Dear Ms Henney,

As a consumer with great concerns about engineered food I would like to request that the FDA require that all genetically engineered food be labeled as such. The long term effects of GMOs on people are unknown but the effects of their use are already being seen in wildlife. Consumers in Europe, equally concerned, have been able to see that GMOs are labeled as such.

If the FDA continues to approve the use of GMOs in our food, please begin labeling so that consumers can have a choice. Also, please continue testing genetically modified foods to learn about long-term use effects.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Penny Blubaugh
