Dear FDA,

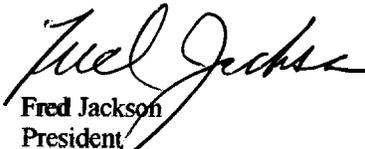

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce you to Custom Trailerwerks, Inc. Established in 1997, to provide experienced alternatives to the mobile industry. We provide new, remanufactured, and remodeled vehicles for the Medical, TV Broadcasting, and Racing industries.

Custom Trailerwerks' professionalism is based on the principles of customer service and artisanry. As a FDA registered (9032655) facility, as well as our twenty years of experience in this field, assures our customers of the best return on their mobile equipment dollar. We are dedicated to creating the perfect mobile working environment, by combining state-of-the-art products, the highest quality workmanship, and attention to your individual needs. We offer complete design and drafting services for any type of mobile project. In short, we are the problem solvers in the "High-Tech" mobile industry.

I find it interesting that your request for comments, Medical Imaging February 1998 (page 12), is followed by "FDA reissues X-Ray documentation guidelines" (page 19). This has long been a method commonly used by Manufacturer's to LIMIT competition and competence in the medical Service & Remanufacturing industry. ISO participation requires, for safety sake, manufacturers to make this information available. So it is, that by withholding this information these manufacturers are DIRECTLY controlling who competes in the Remanufacturing industry, despite it's anti-competitive nature and safety issues. In the economics of today's healthcare industry, that is like the fox guarding the hen house. BUT, IT IS REGULATED.

If you have any questions, you may contact me at (503) 606-0846.

Sincerely,

Fred Jackson
President
