

Attention FDA

0476 '00 APR -6 P1:38

It came to my attention that the FDA is being asked to take away my right to sign a medical waiver before purchasing a hearing aid. Instead I would be forced to have a medical exam or hearing test. Here's my views and/or experiences on several related questions?

1. Should I be forced to have a medical exam and/or hearing test before purchasing a hearing aid? If so, should the FDA pay for the exam?

So, Big Brother in Washington D.C. is trying to do it again. If one is forced to have a medical exam or hearing test then the forcer should pay for same.

2. Some people are physically unable to drive to a doctor or hearing specialist, or have had bad experiences they don't want to repeat. For instance ...

Far to many of these companys and audiologists have poor products at outrageous prices.

3. Should the FDA take away my Constitutional Right, affirmed by the Supreme Court, to decide for myself my medical exams and treatment?

Sounds like a nother Clinton medical program that doesn't give a dam about the Constitution.

4. Should I be allowed to purchase hearing aids by mail as I choose?

yes
