Dear Commissioner Henny:

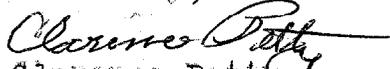

The use of antibiotics for the purpose of enhancing the growth of livestock, poultry and other sources of food has been banned in many countries except the United States.

It is no secret that the over-use of antibiotics is producing more and more disease potential for which there is no adequate control.

The problem extends to virtually all agricultural crops and obviously will accelerate unless this nation joins the other more enlightened nations in banning the ill conceived practice.

You are urged to act in the best interests of all humans by using your office to oppose the excessive use of antibiotics.

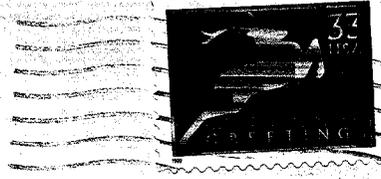

Sincerely,

Clarence Petty
