Dear Congressman Burton:

It seems to me that our rogue agency the F&DA is at it again striving to protect the profits of the big pharmaceutical companies, when all we want them to do is to let us have the freedom to buy safe and effective dietary supplements. Why can't they just protect us from fraudulent labels with a statement right on the label and give up the high-handed, police-state conduct.

They certainly shouldn't be allowed to establish limits for nutrients. Pharmaceuticals maybe, because pharmaceuticals have killed more innocent people than the war in Viet Nam. This out of control entity is really looking more and more ridiculous [unless we consider their hidden agenda].

Please call John Hammell, and Bonnie Camo MD as witnesses on the subject of "harmonization". And please use every effort to force the F&DA to comply with the clear mandate of the DSHEA.

My wife and I want to commend you on all of your efforts to give us freedom of choice. I am 91 and she is 85, we are very healthy and we greatly value our right to choose any supplement we need in any amount we wish.

Yours sincerely,

Mark Jarrett
