

CAUTION!

Check for these signs that a prescription drug may be unsafe, ineffective, or fake:

- √ The label is not in English.
- √ The packaging looks slightly different from the FDA-approved product.
- √ The product name differs from the name of the FDA-approved drug.
- √ The dosing recommendations are unfamiliar.
- √ Safety information or warnings are missing.
- √ The dosage form or administration is different.

For more information: www.fda.gov/KnowYourSource

KNOW YOUR SOURCE

U.S. Food and Drug Administration
Protecting and Promoting Your Health

