

Dear Director Levitt:

6/28/00

We consumers have a right to know what's in our bottled drinking water. As a member of Center for Science in the Public Interest, I support the FDA's proposal that bottled-water manufacturers be required to make available detailed reports of all contaminants, just as my public water utility does.

In addition, all bottled-water labels, as well as in-store, reverse-osmosis filtered water from a machine like I purchase weekly, should also disclose from where the water comes.

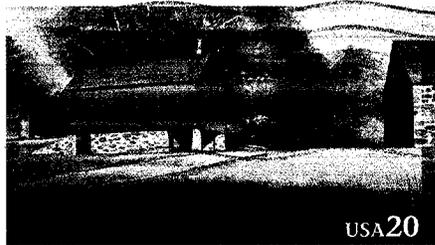

Please help protect all human consumers and the pet animals we love.

Thank you in advance,

Ms. Laurie F. Milligan
