	Since getting this dog at 8 weeks old, I started feeding Science diet puppy food with a small amount of Purina Healthy Puppy canned food. I went through 2 cases of this canned food with no issues. When we started the third case, he started having persistent diarrhea. We eliminated all treat and snacks and it continued. When we eliminated the canned food, it stopped. I have not given the canned food to him for over 3 weeks. I tried giving it to him again yesterday and the diarrhea started again last night. I believe this to be a bad batch since the problem did not occur previously.	7	Months	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	70	Pound

EON-562022	2/4/2024 13:17	ORIJEN AMAZING GRAINS REGIONAL RED	So I got a small bag of ORIJEN AMAZING GRAINS REGIONAL RED Dry Dog Food for my 3 y.o GSP (b) (6) to see if he'll be allergic to it and he loved it, he had no allergic reactions whatsoever so I got him big bag of the same food. But this time he instantly got diarrhea so I thought that it's weird that he wasn't allergic to the same food in a small bag but anyways my 6 y.o. Jack Russell was eating Orijen (b) (6) before and she loved it, and she never had any health issues or allergies of any kind so I decided to switch her to this Amazing Grains bag of food. So last week we had to rush her to the ER and she spent 24 hours on IV having enormous liver levels and been diagnosed with poisoning. EON-562021	2/4/2024 13:17	Purina Pro Plan sensitive stomach salmon and rice	Opened new bag Purina Pro Plan 1st week November 2023, dog turned his nose up to it but I topped with human food he eat and started vomiting, diarrhea, lethargic, excessive panting. Stopped giving kibble, no more vomiting. Started giving kibble again, vomiting, etc. Still thought he just had a stomach virus or something just did bland diet with cHicken, rice, pumpkin he got better. Started him back on kibble and bland food topped on it diarrhea still not himself stomach constantly gurgling, excessive panting, not acting himself, whining. December 7 he had seizure for 1st time, took him to vet they ran bloodwork all major organs good. Stopped the dog food back to bland diet then started him back on kibble and bland diet again. Still continued to have same symptoms, took him off of kibble completely by end December 2023/1ST week in January he has been on bland diet chicken or turkey, rice, pumpkin can't get rid of diarrhea this entire time, his stomach is constantly gurgling and diarrhea was black and had a slimy mucus like stringy substance covering it took sample to vet they tested nothing wrong. Finally took him back to vet on February 1st because he has been non stop sick since November. Morning of February 1st had his 1st almost normal bowel movement. Dr. Wanted to put him on a different kibble but I'm too afraid to go back on kibble. I'm continuing to feed him a bland diet, chicken, turkey, pumpkin.	10	Years	Beagle	Dog	49	Pound

EON-562019	2/4/2024 13:17	Pure Balance Grain Free Variety Pack Chicken Dinner in Gravy with Peas & Sweet Potatoes Beef Dinner in Gravy with Carrots & Sun Dried Tomatoes	(b) (6) is an 11 year old neutered female corgi in good health. We purchased some soft dog food for our older dogs as they have lost teeth due to age and needed soft food to eat. WalMart was out of their regular food so we tried Pure Balance Chicken Dinner in Gravy with Peas & Sweet Potatoes and Beef Dinner in Gravy with Carrots & Sun Dried Tomatoes for them to eat. Within 1 day of feeding them this food, they both started vomiting and had diarrhea and were acting very lethargic. Thinking it was the change in food, we continued to feed them this food in the hopes that they'd get accustomed to it and would go back to normal. After the 2nd feeding they stopped eating as much and refused to eat any food after the 3rd feeding. We found their normal food and started feeding that to them again. (b) (6) was able to eat her normal food and her vomiting and diarrhea stopped, she fully recovered. (b) (6) continued to have problems though. He wouldn't eat his normal food, and any that he did eat was vomited out or caused him to have diarrhea. He became even more listless and wouldn't even drink water. He became so weak that he couldn't stand very well and whimpered when he was picked up. We were unable to get him to a vet as they were closed for the weekend and then there was a holiday on monday. His bowel movements started showing like black tar as well as his vomit. (b) (6) passed away the evening of (b) (6) . In speaking with the vet about it, they stated that all of the symptoms: vomiting, diarrhea, fatigue, blood in stool and vomit sound like salmonella poisoning. After looking at reviews of this pet food, it appears that there have been several incidents of this same reaction in other owners pets and several recalls for contamination. Our dogs were harmed and killed by this manufacturer's continued negligence!	10	Years	Chihuahua	Dog	10	Pound
EON-562018	2/4/2024 13:17	Blue Buffalo Tastefuls 12 Count Variety Pack	My cat began having intermittent vomiting episodes (crying, drooling, vomiting) 6-10 hours after eating blue Buffalo tastefuls canned food. I fed it to her more as a treat so this happened on and off for a week before I took her to the vet. They said she was all healthy and her yearly senior exam had just happened and her labs were perfect. I was away from home for a week and my pet sitter fed her her usual dry food no issue. I came back and gave her a little of the wet food and she began shaking all over and sitting in a hunched position, gulping. I noticed the food smelled bad - it smells like metal and slightly rotten cod. She threw up a few hours later. It was at this point I realized the Food correlated to her illness and her shaking was NOT normal and that it must be the food: no other aspect of her day is different. She historically has no trouble changing up her food either and I know it's not stomach sensitivity because I switched to another brand and she hasn't vomited at all. Something is terribly wrong with this food.	16	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	9	Pound

EON-562016	2/4/2024 13:16	Orijen Amazing Grains Original	December 29, 2023 (b) (6) woke us up to go outside in the middle of the night. She had loose stools orange/yellow in color very soft. This continued with need to eliminate about every 3 hours. Stools continued to be orange/yellow and became mucousy, diarrhea with some blood in stool. Brynn was put on bland diet consisting of boiled chicken breast and white rice and fortiflora. This diet was maintained for about 5-6 days when stools became brown in color and formed. Then her dry kibble Orijen Amazing Grains Original was gradually introduced along with still feeding rice and chicken. When she was at full amount of kibble per meal 1/3 cup twice daily her stools would revert back to loose and orange/yellow in color. Same regimen followed again with same outcome once full kibble amount was reached. We took her to vet on January 4,2024 while this was going on and her stool was tested for parasites and was negative. She was put on Metronidazole 250 mg tablets for 5 days and we went back to rice and chicken while on the medication. When she had kibble gradually introduced her stools reverted to not formed but loose with orange/yellow color. Contacted vet January 23 and we stopped Orijen Amazing Grains Original and ordered prescription diet Hills Digestive Care kibble and canned. We are on this diet solely and stools returned to normal after a few days on this food and fortiflora. We are staying on Vet prescription diet for a month. (b) (6) has been on Amazing Grains since she turned one without any issues. I buy 4 lb bags. This one was purchased at Pet Supplies Plus. EON-561959	2/3/2024 11:44	Lucy Pet pumpkin quinoa and salmon food	I bought a bag of Lucy Pet off Amazon and 6 of my 8 cats were observed vomiting. It was a new type of food for them so we introduced it slowly and mixed 1/4 in with their existing food. It did stink pretty terribly but it's a fish based food so I wasn't really surprised about the smell. When I woke up the next morning after mixing 1/4 in with their regular food, there were well over 20 vomit spots around my house. Once they all vomited it out of their system they seemed fine. But at least 6 were visually observed vomiting since noon yesterday and based on the sheer volume of vomit in my house I'm guessing they were all vomiting pretty profusely throughout the night. We have of course taken the food away. I have kept the bag if you need any further information. I am concerned it was not stored properly at the Amazon warehouse because I haven't found anything online about any contamination with this brand.	8	Months	Domestic (unspecified)	Cat	10	Pound

EON-561955	2/3/2024 11:41	Purina One True Instinct Nutrient-Dense with a Blend of Real Turkey & Venison	I purchased a new bag of the brand of dry food that I had been previously feeding him for the past 1 1/2 years. A finicky eater, after a few bites he was hesitant to eat it. Normally, he devours this particular brand when combined with the same brand of wet food. (wet food was from a previous batch of can food by the same purchased in a six can case which was more than 2/3's consumed, meaning we were down to the las two cans). He eat about 1/4 of the prepared food. The same thing happened the next day where he literally refused to eat any of it, but I noticed he had become very lethargic. He suddenly could no longer hold his urine and would pee in the house, which has not happened since he was a puppy. I ended having to take him out frequently, like every 2 hours. His urge to go continued even after we just returned from an extended walk. I noticed that he had trouble urinating, as he would lift his leg, squirt a few drops and move to the next spot doing this again and again unlike his usual routine of nearly emptying his bladder in the first session. He stool also became bloody. I immediately stopped feed him the dog food and gave him boiled chicken and rice. This continued for two weeks resulting in me having to isolate him inside the home due to his nervous activity as he was afraid to urinate inside the home. The symptoms were largely resolved after two weeks, but took another week before his urinating habits returned to normal. I strongly believe the issue was a result of feeding him the dry food.	17	Years	Terrier - Jack Russell	Dog	12	Pound

EON-561953	2/3/2024 11:40	Purina Pro Plan Veterinary Diets OM Overweight Management Select Blend	I have a dog that was perfectly healthy prior to giving her Purina Pro Plan Vet Diet OM due to being a little bit overweight but she had no known medical problems prior to feeding her this food. She was on this food (kibble & wet) for approximately 4 months when we noticed that she refused to eat anymore. She wouldn't eat and wouldn't drink ANYTHING and she NEVER missed a meal or food of any kind! She's always been a very content dog until she suddenly stopped eating around Thanksgiving. We became very concerned so we had x-rays done on her right before Christmas 2023 only to find that her small intestines were swollen and she had a lot of gas. The vet put her on 2 scripts which didn't help her but she gradually started eating and drinking small amounts again. Something STILL wasn't right with her and her behavior so we then decided to have an ultrasound done on her and to our shock, she was diagnosed with acute pancreatitis with gastric stasis so now we refuse to give her ANYTHING from Purina brand and ONLY homemade food and supplements. This is the SECOND dog of ours that has been sick after being on Purina Pro Plan Vet Direct OM. Sadly, our first dog passed after being diagnosed with diabetes that I know truly believe was from this same brand of food! We were devastated at her passing but didn't think anything of it until our second dog got sick. I recently learned about all the problems that Purina Pro Plan has had with their food and want something to be done about it despite the fact that Purina denies everything! She's been eating this food for several months and has not had any issues thus far, however within a day of beginning this new shipment of food, her apatite slowed dramatically and eventually she stopped eating entirely. The next day we took her to the hospital on suspicions of either a virus, a blockage, or food poisoning. Diagnostics were inconclusive as to the nature of the ailment, however blockages and viruses were rules out by x-rays and blood work. Though inconclusive, I cannot help but feel this is not a coincidence, as the symptoms appeared very shortly after beginning the most recent shipment from Chewy. I've discontinued feeding her from this batch of food, and she has been recovering smoothly over the past couple of days, thankfully. I've notified both Chewy and Royal Canin of this issue.	6	Months	Bengal	Cat	6	Pound

EON-561772	2/2/2024 11:48	PRO PLAN COMPLETE ESSENTIALS SHREDDED BLEND CHICKEN & RICE FORMULA 35 LB Purina Pro Plan	I received my dogs Purina pro plan that arrived via AutoShip through Petsmart. That evening I gave him one cup for dinner the next day, one cup for breakfast, one cup for dinner, and the day after that one cup for breakfast. When I opened the bag. I noticed the kibble looked different different shape Like tiny bits of things in it. I just assumed pro plan. Change the shape like Lucky charms changes to unicorns. After the fourth dose, serving of this new batch, I came home to a dog that was listless and vomiting and diarrhea all over my home. This dog has never once in the nine years I had him had an accident in the home nor has he ever been sick. He progressively got worse that day. I immediately stopped the food and tried to give him some rice and water. He wouldn't drink or eat anything. The vomiting went on all night long to the point where there was blood in the vomit the next morning I contacted Petsmart And was told to contact (b) (6) when I contact Purina they told me to contact Petsmart the woman at Purina told me that I got the wrong batch "" and that's why my dog got sick. I don't know who I got the wrong batch from, but she told me I got the wrong batch , she also told me that if the dog continued to get worse that they would take care of the cost of the vet bill not to worry they were going to pay for the vet. They refunded me $78 for the dog food. I contacted Petsmart and I received , the same food that I received back in September on AutoShip it was the same product but I can guarantee it wasn't the same product inside the bag. It had the shreds in it that he's never ever had before. Two hours had gone by and (b) (6) got progressively worse. I contacted Purina back again, and the woman put me on hold and checked with her supervisor and told me that they were cover the cost of the vet. Just make sure I got the bill. After the vet I contacted Purina I sent them the bill and nowhere did it say in any email they sent me that this had to be approved by a third-party Called Sedgwick. Never once was I told that all I was told was rest assured Purina will pay for the bill. I took him to the doctor. She gave him something for the nausea and also fluids. He stayed in one position for 24 hours, but did not vomit anymore , the next day he began to stand up, eat some rice and was drinking water, and he appeared to be holding it down. It took several days for him to get better.	9	Years	Shepherd Dog - Australian	Dog	69	Pound

EON-561765	2/2/2024 11:24	Purina Pro Plan High Protein Dry Puppy Food Chicken and Rice Formula - 18 lb. Bag	On 12/6/23 our dog '(b) (6) began vomiting. Dog vomited approx 6 times in about 2 hours. Dog was brought to our vet ((b) (6)) to evaluate. Vet evaluated and performed blood tests and concluded liver values were so high they were unreadable and her liver was likely failing- said dog needed to immediately be transported to emergency vet hospital. We immediately brought dog to emergency vet hospital ((b) (6)) and she was admitted on 12/6/23 into their ICU unit to begin treatment and further testing. Assigned veterinarian was (b) (6) . After several days of treatments, transfusions, plasma etc and further testing, the liver values had decreased enough that they released (b) (6) from the hospital in our care with numerous medications that we would need to continue at home. During the discharge visit, the veterinarian indicated that based on the testing performed and the results, the likely cause of her liver issue was something (b) (6) had, or was ingesting. Based on this, as well as (b) (6) odd recent behavior towards her food as well as some info we've seen online, we are concerned that the Purina Pro Plan dry food we had been feeding her might be the cause of her sickness. Current food she had been eating was Purina Pro Plan High Protein Dry Puppy Food, Chicken and Rice Formula - 18 lb. Bag purchased thru Amazon on 11/6/2023. We no longer have the actual bag for the food, but we do have much of the food in a container that we stored it in. Total cost for the treatment was $5,318.11 (initial visit to (b) (6) $684.95, hospitalization $4,461.16, follow up release visit $172.00)	9	Months	Shepherd Dog - Australian	Dog	20	Pound

EON-561763	2/2/2024 11:20	Friskies Turkey and Giblets Pate	Four of my cats started vomiting/ had diarrhea and were not eating their food (normally lick plated clean and want more) I assumed was a virus and put on bland boiled chicken for couple of days. Started 3 of the 4 back on the pate but left the 4th on chicken and mixed with the prime filet friskies canned food as better with the boiled chicken. The 3 that I started feeding the pate to again started vomiting and has loose stools. I then realized the food could be an issue and put them on the filet style for 2 days and all was fine, then tried the pate again and they got sick again. I narrowed it down to cases with the use by Nov and Dec 2025 as when I fed them from an older case of the pate, they did fine. Something is wrong with the cases of food with either the best by date of Nov/Dec 2025 (I am not sure exactly which or if both as I lost track of which cans were from when and just have them all put aside) Also I noticed that the food doesn't smell like the rest, it smells more like a dog food I used to feed my dog, not like all the cat foods normally do.	7	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	9	Pound
EON-561762	2/2/2024 11:20	Purina-Beef for small dogs	We purchased Purina-beef for small dogs and within two weeks our maltipoo was dead. She began severely vomiting, became weak, and unable to drink or eat. I took her to the vet and she was diagnosed with pancreatitis so severe there was no chance of survival.

EON-561760	2/2/2024 11:20	Purina One Hairball Formula dry cat food	I have been using Purina One dry food, both the Indoor Advantage and Hairball versions, for years for my cats. In the spring of 2023, I had one bag that was bad -- all of my cats were suddenly throwing up far more than normal, nothing in their diet had been changed, and it stopped immediately when I switched to a new bag. This happened again in December, 2023, with two bags in a row. Four of my five cats were sick for days, and then all five would not even eat any of the food from the second bag. They did not get back to normal until I completely switched brands of dry food. I have saved some of the product from both bags, and I took pictures of the second bag (I had thrown away the first when I emptied it into the airtight container we use). Let me know if you want a sample of the product. By the way, I am not on social media and did not hear about the comments until later, after this occurred. I only read about the social media commentary when it was published in traditional newspapers.			Domestic (unspecified)	Cat
EON-561759	2/2/2024 11:20	Purina One +Plus Indoor Advantage	I have been transitioning my cats from Purina Cat Chow Indoor cat food to the Purina One Indoor Advantage over the past few weeks. This morning was their first meal that was all Purina One. My (b) (6) completely threw up his entire breakfast within a matter of minutes after eating. I had just received a brand new fresh 22lb bag from Chewy.com yesterday on 2/1 2024 and reported this to Chewy first, they told me that I should report to you and I will report to Purina as well when their office opens. EON-561758	2/2/2024 11:20	Purina Beneful healthy weight Purina One lamb and rice	Our healthy 3 year old golden doodle past away (b) (6) at (b) (6) (b) (6) was admitted to the ICu after a severe episode of aspiration pneumonia. The vets were under the impression that (b) (6) had kennel cough which may have progressed into mysterious dog disease however no other dogs in (b) (6) daycare had cough or less so mysterious dog disease. I had been feeding her purina dry dog food products for two years and had presented with severe skin rashes and bloody stool however vets never suspected was due to dog food. (b) (6) finally had her last bowl of dry dog food on (b) (6) where she proceeded to aspirate and sustained a horrific pneumonia. Vets were treating her with weeks of antibiotics and steroids prior thinking she had dog virus etc. No one could figure out that food was destroying her esophagus …. 40k later in medical bills hospital sent us post mortem autopsy which showed severe erosion and lacerations of her esophagus which ultimately caused the aspiration of food into her lungs. The vets were clueless. I knew my dog. (b) (6) was happy and healthy and very young. I know the purina food contributed to her demise. EON-561756	2/2/2024 11:20	Pedigree Adult dog food. 44lb bag	One day my dog started throwing up yellow foam and also watery, bloody diarrhea. I fed her boiled chicken and rice for a few days and she got better. Then the puppy I also own (about 6 months at the time) started throwing up as well. So I started her on boiled chicken and rice. I didn't change their food because the older one has been eating Pedigree Adult kibble for years. So I started feeding it to them again. I also gave them worming medication because I thought they both might have worms. They both still throw up here and there, but the German shepherd does more often. I have never known what it was so I just rotate them in and out of chicken and rice when it happens because I know the vet will want to do tons of tests costing a lot of money and I don't have a lot of money.	3	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	85	Pound

EON-561751	2/2/2024 11:20	Purina Pro Plan large breed chicken and Rice	12/29/23 my dog started vomitting blood and having bloody diarrhea. I took her to the emergency vet. Her X-rays were good, blood work for normal cbc's were fine but she had a fever,and was dehydrated so she was given sub q fluids and put on some meds for a GI irritation and nausea. I was told to feed her a bland diet for 3 days then start her back on regular food. By the 3rd day she was not vomiting or having diarrhea. I started her back on the Purina pro plan and by that evening after 2 feedings she was back to vomiting blood and having bloody diarrhea. This time it was worse than before. She stopped eating or drinking anything. I took her to her regular vet who said she must have eaten something that's irritated her gi tract. She was dehydrated so he gave her more sub q fluids, the same gi and nausea meds and told me to wet her regular food. The dog refused to eat her regular food. So I put her on a bland diet which she refused to eat the next 3 days but once she started eating again she was on a bland diet for 3 days and in the mean time found a different food to feed her. After 3 days she was not vomiting or having diarrhea, so I started her on the new food. Something has to be done about this food. I've fed the Purina pro plan their whole life something has changed about the food.	2	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	55	Pound

EON-561566	2/1/2024 8:12	Purina One plus large breed. Adult formula	Bought a new batch of dog food in December . My dog has been on Purina dog food for a long time . My dog became extremely ill after eating from this certain bag of dog food . Seizure , vomiting , lethargic . Then I stopped feeding my dog Purina dog food immediately after he became sick . I had hoped stopping the Purina dog food would help . He quit vomiting , seizure , lethargy became worse . In January he had started losing extreme weight loss. Then on Monday the (b) (6) I had to take him to the pet emergency room. Then I learned it was too late and he had to be put down or I say gone to heaven . The vet tech had heard of Purina dog food making dogs extremely ill or death . I had also saw that their of been many other pet owners having the same issue with Purina . This is outrageous, it may not bring my loving dog back but I want to see Purina recall the dog food .
EON-561565	2/1/2024 8:12	Rayne CLinical Nutrition Low fat kangaroo-maint canine cans	Noticed black, gooey like chunks in the first can of food in a new pack (had previously fed this canned food for over 6 months and had never had any issues). noticed the chunks towards the bottom of the first can. After the first feeding, dog started having severe reflux symtpoms which he had been stable on for over 5 months then after feeding the second time that night, and noticing the weird chunks, I threw out the food but my dog proceeded to have severe and urgent diarrhea all day and night for 3 days straight. Stopped feeding it after day 1 meal 2 and 3 days later dog was completely fine and continues to be fine. although my dog had gi issue he had been stable on the same diet for nearly a year when this happened and had been eating the wet food form of the food since it was released in may of 2023	3	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	23	Pound
EON-561564	2/1/2024 8:12	Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice formula	I ordered a new bag of purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach salmon and rice adult from Chewy on 1/8 and it was delivered on 1/10/24. I began feeding her from the new bag on either 1/12 or 1/13. On 1/16/24 she was having horrible diarrhea and was extremely lethargic. She has never had diarrhea before. It lasted for 2 days. By day 2 I started her on a bland diet and right away and the diarrhea subsided. I started to reintroduce a very small amount of the food mixed in with the bland diet on 1/20. Within an hour her tummy was gurgling, and she was clearly not feeling well. This is when I started to suspect the food could be the problem. I now have 2 sick dogs right after starting a new bag of Pro plan sensitive skin and stomach salmon and rice. Reference report # FDA IC SR ID for my bloodhound (b) (6) who is much sicker and currently in the emergency hospital. Sadly, it doesn't look like she is going to be coming home. (b) (6) seems to have recovered but I still have her on a bland diet because I am concerned about dog food safety and will probably never trust it again. I pray there are no long-term side effects.	3	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	70	Pound
EON-561563	2/1/2024 8:12	Purina Pro Plan Adult Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Chicken and Rice Formula	My 3 year old German Shepherd dog (b) (6) started vomiting, (approximately 15 - 20 times) he acted lethargic, had diarrhea, blood in stool and wouldn't eat his food/kibble. I tried feeding him a bland diet of cooked white rice and boiled chicken breast. He wouldn't eat any of that. He got so weak, he had a hard time walking. I decided to take him to the emergency veterinarian ((b) (6)) early in the morning on 1/17/2024. I actually thought he may have injested fabric, or a sock and had an obstruction in his intestines. The ER Vet did a consultatlon, bloodwork, an ultrasound with sedation, fluid therapy, and gave medication during visit and for home. The Vet didn't find an obstruction. The diagnosis was white blood cell elevation, low albumin, inflammation of the mesenterry and lymph nodes and gastroenteritis. We were sent home with medication and told to follow up with our local veterinarian.	3	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	68.78	Pound

EON-561562	2/1/2024 8:12	Purina EN	The Vet told me to use Purina EN. After I started using it she developed allergies and had to be put on Apoquel. I did not connect it to the food. Last year I got a bag of food full of worms and moths, but Chewy replaced it and I kept feeding it and kept giving her Apoquel. In September I got a bag and she vomited and had diarreah, and then her legs got wobbly, she was shedding badly, and became lethargic. I changed her food and Apoquel is no longer needed. EON-561548	2/1/2024 8:08	Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice	I opened a new bag of Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach Salmon & Rice. After feeding it to (b) (6) for a few days he developed diarrhea. Three days after the diarrhea started, (b) (6) began vomiting. On the night of 1/9/2024 he was having constant diarrhea. I took him to (b) (6) where he was treated for diarrhea and vomiting. I returned home at 2:30 am. When we got home he started passing diarrhea while lying on his side. It quickly transitioned to bright red blood. His gum color was light gray. I rushed him back to the emergency hospital due to the drastic decline in his appearance. They treated him with IV fluids and IV medication. They close at 6 am. I picked him up and took him home until our vet opened at 7:30 am. He never stopped bleeding bright red blood from his rectum. He spent three full days and two full nights and both the emergency hospital and our veterinary office which is (b) (6) . He was treated for gastroenteritis, hemorrhagic gastroenteritis, pancreatitis and peritonitis. When he finally came home on 1/12/2024 he was still on medication for diarrhea and probiotics. He is recovering now. The only thing that could have caused this was the Purina Pro Plan food because that is all he gets other than his treats. I've given him his treats since he came home and he has been fine. He has not had any more of the Purina food since he came home from the hospital.	1	Years	Spaniel - Cocker American	Dog	25	Pound

She has two dogs, (b) (6) a 71 lb. 5yr old, neutered, male pit bull and (b) (6) a 3yr old, male, neutered, American Bully. (b) (6) the 5yr. old, started developing breathing problems. She took him to the vet on June 5th where he was diagnosed with dilated cardiomyopathy. The complainant was advised to take him to a vet heart specialist but couldn't get an appointment until the end of August. On (b) (6) he had a cardiac event and they had to put him down. The 3yr. old, (b) (6) started having symptoms on June 16th and went to the vet on June 19th. He was diagnosed with dilated cardiomyopathy via ultrasound and x-ray. He is stable and is on a cardiac supplements and Lasix and changed his food. He will go to (b) (6) tomorrow to see if there is time to reverse this. The complainant discarded the packaging when she bought the product and put the food in a plastic tub. There are no product codes available. She said she has been using this dog food for 3-4 years. Along with the dry food (b) (6) was fed Blue Buffalo wet food twice a day mixed in. The complainant believes the food the dogs have been eating is responsible for their condition. She is entering this complaint because she believes the FDA hasn't done enough to bring this problem to the public's attention. She said her vet encouraged her to enter the complaint. The vet said all of the dog's medical records are available should FDA want them.			Pit Bull, American Bully	Dog

EON-580686	4/26/2024 2:15	Chicken and Rice Formula	Consumer has 5 yar old male, Huskey, and an 8.5 year old, female Golden Retriever that passed away on (b) (6) . Between Oct2023 and March 2024, the both the Huskey and the Golden Retriever were given the same Purnia Pro Plan Chicken and Rice Formula dry dog. Consumer reports that between Oct 2023, the consumer noted both of his dogs began to experience symptoms. The Golden retriever began to ?pace? extensively and would continue try to use the bathroom, even if nothing would come out. Consumer also reports the Golden would try to drink more water than usual. The 5 year old Huskey began to experience diarrhea, and some anxiety during this time as well. In Dec 2023, the Golden Retriever was taken to the vet as the pacing and trouble using the bathroom did not stop since Oct. The vet initially thought it was a urinary track infection, and the dog was prescribed anti-biotics. The Huskey was not taken to the vet as the diarrhea was intermittent and this dog did not have ?as bad as symptoms? of the Golden retriever. The Golden Retrievers? symptoms did not improve. In Feb of 2024, the Golden was taken back into the vet for a blood test and everything was ?normal? according to the consumer. Symptoms continued to last. On (b) (6) the consumer found the Golden Retriever had passed away over night. The animal was cremated the same day. No Necropsy was performed. Between Oct2023 and March 2024, the both the Huskey and the Golden Retriever were given the same Purina Pro Plan food. The Huskey only every experienced diarrhea that would come ?on and off? Consumer saw online that many pet food owners had reported concerns with Purina Pro Plan dog food., including with Vitamin D poisoning. Consumer states he believes the Purina Food was toxic or had contamination and that is what caused the Golden?s symptoms and death. Consumer will provide medical records from the Golden?s vet visits and an email from purina.			Retriever - Golden, Husky (unspecified)	Dog

EON-580681	4/26/2024 2:15	Fancy Feast Poultry & Beef Grill Collection	- Product: Purina Fancy Feast Poultry & Beef Grill Collection, cat food, 3oz cans- The Complainant stated that her 3 cats (2 female and 1 male, all rescues {specific breeds unknown}, all 13 y/o, 2 females spayed, and male neutered, last check-ups 2020, shots up-to-date, and in good health), experienced reoccurring vomiting following consumption of following types of Purina cat food in 07/2023 and in 03/2024, with onsets and durations of 1-2 hours and duration of approximately 1 day. She doesn?t recall exact dates. She did speak to a vet tech who advised her to give her pets a great deal of water, however, the cats were not examined. The vomiting in both cases subsided within 1 day. She believes the Purina foods caused her cats symptoms as the firm has had problems with their food and feels that this is connected. She had switched to other cat foods following the illnesses in 07/2023 and there had been no reoccurrences until 03/2024, when she began feeding them the Purina pet foods again. 1. EON-580324	4/23/2024 3:11	Liver Coated Bone	-Product: Lively Tails Liver Coated Bone- The Complainant stated that on or about, 03/29/24, his wife purchased this product from www.amazon.com, (b) (6), for their Golden Retriever dog (a 10 y/o, male, net weight, approximately 86 lbs, neutered, last check-up in 10 or 11/2023, in good health, with all shots up-to-date, and who is supervised when going outside). This was first use of product. On 04/10/24 at 3:00 pm, their dog ate 1 of the bones and within 3 hours, experienced extreme thirst, loss of appetite, lethargy, urination in home, and eyes rolling back into head. They gave the dog a great deal of water. On 04/11/24, the dog was not moving, and they brought it to (b) (6), where x-rays, and a blood panel was completed. The blood work disclosed extremely elevated liver enzymes over 4,000. They were advised that their dog was close to death and recommended they take the dog to the (b) (6). Their dog was admitted on 04/11 and discharged on 04/12/24. X-rays and ultrasound disclosed the root cause was not liver failure nor disease and the veterinarians believe the Lively Tails Liver Coated Bone caused the illness. A veterinarian advised that animal where the liver coating originated from could have had a disease or been toxic. The Complainant stated that he contacted (b) (6), an accredited lab, and is sending the remaining 3 bones to them for sample analysis and will provide their results to the FDA upon completion. There are no ingredients, nutrition facts, or firm information listed on the label.			Retriever - Golden	Dog

EON-579370	4/20/2024 4:36	Raw Freeze-dried shrimp cat treats	Cat died upon leaving on a trip. Prior to trip he provided him freeze dried shrimp treats. He initially gave him #5 treats, and set several (about #6) throughout the house for him to find later. Within 24hrs of returning he found his cat dead and was stiff. Complainant felt his cat died the night of feeding him. He spoke to his veterinarian about the death of his cat, but denied wanting to have him evaluated for the cause. He's provided his cat the same treat in the past without issue, and has consumed from that specific bag a couple days before and did not notice anything unusual. He did fill the cat's food tray prior to leaving for trip, but noticed that he didn't eat it upon returning. He states that the cat food the cat has been eating for the last couple weeks was Purina ProPlan Live Clear Adult (UPC: 0 38100 18614 0; LOT #: 334010820203LO9; Best By: June 2025). PureBites Raw Freeze-dried shrimp cat treats (UPC: 8 78968 00278 3; LOT #: E19709; Best by: BB/MA/052026) He's provided him a couple prior to day of event. The cat was energetic prior to consuming the treats, and is fairly young and estimates the age being 7 years. Complainant prefers to remain anonymous, but wanted to bring this to FDA's attention to for further follow-up. The complainant agreed to hold onto the remaining treats for the time being in case further analysis is required. Internet research determined that the product was manufactured in Thailand, and PureBites is a brand owned by Pure Treats, a Canadian importer, with a distributorship in Bolingbrook, IL. Distributor, importer, and manufacturer determined through entry review. EON-569098	2/17/2024 1:00	ProPlan Complete Essentials Chicken & Rice Formula dry cat food	Product: Purina ProPlan Complete Essentials Chicken & Rice Formula dry cat food, 26.5 lb- The Complainant stated that 2 of her 5 cats experienced illness following consumption of this product. On approximately 01/25/24, she purchased a new bag of this product. On 02/10/24, at 4:00 pm, she opened the bag and fed her 5 cats a total of 4 cups of the product with water. On 02/11/24 at 10:00 a.m., one cat (female, adopted, between 8 and 16 y/o, domestic short hair, silver tabby, spayed, medically pre diagnosed with thyroid condition, last check-up in 06/2023, and shots up-to-date), began crying, and vomited white foam. The Complainant gave the cat BCD oil and contacted Pets Best Insurance, and spoke with an on-call veterinarian, who recommended that she take the cat to an ER. She did not take the cat to an ER because the cat was starting to feel better, and her symptoms completely resolved within 5 hours. On 02/14/24, at 10:00 a.m. a second cat (female, 12 y/o, domestic short haired tuxedo, spayed, last check-up, 06/2023, and shots up-to-date), experienced vomiting, and was not acting herself. Her symptoms have persisted and she will contact a veterinarian if the cat does not begin to feel better soon. The Complainant believes that this new bag of cat food caused her cats' symptoms. She stated that all of her cats have been eating this product for years and this is the only food that they both cats that experienced illness, had in common. The first cat also eats another brand of cat food, which she has been eating for some time, but was given the Purina ProPlan Complete Essentials Chicken & Rice Formula dry cat food, as a snack. The rest of the cats only consume the Purina ProPlan Complete Essentials Chicken & Rice Formula dry cat food, with no other foods. (continued below).				Cat

EON-561717	2/2/2024 1:00	Chicken & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food	On 1/31/2024, a consumer reported illness in her dog which she associated with his consumption of Purina One Chicken & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food. No veterinary care was sought. The product is packaged in a 16.5-pound paper bag. The consumer reported her dog '(b) (6) is a 3-year-old, 56-pound male American Bulldog, healthy with no pre-existing conditions. He was adopted from the Humane Society and was receiving a Science Diet dry formula at that time. He was switched to the identified food 6-months ago and experienced no problems. (b) (6) was fed two-thirds cup of this food and one-half-cup of wet food in the same variety twice daily. He also received various dog treats from the time he was adopted, and no problems occurred. (b) (6) is a single pet that lives in an apartment and is walked on-leash when outside. The complainant explained that (b) (6) was boarded for 10-days (11/18 - 27/2023) at the (b) (6) around the Thanksgiving holiday while her family traveled out of state. She brought a new bag of the Purina One food to the kennel, and he received it while boarded. The complainant mentioned that (b) (6) was upset at being left at the kennel. After a week, the kennel called the complainant to notify the complainant that (b) (6) had become ill with bloody, mucousy diarrhea and they requested permission to place him on a bland diet. He remained on the diet until he came home on 11/27, at which time he was transitioned back to the food in the same bag of the Purina One product and became ill again. The complainant found reports of other dog illness associated with Purina products on the Internet and decided to transition (b) (6) to a similar formula of Blue Buffalo. He recovered soon after. She reported the issue to Nestle Purina at that time and was provided case #23114811. CONTINUED IN REMARKS:			Bulldog - American	Dog
