Dear Ms. Henney:

I'm writing to encourage you to prohibit livestock producers from routinely adding medically important antibiotics to animal feed to promote growth. As I'm sure you're aware, numerous once effective antibiotics are being rendered ineffective because of this practice. I have read that even "last-resort" type antibiotics such as vancomycin are starting to fail because of resistant strains of bacteria.

For the long-term health of the nation, I strongly encourage to do what you can to limit the use of important antibiotics in this manner!

Thanks for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Bill Anderson
