

Catalyst Metal Concentration in Gel-Filled Implant Materials

9.0 CONCLUSION

The concentration of platinum, based upon the weight of the material, in implant shells, gel and patch material is in the range of . The concentration of tin in implant shells and gel is below . The concentration of tin in the patch varies due to the difference in materials used in the patch construction.

10.0 REFERENCES

[1] B. D. Karstedt, US Patent 3775452