

QUOTE 1: The "professional" advice the ADA gave to dentists on fluoridation in a White Paper they issued in 1979:

"Individual dentists must be convinced that they need not be familiar with scientific reports of laboratory and field investigations on fluoridation to be effective participants in the promotion program and that nonparticipation is overt neglect of professional responsibility."

QUOTE 2: The ADA's attempt to avoid liabilities for mercury amalgams and other "allegedly dangerous products used by dentists."

"The ADA owes no legal duty of care to protect the public from allegedly dangerous products used by dentists. The ADA did not manufacture, design, supply or install the mercury containing amalgams. The ADA does not control those who do. The ADA's only alleged involvement was to provide information regarding its use."

Tolhurst v. J & J and ADA, Superior Court, Santa Clara, CA. Case No. 718228, 1995.